Oil Well Abandonment Of Concern to Farmers

Oil well abandonment was the subject of a meeting held in the community centre of Lousana on Tuesday evening for Mayor Brenda Dallas and Don McDonald of Calgary, who will be married in June 30.

A decorated "Ranch wagon" was driven by Little Jamie Richardson and Joe Frizzell to the candidates.

Miss Pat Zerbe presented the gifts to the young couple, and Councillor Jack Smith and Mrs. Charlie Zerbe were hosts and hostesses for the gifts. Donna and Sandra thanked everyone. The lunch was served by Mrs. Bill Frizzell, Mrs. Ralph Frizzell, Mrs. F. R. Anderson and Mrs. Ralph Frizzell. Unfortunately lunch was served in the main arena.

The Lousana Needlecraft ladies and the United church women are invited to Lousana next Wednesday afternoon, at the Lakeside community hall. All members and friends are invited.

Miss Pat Zerbe R.N. who graduated on May 15 was a week end guest of Dr. and Mrs. Malone. Mrs. Wally Swift and home of Edmonton.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mustchin, nee Joyce Duffy, on the birth of a son on Tuesday June 5 in the Lacombe hospital.

About 35 attended the meeting which had been originally planned to discuss land-owners see the problems with representatives of the oil companies most directly concerned with production in the Joffre field.

Oil company officials were on hand to answer questions.

The purpose of the gathering was explained by Frank Mills, Bentley, Valley and the aims of producers, town councils, rural and west through Joffre.

It was pointed out oil companies have "abused the land in the past" and members agreed that regions of oil production abandoning wells in a field should be drawn up and imposed.

Feeling was expressed that oil companies abandoning wells without living up to the meaning of some provincial legislation and it is hoped to place this thought before oil company officials in the near future.

Roger LeBeuf provincial president of the justice league was present and led a general discussion on the landowners problems.

It was again agreed that he raise the Joffre field is one of the first to be abandoned in the province and resolutions to be followed by oil companies in abandonment measures should be generally recognized.

The problem right now as the landowners see it is the interpretation of the phrase "restoration of the surface land." Farmers claim that abandoned well sites are not being restored suitably to permit agricultural production.

It is to reach a solution to this problem that they seek a meeting with the oil companies concerned, justice league local president Henry Lambaz announced at the meeting

90% of all oil company product research in Canada is done by Imperial

At Imperial Oil's laboratories at Sarnia, Ontario, more than 200 scientists and technicians are working to improve present petroleum products —and to develop new ones. Their research covers many fields, from gasolines to household detergents.

Another 130 scientists and technicians are working at Imperial's Calgary laboratories on ways to find and produce more Canadian crude oil and natural gas. Imperial does more research than all other oil companies in Canada combined.

ALWAYS LOOK TO IMPERIAL FOR THE BEST

ESSO

Practically anywhere you look today you'll find things that are made from oil. Chemicals from petroleum are the building blocks for hundreds of things from plastic toys to automobile trim. Imperial Oil research chemists and technicians are working to develop more of these basic chemicals for Canada.

Political Forums

FARMERS' union of Alberta is rendering a public service by organizing and sponsoring a series of joint political forums prior to the June 18 federal election.

Meetings of this type have one possible drawback in that they lend a candidate to a specific issue. In some cases, the issue selected may be unsufficient to allow a candidate to develop a particular theme or argument. On the other hand, the audience might be grateful for the candidate exposed on some wrinkle.

There are advantages. One of these is in bringing all candidates together on the same platform. It gives the audience an opportunity to sum up the incumbents at one sitting. Their speeches, arguments, and deliverance can be compared. It is true that the muscle ability of a less gifted speaker may not be missed or appreciated, but at least a first-hand impression of the individual is possible.

The FUA joint forum also circumvents a deficiency on the "one party meeting" which has become part and parcel of electioneering, by inviting all candidates to a common platform and thus attracting all party followers.

One and feature of the modern political meeting is the type of audience it gathers. If the speaker is a Progressive-Conservative, he draws known Conservative party adherents. A Liberal candidate will speak to a 99% Liberal attendance.

A dyed-in-the-wool Democrat would rather be dead than to be seen at a Rural Credit meeting for fear of being labelled a Social Creditor.

This is all wrong. It isn't as informative for a confirmed New Democrat to attend an NDP meeting as it is for a Social Creditor, Liberal or Conservative. It is important for political faithfuls to understand the party views in a sound democratic system of government.

A vote based on judgment is an intelligent vote.

Where "Riding" Came From

THERE is an interesting derivation to the name riding, which in a constituency or boundary comprising voters in one area who are entitled to elect one representative to the house of parliament.

A riding is a transplanted English term for the territory a man could ride around on horseback in one day.

Party leaders have formulae homes in favor of comfortable transportation the motor cavalcades to do their electioneering, instead of using mileage, distances are measured by the speed of an aircraft that allows a campaigner to fill a speaking engagement in one province in the morning and another province in the afternoon.

Despite the outdated version, the word "riding" is likely to live on.

Voter's Choice

AT election time, does a voter cast his ballot for the candidate in his constituency, for the party to which he owes blind allegiance, or for the leader the local candidate represents?

This hypothetical question delves deep into the psychology of the ballot box. Why does he vote the way he does, and what makes him vote that way? If political strategists knew the answer, they'd be a long way towards formulating a successful election campaign.

In the 1958 election, for instance, the Progressive - Conservative landslide proved the popularity of dedicated John Diefenbaker. Many people obviously voted for the leader. At the same time they may have been rejecting the Liberal leader. Lester Pearson, who failed to emerge as a strong image.

What about the 1962 election? There are signs that the prime minister is not retaining the same magnetic hold on the people Mr Pearson is becoming more "folksy" and reaching closer to the public Jaunty Tommy Douglas is colorful, and trying hard to extend his sphere of influence for the NDP beyond the provincial level which he held so long. Social Credit leader Robert Thompson has proved bungstent, but he remains relatively unknown.

Is the identity of each individual leader sufficient to justify the confidence of the voter?

If not, this may be a different election than 1958, when many Conservatives were elected "on the coat-tails" of Mr Diefenbaker. They may have to satisfy the voters that they deserve re-election on their own merits.

There are also indications that the Conservative government is seeking a clear mandate on its record during the past five years

Thus the voter in 1962 may be looking harder at all party platforms.

This time he will perhaps use a combination of all three factors—local candidate, party plank, and leader — before deciding how he will mark his ballot

A Vote For Democracy

THE federal election instills more interest and more vote-getting attention than any level of government. Municipal administration is closest to the people and receives the most scrutiny day-by-day However, most towns and villages are fortunate to have a 50% vote at their elections every two years. Provincial elections do slightly better.

In the 1963 dominion election 67.8% of all eligible voters exercised their franchise In 1957, the percentage was 71.5 In 1958, the figure rose to 80.4

The increase has been creditable, but before Canadians become too smug it should be remembered that there were still about 1¾ million people who didn't go to the polls in 1958.

Considering the colossal publicity job prior to every federal election through the newspapers and over television and radio, all Canadians must be aware of the next vote on June 18

There is no plausible excuse outside of sickness why they shouldn't all do their duty and cast a vote

Reflections of the Times

Jellied Politics

An old springtime tonic was sulphur and molasses An old political meeting was hellfire and brimstone

Nowadays, spring tonics are bottled in syrup-sweet potions and political meetings, following the trend, have become wholesome ghosts of sleeve-tyred rhetoric.

It's the modern trend to make everything more palatable and surrounded by jelly along with block-long cars, increased welfare payments and more money for less work

Politics, which is government, which is by the people and for the people, is losing its contact with the people it once had Years ago, the settlers from Ontario came west and when there was an election, the hopeful candidate made his stumping cut out for him Pie in the sky promises didn't mean a thing to electors More often than not, the politician got engaged in a full-scale debate with his audience of several hundred people Thus the electors got to know a politician's strengths, weaknesses and mettle

No longer is this intimate knowledge of candidates possible, despite the increase of improved methods of communication. Politicians whip back and forth across the country in planes and trains "Main-streeting" is something looked upon as out-moded, time-wasting and not calculated to draw anything other than headlines Vote campaigners take refuge in railway car observation platforms, television glass houses and newspaper black and whites Personal contact is decreasing in an inverse ratio to the increase of communications speed

Constituency, provincial and federal vote stumping has come down to less of a series of argumentative one-night stands and more of an avalanche of press releases, air spots and glossy photographs

Politics, as it seems everything else these days, is becoming a victim of automation Future generations may elect a winking, blinking computer.

The often weed spraying is left too late and full benefits from the job are not realized. Spraying when grass is at the three leaf stage and weeds are very small will give the best results. This is about three weeks after seeding.

Good results from spraying can only be accomplished by using the proper amount of chemical on the weeds expected to be killed. Too often a 4-oz. spray of 2,4-D amine is expected to kill Canada and flow thistle when from experience it has been proved that 6 oz. or more are necessary to give top kill.

A great deal of MCPA is being used now to control hemp nettle and also as a safe chemical to use on oats. It should be pointed out that 4 oz. MCPA ester should be used to give control of hemp nettle and also thistle

Spray early, use enough chemical if you expect to get good control of weeds. For further information contact our office and pick up a very good bulletin "Weed Control with Chemicals."

Cane in Spraying Insects

Sweet clover weevils are also bothering some sweet clover crops in this area and inquiries are coming in on how to control them. Where the sweet clover is being plowed down this is not a major problem as many chemicals such as aldrin or dieldrin can be used to kill the weevil.

However, where sweet clover is going to be used for feed you are limited to two chemicals. These are DDT and malathion.

If the feed is going to be used for dairy cows use only malathion as these is no wait period required from the time of spraying and the time of feeding DDT can be used on sweet clover going to be fed to beef cattle as long as there is a thirty day wait period between time of spraying and time of feeding

Fly Control

A new chemical which will give positive control of flies for four to six weeks called di-trem is now available from the county of Ponoka. This chemical can be safely used in barns, hog houses, around the house, etc and is recommended to be used with a high pressure sprayer How about some action community effort to clean up on flies

Farm Safety Essays Win Prizes

Prize winners in the 12th farm safety essay competition conducted each spring have been announced by the Alberta Safety Council.

In the county of Lacombe, the best essay from grades seven and eight was written by Elizabeth McFetridge of Lacombe school. In grades five and six, the winner was Judith E. Collison of James S McCormick school.

The prize in each case is a distinctive pen as a personal memento for the author of the winning essay and a hand lettered certificate mounted on a hardwood plaque for the schoolroom.

From Tractor Safety

(by Judith Collison)

Bill Summers, farmers' son of sixteen, was cautiously driving down a rural highway one late summer afternoon.

Since his family was safety conscious this was the first time he had driven the tractor without his father near by in case he got into trouble. Now, Mr Summers trusted his son with the tractor because he had passed the controls and safety rules by heart.

Because the traffic was quite heavy on the road, Bill drove very close to the edge of the ditch.

He glanced up at the sky and saw that it was rosy red and purple in the last rays of the sun which gently slopping from view behind the golden fields of wheat. Bill, forgetting to be aware of oncoming traffic and his driving, looked lazily into the sunset, dreaming of the fishing trip his father had promised for the next day.

Though Bill was not aware of it, the tractor wheel had slipped over the edge of the highway. The tractor rolled over and over into the deep ditch ending in a tangled heap of red iron with Bill Summers under it.

Though Bill did not live to tell you this I am sure he would readily admit that if he had had his mind on what he was doing, he would have been able to go on the fishing trip promised by his father

The annual spring dance will be this Saturday Oh dear! That will be terrible I hope some thing happens to him so he can't take Nancy to the dance Well, to get back to my story I was plowing the field with my tractor and thinking about Nancy and myself dancing I was travelling up a slope at three miles per hour The land was quite dry and there were many rats in the ground."

But Joe tried to say

But nothing! You might not be here now if you had had them fixed But I do say that your brakes most likely wouldn't have helped you I had to leave 'em on the ground

"Ha, Ha!" laughed Joe. "I knew I'd win in the end!"

"Yes," replied wise Jack "But you lost when you began daydreaming You forget all the rules of safe tractor driving and as a payment you forfeited your life"

WATER SAFETY

- After a meal, wait 2 hours before swimming — a sensible precaution against cramps.
- Swim parallel to the shore, so that you can always see it — this way, you're never too far from safety.
- Never swim alone and preferably only where there are life-guards or people trained in life-saving.
- Know strange waters and float.
- Condition your body to the water by splashing your ankles, wrist, back and chest
- Parents always supervise children in or near water. Even that backyard plastic pool should be emptied when not supervised.

BOATING SAFETY

- A boat pulling a skier must have a crew of two — one to drive, one to watch the skier
- Always remain seated on a small boat or canoe
- When using a row boat to rescue a swimmer in trouble, bring him aboard over the stern. In a canoe lift him in over the side, in the mid-section.
- Never overload your boat. Make sure everyone in it wears an approved life jacket
- If your boat overturns, remain with it. Hold onto the gunwales and wait for help.

The Homemaker . . .

Electric floor polishers are the most effective home tool for polishing and buffing waxed floors, and hard floor coverings An important reason for using floor polishers is the decrease in the human energy used in cleaning

As with all appliances more than one type of polisher is available. Both a brush and a single brush type can be obtained.

The polisher is used for four types of operations: scrubbing, waxing, polishing and buffing The scrubbing brush or brushes may be used with detergent and water to scrub hard floor coverings or concrete floors or with cleaner for wood floors The steps to follow are

1 Vacuum or sweep to remove dirt

2 Sparingly wet a convenient area

3 Scrub with polisher

4 Rinse with mop

For cleaning wood floors a solvent cleaner or a liquid cleaning-and-polishing wax is used instead of detergent, or water

When waxing, be sure to use correct wax. Self polishing waxes should not be applied with an electric floor polisher but the floor may be polished with the polisher after the self polishing wax has dried

Suggested procedure might be

1 Vacuum or scrub if necessary

2 Apply a thin coat of paste or liquid wax

3 Let the wax dry thoroughly for 20 to 30 minutes

4 Polish floor

5 Buff with wool pad.

Waxing requires little maintenance. Occasionally an extra may be necessary Brushes are cleaned with water and detergent Do not store polisher with bristles resting on the floor; either hang or store polisher and brushes separately or with brush bristles pointing up.

Town Tax Rate Set at 57 Mills

Rate of taxation for the town of Lacombe for 1963 has been set at 57 mills — no change from last year.

Pennies were sharp and were here as the council went into committee last Friday evening to scrutinize estimated expenditures and check potential revenues with a view to balancing the budget The budget by-law, as passed, calls for a surplus on the year's operation of $80.37.

The mill rate is broken down as follows: for municipal purposes, 24.67 mills; school foundation fund and educational levy 29.70 mills; hospital 2.63 mills.

Net taxable assessment is now $4 443 350 and at a mill rate of 57 taxation income will total $253 242. Total expenditures — at time high — as figured at $379 180 and $125 311 — expected in revenue from sources other than direct property taxation.

Most of the committee estimates have been worked out over a period of the past six weeks so that it took the committee only 30 minutes to open the meeting, arrive at a final decision, and give the required by-law its first reading.

Highlights of revenue expected items:

- Income from licenses and permits are expected to total $4 600 (from $8,035 last year) because of anticipated decrease in mobile and manufactured home permits;
- Income from provincial government through the municipal assistance act is estimated at $25,800, down from $30,866 actual income last year.
- Income from crown property (municipal grants) is up $5,000, because of the new post office building;
- Winter works income estimated at $3,000 this year (no income from this source last year)
- Rent property income at $7 (while) totalled $283.382 this year ($344,963 last year), the difference due to increased assessment in town.

Highlights of estimated expenditures:

- In public works, a total of $65,782 will be spent, compared with $67,811 in 1962. This includes an estimated $17,000 for construction of curb, gutter and sidewalks on 50 avenue; $16,000 for storm sewer; $1,200 for street oiling; $11,760 last year); $750 for snow removal; $10,000 for street maintenance and wages ($12,000 last year).
- Police expense are estimated at $22,925 ($23,886 last year); fire protection costs total $4,740 ($3,335 last year); street lights, hydrants, civil defence at $15,063 ($13,057) Total estimated cost of operating the protection to persons and property committee, $48,197.
- Estimated cost of risk operation is $10,500 (it was $14,398 last year) and L.I.C. costs are expected to result in $6,000 ($,278 last year). As against this, interest from the buildings is estimated at $14 000. Regular income is estimated at $4,800, to bring total budget to $39,300. This includes, for the first time, an estimated loss of $1,500 in operation of the swimming pool
- Garbage collection is estimated at $6,500 ($6,228 last year), and sewer costs at $4,300, up from $3,500 in 1962. This estimate also included estimated costs of $3,000 for sewer connections for a total $34,300.

The total new taxable assessment is up about $30,000 will raise some $1,292. The taxation Balance of revenue will be raised by a frontage tax, $2,987, business tax $3,750, and revenue like lotteries, fines, etc., $14,000.

Secretary C Bottmers reported that estimated expenditures are broken down as follows: General government, $2,340; police, fire and street lights, $6 040; public works, $7,660; sanitation and waste removal, $2,440; education, $30,799; recreation and community services, $2,600; debenture debt charges, $4,716; hospital requisitions, $1,825.

Committee budget of $14,750

- Health and social welfare costs are estimated at $30,756 this year, as against $28,647 last year
- General government costs including administration, town and rural planning, office expense and audit, $10,089 for the building reserve fund are estimated at $36,391 down from last year's $38,514)
- Debenot costs this year total $131,362, compared with last year's figure of $139,505.
- Interdepartmental payments are down to $32,326, compared with 1961's $34,386.

Crop Outlook Promising After Adequate Rainfall

A total of 1.91 inches of rainfall was measured in Ben's downpours at the Lacombe experimental farm weather bureau during the past week, "setting up" plant crops and pastures all through this agricultural area.

Some had ave reported north and east of Morningside, and in the Alix sector, and some fields were bitterly in need of moisture to come back fast. Water gullies developed during Sunday's drenching rain that totalled 1.30 inches of precipitation here.

Rain during April (one-half inch) and May (two inches) is just about on a par with last year, the difference being that this year has been cool and cloudy compared with high temperatures and hot winds one year ago.

So far this month, there has been 2.6 inches of rain. In 1961, the total was .81 up to June 13.

Warning! Over-Parked Cars Will Be Tagged

Police are being instructed to enforce the two-hour parking by-law in downtown Lacombe to allow for the parking problem.

"Too many merchants and employers are parking cars in front of business establishments all day," it was stated, as conventions abetted the issue of installing parking metres.

Councillor Murray Boyce, who heads the police committee, said that it had been policy to ignore violations when the town isn't too busy and there are fewer cars on the street.

"Let's prosecute and close away the all-day parkers," councillors chimed in. "Many of them are retired — councillor Boyce answered.

It also reported that some days found as many as have been picked up and placed in the pound.

Police report for May complaints received and investigated, approximately 95; number of business places found unlocked after hours, one; total fines due to the town for the month, $040. total fines collected for the first five months, $5,505.

County Agreement?

In two separate letters, secretary-treasurer George Brunets of the county of Lacombe requested the co-operation of the town of Lacombe in setting up a mutual agreement for police and fire protection.

County is "interested in making a mutual agreement with your council where they would be willing to enter into negotiations calls made to rural areas," Mr. Brunets wrote

Pending further development of county fire protection, they are interested in making a mutual agreement under which the county would pay the cost of any fire calls made for the protection of county ratepayers."

It was decided that a committee from the town should meet with county authorities

Council Turns Down Late Night Shopping

Council gave an indication when it rejected a minor flaw in the way of a by-law amendment to satisfy the wishes of some merchants for late shopping hours, particularly during the pre-Christmas season

Parking By-Law Studied

The by-law authorizing 30 minute parallel parking on the south side of 50 avenue (from Bert's Auto Service to Malloy-Hatcherics) also had a shaky reception.

While some merchants had requested this change from the present "no parking" rule, it was learned that an objection had been received from Dr W A Henry of Lacombe Medical Centre on the north side of the avenue, where parallel parking instead of angle parking would reduce the number of stalls from 18 to eight!

This by-law received two readings only, but not the third, since it was not unanimous and the full council was not present.

A third by-law extending the business discount time period to 10 days received approval of assessment was defeated on first reading.

IN TOWN

There were 30 ballots cast at the advance poll at the Kinsmen scout hall in Lacombe last Saturday and Monday, according to Mrs. Lillian Lardner, deputy returning officer

Bentley Taxes Based on 52 Mills For 1962

Village of Bentley set a mill rate of 52 mills for the current year up from mill rate levied in 1961 at a budget meeting on May 31st last week.

Estimated expenditures of $50 000 for the year, according to accounts any moderate construction program similar to 1961 Instead, the village council decided to concentrate on repairs and re-gravelling streets, and maintenance of parks and lanes that has been neglected.

Council consisting of mayor Clarence Herigott and councillors Elmer Calkins and Al Herman prepared a break-even budget with a small anticipated deficit

The total new taxable assessment is up about $30,000 will raise some $1,292. The taxation Balance of revenue will be raised by a frontage tax, $2,987, business tax $3,750, and revenue like lotteries, fines, etc., $14,000.

In addition, four gems of five calves brought a total of $4,616.67, an average of 30 71 cents a pound.

His request for night shopping to 9:00 on Friday, July 26, was not settled.

To Erect Monument

Representing the Lacombe branch of the Canadian Legion at the meeting were Reg Cartwright, Tod Boulter and George Talbot.

How Accepting Registrations For Annual Car Rodeo

Entries for the annual rodeo, sponsored by the Lacombe and district board of trade, will be accepted by secretary Roy Sturgeon at committee chairman Dave Rediger, up to next Wednesday noon.

The car rodeo competition, to include both written tests and driving course skills, will be held on 30 avenue, starting at 2:00 p.m. sharp. Board of trade officials are soliciting support from local business men.

Construction started this week on a new funeral home on Lacombe. A building permit for $35,000 for the construction of the chapel, to be located at the corner of the old C and E trail and 54 avenue was taken out Monday by Penton and Karkman, funeral directors.

The principals in the business venture are Glen Penton, for many years manager of Jamieson Groceteria in Lacombe, and Miss Karkman of Edmonton.

Plans call for construction of a twenty-cupboarded chapel, preparation and display rooms, and a large garage for the cars and hearse.

Also Construction has been awarded the contract for construction, and it is expected that the funeral home will be in operation before the end of the summer.

Astronaut Glenn Writes Letter to Lacombe Youth

A personal letter has been received from Lieut. Colonel John H. Glenn, Jr., the astronaut who circled the earth three times in his Mercury capsule, Friendship 7, last February, by Lacombe youth Ken Fight [illegible].

Be Sure To Vote

As a newspaper serving the town and district, The Globe has been queried by many readers over the apparent lack of fortitude in supporting a candidate in the federal election.

The reason is simple. We do not feel it is our duty or our place to tell the electorate how to vote unless some outstanding election issue is at stake.

We have expressed the opinion that Social Credit is move and that is forward They can't go back any further having no elected members in the last house. This time Social Credit will make inroads in Alberta particularly in the rural areas However high hopes of Social Credit in Quebec will be dashed as the party will be lucky to elect even one or two members in the province.

The New Democratic Party should show some strength in Saskatchewan and British Columbia, but their experience as a provincial national force is doomed.

The Progressive-Conservatives will do better than the Liberals in western Canada, especially in Manitoba, and would lead their own in the Maritimes The Conservatives are likely to be overwhelmed by a large Liberal majority in the province of Quebec This which one of the odd time parties will be elected will depend on the outcome in Ontario with its 85 seats A minorowner for either party in Ontario would guarantee victory but a closer race than that is impending in that key province

P.S. Visitors at The Globe office will be welcome next Tuesday to point out how wrong we were in making the forecast

Federal Election June 18

Next Monday is E day when the national election will return the Progressive-Conservatives or send another party to power at Ottawa Observers traveling with the campaign caravans from coast to coast are noting another relevant about making flat predictions on the outcome of the vote

They state in the various provinces, talks to the regional newsmen, and assessments of the public reception to the hour party leaders leave them guessing. They have no floor-out election issues to beat the feelings of the voter and thus lose led to a certain public apathy

Opinion polls show a slight Liberal trend but there is such a large undecided vote at this stage that the swinging could quickly change There is more than a suspicion that these polls aren't as accurate as the originators would like to believe particularly after the U.S. presidential vote of 1948 that upset all calculations Perhaps the voters tell the questioners one thing with the full intention of doing another

Only carefully examining Canada's man kissed skies we see a few kites blowing that might foretell the direction of the election winds.

Right on our own ranging ground of Alberta, there is only one way for

What Price Fame!

People are quick to grab hold of a hero, set him up on a pedestal, and worship him dimly The public needs to feed on some idol, perhaps as an image of a person he or she would like to be Hollywood story because of they glamor and beauty are most apt to fall into this public floodlight They lose shoes, hats and other mementos every time they are mobbed by a crazed audience.

Curvaceous gowns and muscle-men from the movie sets aren't the only human beings turned into goldfish. During the war, army generals and air force aces were wartime heroes

Now it's the space age, and astronaut Lt Col John Glenn toured the streets of New York city on the back seat of an open convertible waving to millions, as tons of streamers and paper dropped from skyscraper windows

As a space hero, he appeals to the national psyche He has received more than 30 000 letters from thankful Americans [illegible] Washington for February when he orbited the earth

Mail coming in at the rate of 5,000 letters a week has caused difficulties He has lost communication with personal friends, some of whom are now addressing letters in care of neighbors to make sure he gets them. It is reported that he lost a pay cheque in the shuffle

We imagine that the same treatment is now being turned on the latest successful astronaut, Lt Col Carpenter

Cancer Spot?

There are trouble areas all over the world We read about the violence in Algiers, the Congo, Ghana, Laos, Argentina There is the ever-threw of the Turkish government, and political unrest in the divided city of Berlin

These outbreaks are like rashes on the extremities of the human body They cause some pain, but they are not deadly, serious wounds to some vital organ So the world lives on, from day to day while new jabs on other extremities create torment

Some sources believe that the most acute area where war might break out in the world today is on the Chinese-Indian frontier Communist China is pursuing an territorial encroachment on India. The awesome manpower at the command of the leaders gives pause for thought

China is working to perfect a nuclear bomb Not even the Soviet Union seems to be capable of keeping a rein on Peking What are China's grand designs on the rest of the world"

China is like a cancer, slowly working on the body to spell its ultimate doom

O, Canada

One of the most disgraceful exhibitions of Canadianism may be seen at most public gatherings It happens just after the chairman has announced "We will open our meeting with O Canada"

There is a lethargic dragging of chairs, coupled with grunts and groans and miscellaneous noises, as a seemingly weary, and probably out of condition populace rises to its feet

And there they stand . some of them conspicuous sentences which the chairman so rudely interrupted others whispering a last minute quip and all in all most of them slouched in various types of stances conducive to all kinds of potential back ailments

Some stare vacantly into space others try to use if they can look at their shoes over their stomachs, and others shuffle about uncomfortably

A few start singing with the opening bars which is usually carried far enough for some others to join in the swelling rumble of voices A few others, possibly self-conscious, keep mum

The patriot always stands by parking a temple skin in the Funeral March

Scattered about are some hardy souls standing properly at attention and belting out the words as though Canada wasn't such a bad place after all.

The part that always brings pride-ful tears to our eyes is when we get to the words "We stand on guard Have a look around next time, and see what you think of these people who are maintaining that they will stand on guard for thee old Canada Any small, unassuming postage stamp size country would probably figure we were ripe for the taking Some guardsmen

If you disagree with the singing of O Canada, then for heaven's sake, have the courage of your convictions and sit down

On the other hand, if you happen to believe that this is good then stand up and sing as though you mean to stand on guard for "our home and native land."

This piece may not rank with the world's great music, but sung properly, with enthusiasm, by an erect standard group it can be quite moving

There may be many of them if they persist in crowding firemen out of local fires

It wouldn't be a bad idea if firemen turned the water on the crowds and cooled them off."

TO HELP DRUM AGREE!

Drumheller's parks committee chairman Bert Ickrangill, has expressed hope that various organizations will band together and back a project to heat the memorial arena

Alderman Ickrangill stated at the regular council session Monday night, he would estimate the cost to heat the arena with natural gas heaters would be in the neighborhood of $3 000

"It was a similar project was undertaken at Vermilion with 22 heaters installed These heaters warm the seating area only, therefore, there would be no change in the temperature at ice level and the artificial ice plant would not be taxed to any greater degree. He also estimated that it would cost some $2 00 per gas to heat the arena

It was pointed out by council that the wading pool should be located where it could be filled with heated and chlorinated water from the swimming pool system.

GREEN ACRES

By Dominion Agriculturist Walter McNary

Check Your Spruce Shelterbelt

Reports are quite numerous this year of large mature spruce trees dying out on shelterbelts. Many of these cases have been investigated and we find that the spruce bark beetles are the cause.

The female beetles enter the bark and burrow to the sapwood. Here they make short vertical tunnels along the sides of which they deposit eggs. The larvae from these burrow at right angles to the main tunnel Severe attacks in this fall the trees. In healthy trees, however, many of the larvae are drowned in the sap which flows into their tunnels. Thus it can be seen that perhaps the severe dry weather of the last few years has weakened the trees so that they have less resistance

Little can be done to save trees which are already heavily infested. Take all cultural or other steps to keep the trees healthy. If however, an occasional tree appears to be dead, either from bark beetle attacks or any other cause, it should be cut down and burned without delay. It will become a breeding ground for beetles which may overcome the resistance of neighboring, but still healthy trees.

We would appreciate a lot for farmers noticing this condition in their spruce shelterbelts would notify us so we can then determine the extent of the damage

County Grant for Dams

In order to encourage the building of dams and therefore to preserve water conservation in the district, the agricultural service board has made available a grant of 2c per yard to a maximum of $20 00 for all dams which qualify for PFRA grants.

Farmers wishing further information should contact our office or the Botanical Food supervisor

Dumbo, The Ghost Writer

Dumbo is in a mulli this week. In the waning days of the election campaign, it becomes evident that no political party has been smart enough to pick him up as a ghost writer. It has long been Dumbo's desire to be a background author — to write words for somebody else's mouth. When the speech composed is a success, Dumbo takes the credit. If it's a flop, Dumbo can blame the speaker and ribbon the idea of being the writer without accepting the responsibility of what's written.

But alas, our ruling candidates are apparently preparing their own speeches. Which is more the pity, because Dumbo has some pretty peppy slogans like: "Why bother with a Diefenballer when you can have Social Credit sorrow?" "Get your pills free . . . vote NDP" or "Loop along with Pearson."

These solid vote-catchers will not be saved for prosperity, because nobody thought of Dumbo!

Free of charge, Dumbo is hereby offering to ghost-write the "thank you" speech for the winning candidate next Monday. At the same time, he writes gracious words of congratulations on behalf of the losers:

[illegible] FROM LOSERS ON BEING ELECTED

On Monday, June 18, 1962, you the electors have decided by majority vote to return me to the House of Commons at Ottawa.

You have done me an honour, but I ask you to remember that you have not done me a favour.

This is a date you will always remember because the majority of you voters were clever enough to elect me as your representative Rest assured I will be thinking of you in the good old west when I am reclining in the soft seats of parliament down east

It will be my privilege and duty to act in your interests, when I fully intend to do

As I stated throughout the campaign, what serves Lacombe best will be my motto. For example, the school students need a park ade to do away with the parking problem on residential streets adjacent to the school During the school holidays this summer will be a good time to have this done, if I can prevail on the federal government to do it

Through vision and other ideas and believe me I refuse to be a rubber stamp — please rest assured that I will treat your needs with gentleness to the overall general benefit of the area, and the province, and the country for a greater community a greater Alberta, and a greater Canada

You may have expected platitudes and promises — but instead I give you these sincere words from my heart

Elsella

[illegible] FROM LOSERS ON BEING DEFEATED

While I thank you the electorate have made a mistake still you elected my honorable opponent to office, instead of me, which you will rue in regret, because I was "your man," however here's a toast to the newly-elected man, and may he do the job for the constituents that I would have

I'm not behind a victory party but even a losers' party gets brighter after awhile, and we can forget our bitter recriminations and all work together for the common good which I intend to do as I stand back and criticize.

On the other hand, maybe there is a bit of thankless work connected with public service so perhaps you have done me a favour by not electing me as your choice to serve Queen and country for a growing population which is moving ahead

However, there will be none of the usual political utterances from me, for even in unglorious defeat I can show good sportsmanship

However, I would be remiss if I failed to mention my supporters — some of whom did an excellent job for me but not enough of them or I would have been elected. Fellows like "Scrounge" Small, but then I hate to mention names in case I miss one And my good wife, who kept a lonely vigil in the house all night while I was campaigning

I really don't mind being beaten but I hate to lose that $300 deposit

Dumbo.

Wolfville and District News

WOLFVILLE Mr and Mrs J A Archibald were Friday evening guests at the Leslie Hunt home at Dakota in honour of the former's birthday. Other guests included the G C Archibald family, the G C Kemp family, all of Innisfail, and the J H Tingey family.

Five-year-old Chris Kemp is staying with her grandparents while her parents are on a Dairy Queen tour which takes them to the west coast through the northwestern states and British Columbia.

Many from our district and vicinity attended the reception, program and dance in honor of the Saunders and Kinley nuptials, held on Saturday afternoon and evening at the Legion hall in Lacombe. Best wishes of one and all go out to this couple. It was an event which will be remembered particularly by the older folk.

A household samovar of rare, full armed form on Friday last after two and again Sunday evening. The latter registered a fair 1½ inches. Growth should be rapid now with this ample amount.

Good wishes go to Mrs. Frank Maulish who underwent a major operation early last week at the Royal Alexandra hospital in Edmonton.

Mrs. Tilly Johnsen and Curtis of Wetaskiwin and Mrs. Norma Codd and Bill of Pemuka, were Sunday visitors at the G C Archibald home.

Bill Kramer is getting along nicely with his new house.

Some of our farmers have finished seeding, but a few are still working away at it.

Research in Progress on Grass Cutting

Term Ends

Don't go to west until the second week after seeding to first cutting, summer management, and renovation of established pastures, experimental farms are working on.

On May 25 Mr. Scharb, Agronomist, Lacombe Experimental Farm, met a number of area farmers and ranchers, and with all farm advisors, at the Lacombe Research Station, to attend one of a series of meetings to be held in Alberta this year to extend research findings to farmers.

The program, under the direction of beef husbandry and adaptability, took the group out to see test plots and to observe and discuss grass cutting tests to mowing time and how. Among grass species on the farm were crested wheat grass, intermediate, wheat grass, meadow, orchard grass, timothy, red and creeping fescue, and brome grass.

At the time of writing, the alfalfa was in the pre-bud to bud bloom, while of the grasses only timothy and meadow wheat grass had started to head.

Height of cutting when using sickle bars were between 2.36 inches, rotary mower 2.36 inches, rotary blade grass 1.36 inches and orchard grass 1.18 inches. All yields reported are for dry matter content. The average for all the grass alfalfa mixtures was 1.5 tons per acre.

The question to enjoy Mr. Anderson whether or not we are wise in leaving this more than 2,000 per acre of good feed and in the field all winter. It all depends on how it affects yield in the years that follow and this is what Mr. Anderson is trying to decide.

ELI SCHABA

Lacombe member of the Lacombe Lions club who is term of office as Lions International Governor district 37E, appointed last week at the annual district convention at Billings, Montana. Mr. Schabe assumes term of office on an enviable record of attendance, membership in 24/100 milestone Lions Club. Immediate past Zone of last year Mr. Schaba's position as governor for this district was taken over by Ray Lawson of Red Deer. Mr. and Mrs. Schaba accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Chester Brown of Lacombe leave this week for Nice, France to attend the Lions International world convention.

The new governor, Ray Lawson, is well known throughout the Lacombe district, as well as Zone 5 where he was installed into office at the district conventions held in Billings. Upon completion of his term as governor, Mr. Schaba was made an International Counsellor in Lions International.

Rest week's games: Thurs., June 14 — Morningside at Jets, Clippers at Lincoln, Sunday, June 17 — Bygrave at Agnelcos, Clippers at experimental farm, Tuesday, June 19 — Jets at Lincoln, Agnelcos at experimental farm.

Even though showers prevailed over Lacombe almost every day last week, the football league managed to play five games. Last Tuesday, the Braves pushed Lincoln aside 10-2 in a game at Lincoln. The same night, Morningside "clipped" the Clippers 13-12. This was Clippers' sixth straight loss.

On Thursday, the Agnelcos rolled their way to Morningside only to get the game handed to them by default. Morningside only had half a team there.

On Friday, a very interesting game was played at the experimental farm. The farm boys came out on top 13-12, after a frantic attempt by the Jets who slammed two homers and scored six runs in the last inning. Ron Lembke was the winning batter.

The same evening, the Agnelcos played a post poned game against the Clippers and won 27-8.

Conservatives Re-Elected On Minority Vote

Polling Booth Scene On Election Day

Voters in the Wetaskiwin and Acadia constituencies ... Progressive Conservative candidates filling ... and re-elected ... in the federal election Monday to follow the Alberta trend of electing 15 Conservatives in the 17 ridings.

The other two seats went to Real Credit, one of them to party leader Robert Thompson who captured the Red Deer riding.

The Progressive-Conservatives ... 208 seats, on the last house saw this majority whittled ... to 95 seats to 118. Prime Minister Diefenbaker still ... a 60 seats government, with the following representation based on returns to Tuesday afternoon:

Progressive-Conservatives	118
Liberals	69
Social Credit	30
New Democratic Party	19
Doubtful	1
Deferred	1
Total	238

Social Credit showed surprising strength in the province of Quebec to win 30 seats.

The Liberals made their great est gains in the province of Ontario to take 42 out of 84 (one deferred).

The Conservatives won re-election with a greatly reduced majority due to their success in the prairie provinces, winning 11 of 14 seats in Manitoba, 16 of 17 in Saskatchewan, and 15 of 17 in Alberta.

The NDP failed to win a seat in Saskatchewan, and party leader T C Douglas went down to personal defeat in Regina.

Closer home, mayor Ronald Gordon of Lacombe who was running on the Liberal ticket lost his deposit.

Returning officer Harry J Noble of Ponoka announced the following count with 187 polls reporting out of 190

Harry Moore (PC) elected	8,787
Floyd Hateley (SC)	6,947
Ronald Gordon (Lib)	2,710
W Strowbenn (NDP)	1,044

There were 150 spoiled ballots. The 19,800 ballots represented 70.4% of the 28,000 names on the voters' list.

Mr Noble said the average was dragged down by a less-than-10% vote from 800 Indians, but added "How they came out, how it's done, more of them will take advantage of their franchise in the future."

Re Results

Four candidates out of a heavy slate of six lost their deposits in the Acadia constituency, including Jim Coleman of Mirror who was running as an Independent-Liberal.

Returning officer M. E. Taylor of Hailuck announced the following results, with only three small polls left to be heard from

Jack Horner (PC) elected	8,304
C. M. Hewson (SC)	7,511

Will Teach Grade Ten at Satinwood School in 1962-63

Education committee of the county of Lacombe reversed a decision to terminate the operation of grades ten and eleven at Satinwood school in 1962-63, following a three-man delegation consisting of Frank Cripps, Vernon Gould and Bill Gordon at last week's meeting.

The Satinwood school board representatives pointed out that 13 students were in prospect for grade 10 at Satinwood next term and that the expected enrolment was sufficient to justify the continuance of grade ten.

The education committee explained that the difficulty of hiring teachers for the school was a factor, aside from student registration. (Resignation of principal Ralph Meeres has been received)

If adequate instruction is available, the committee agreed to carry on grade 10 at Satinwood. Grade 11 will definately be closed, and the three or four students involved will attend some other centralized school

Nick Hryniyk of Alix is another school principal who has resigned from staff, and superintendent H R Ross reported that teacher resignations now total about 40

Approximately 15 positions have been filled by new appointments, and 10 county bursary students would be starting to teach next fall, leaving about 15 vacancies. The deadline date for resignations is July 10.

To Set Up Regulations

The question of when a teacher should and should not be paid on a day away from school was raised after it was learned that one county teacher was working at a polling booth on election day

Committee members were of the opinion that the teacher should not be paid for such a day's pay, nor was it felt there should be a salary paid for absences from the classroom because of "personal reasons" like writing an exam, attending a wedding, etc.

New Salary Scale Is Adopted For Local Nurses

Lacombe municipal hospital has adopted a new wage scale for graduate nurses, outbearing a starting salary of $280 per month to be followed by three annual increments of $15 per month

Second-year nurses will thus receive $305 per month, third-year $330 per month, and fourth-year $355 per month.

This scale was determined by the hospital board at its May meeting, after consultations between the A.A.R.N. and the executive of associated hospitals of Alberta.

There are 39 nurses on staff at Lacombe, with Mrs. Jack Harvie as ...

Salary Schedule Settled Between Teachers, County

Teachers of the Lacombe local and the Lacombe county council have agreed upon a salary schedule for 1962-63, which according to the joint release will cost local ratepayers about $6,000 more per year.

An extra increment of $200 has been added to maximum for bachelors with four and five years of university training, with a $100 increment for those in the sixth-year bracket.

Salaries for teachers with one, two and three years of training remain unchanged as do the minimums in the fourth, fifth and sixth year brackets.

Higher changes in wording serve to clarify terms of the previous ...

Salaries for teachers with one degree will now range from $4,200 to $7,900. Teachers with five years of university training (usually representing two degrees) will receive from $5,300 to $8,100.

Those qualifying in the sixth year bracket (usually representing two degrees and an extra year of study, or a Master's degree) will receive from $5,500 to $6,600, the maximum being reached after twelve years' teaching experience

One-year trainees remain at $3,000 - $4,300, two-year teachers at $3,300 - $5,300; teachers with three years of University at $4,100 to $6,100

Approximately thirty teachers will receive increases under the new schedule, at an approximate cost to the county of $6,000.

The new agreement will be in effect for one year, instead of two as proposed by the board

Students Write Exams As School Term Nears End

Lucky grade ten and eleven students throughout the county of Lacombe start their annual ... days after the writing of central Alberta zone examinations June 11 to 15.

The hard grind is still ahead for grade nine and twelve pupils, who face departmental examinations. First exam for grade 12 is June 21, Social Studies, while grade nines open with Language on June 25. Both finish writing on Friday, June 29.

That's the day when the year officially winds up for elementary school students, too. They are busy writing room tests this week prior to receiving their final report cards.

The exception is grade one tots, at scattered ... one must worry. June 22, to allow pre-school children to attend five days of school before the next term opening in September.

County Grant For Farm Dams

A grant of two cents per cubic yard will be paid to farmers by the county of Lacombe for construction of stock-watering dams up to PFRA specifications, it was decided at the monthly meeting of council last Thursday.

The payment was endorsed on recommendation of the agricultural service board to control and conserve water and reduce damage from run-off.

The county payment is up to a maximum of $300 in addition farmers may qualify for a further payment of seven cents per cubic yard from the dominion government, up to a maximum of $300.

Farmers wishing to take advantage of these grants must fill out an application and have the dams site surveyed (the survey is free under the prairie farm rehabilitation assistance scheme).

It was a busy day for county councillors, who gave formal approval to the 1962 budget formulated at a special meeting last month.

Council agreed to have an aerial photographic survey made of the entire county at a cost of about $1,000, a quarter of which may be recovered from the provincial government.

The photos will be taken this summer by Spartan Air Services, and will be available for municipal purposes.

Sam Wetzel of Bentley was appointed a fire warden, succeeding E. A. Robson.

An extra contingency road grant of $10,000 from the provincial government will be received by the county towards costs of constructing the new district road and bridge across the Blindman River, west of Blacklaids. The work is to begin next summer.

In loving memory of my darling wife, Edna Beatrice Eleanor Ure who passed away June 17, 1961.

Memories wash this sweet sorrow
Dimmed or not by the days

$50,000 Collected In Taxes

Town ratepayers didn't exactly grab at the opportunity to earn discounts for early payment of taxes in 1962.

Councillor Ivan Stonebrecher reported that an amount "approaching $50,000" had been paid by ratepayers. About $4,000 of this was paid before the 3% discount period at the end of May. He had once prior to the 4% discount parsed at the end of March.

He estimated that that amount notes might be sealed upwards next year, as a further incentive to taxpayers.

At the same time, the amount collected has allowed the town to operate for the first six months without large bank borrowings.

June is dairy month in Canada. Although June is nearly over, it is never too late to learn about the importance of dairy products in the diet.

Milk, the main dairy product, is an excellent source of calcium, riboflavin and protein. It also supplies some Vitamin A and thiamine as well as other vitamins and minerals. Without milk and cheese in the diet it is difficult to meet the body's requirement for calcium.

According to Canada's food rules, children (up to about 11 years) should have 2½ cups of milk daily, adolescents require 4 cups daily, and adults need 1½ cups daily.

There are various types of milk available on today's market. The various types are as follows:

1. Plain and homogenized whole milk are of equal value, although the latter may seem richer because the fat is suspended evenly through the milk by a special process. The legal minimum of butterfat content of whole milk is set by each province in Canada; it is usually 3.25 per cent.

2. Jersey milk is whole milk which has an average content of 5% butterfat. The high fat content often causes digestive upsets in children and may therefore be undesirable.

3. Skim milk is whole milk with the fat removed. It is usually a better buy than whole milk since the price is lower than that of whole milk. The lacking vitamin A can be made up by other foods containing this vitamin, e.g. green and yellow vegetables, yellow fruits butter or vitamin-fortified margarine.

4. Buttermilk is the fluid left after the manufacture of butter. It contains very little fat. It is also made with a culture added to skim milk. Like skim milk, it has the same food value as whole milk except that it provides less energy — calories, and no vitamin A.

5. Chocolate drink contains milk with at least 3% milk fat, while flavored (e.g. pineapple, chocolate) milk has at least 3% milk fat. The percentage must be stated on the container. These beverages contain flavouring, a sweetening agent, and may contain a stabilizer to keep the chocolate in suspension.

6. Evaporated milk is whole milk reduced 50% in volume by the removal of water. The product often contains vitamin D — either by addition or irradiation.

7. Condensed milk is a mixture of milk and sugar which is then reduced in volume by the removal of water. It should not be confused with evaporated milk.

8. Powdered milk has nearly all the moisture removed, it can be restored to fluid form by sprinkling on water and beating vigorously with a whip beater. Both powdered whole milk and powdered skim milk are available.

9. Concentrated fresh milk is whole milk concentrated to one-third of its volume. It is pasteurized but not sterilized.

Uses of Milk

Milk may be used in soups, cream sauces, chowders, puddings, baked dishes, and milk drinks (cold or hot). Ice cream contains milk naturally. One rounded scoop of ice cream provides twice the calories of ¼ glass of milk, but about the same amount of protein, minerals, and Vitamins.

Runaway Boat At Gull Lake Strikes Boy

A 13-year-old Red Deer boy, Dale Hougestol was injured when struck by a boat in crowded Gull Lake waters last Sunday afternoon

He is still in Lacombe Union Hospital with knee bruises Fortunately, X-rays showed no fractured bones.

RCMP of Red Deer, which investigated, said that Don Kaulch of Edmonton was apparently working on the engine of the boat when it started while in gear.

The boat, out of control, entered the swimming area before the owner could steer it away out of danger.

Official Talks at Pool Hi-Jinks

The opening of the pool as "a dream come true" brought greetings from the county council, and congratulated town citizens on the new pool. Ribbon cutting ceremonies were cut by petite Michelle Dubuse, and three minutes later, there was a rush of youngsters for the dressing rooms. Within five minut s well over 150 were swimming in the "T"-shaped pool.

Big Time In the Old Town

Close to 1,000 town and district residents — almost one-half of them children — took in the official opening of the new swimming pool here Saturday evening. At a short ceremony Mayor R A Gordon acted as master of ceremonies, county chairman Rev Stuart Liddell at the annual declaration day service at the Lacombe Lake We-Puget park last Sunday [illegible] ... of the ... [illegible] ... the Lacombe county council were present.

Mr Liddell pointed out that survivors of two world wars have had their world of tomorrow

They have come to realize that their "dreams in the nerves could not be achieved by force" instead, Mr Liddell said, they are achieved by "time, talent, and spiritual application."

Several wreaths were placed at the foot of the cenotaph by representatives of organizations.

It was July 1, new year's eve and the school-term-end in one big parcel last Saturday evening as Lacombe's new $68,000 swimming pool was officially opened The above picture was taken then five minutes after the pool was declared open, and youngsters threatened to run wild with the excitement of having their own pool in town. The four lifeguard-attendants managed to keep some semblance of discipline, even in the excitement although councillor Wes Jackson was disshed, clothes and all, in celebration, and two youngsters had the wind knocked out of them when they belly-flopped from the high board and had to be fished from the water by the lifeguards. Everybody was in gay spirits as Lacombe's 15-year- old dream of a pool was finally realized.

Late Shopping Under Review

Town council at it's regular meeting Monday night tried to come up with an alternative solution on the night shopping question that would satisfy the majority of merchants — this time with a decision to repeal the present by-law and throw store hours wide open

Defeat of the last by-law on June 11 which would have allowed night shopping in Lacombe to 10:00 every Thursday of the year was attributed to the lack of any special Christmas shopping hours, councillors felt in retrospect.

However, this action didn't appear to meet the needs of some merchants who feel one night shopping a week in Lacombe is a good thing

Councillor Ivan Bloomfield and he was in favor of letting merchants set their own hours, without council interference, and this was echoed by a majority of council members present.

It was decided to repeal the existing by-law that calls for 6:00 p.m closing. The new by-law would still incorporate the 12:00 noon closing on Wednesday giving a half-day business holiday

If the new by-law passes, it would in effect give local merchants a free hand to keep the [illegible] night open whenever they wish for as long as they wish.

Quarter-Million Dollar Expansion Planned on No. 2

A provincial government appeal board Monday gave the "go ahead" signal to Marwood Swain of Lacombe to proceed with construction of the new sugar-processing plant, to commence early south of Columbus Union College

Stokes have already been set out for a new $180,000 service station, to be completed with store front and to include two service bays Also included in plans for construction this year is a coffee shop and dining room, to be located on a hill overlooking a small lake to the west

Actual construction work on the quarter-million dollar development is expected within the next few weeks. That we hope it opens up by the time the highway is ready for use this fall.

Looking into next year, Mr Swain already has working plans drawn up for motor-hotel accommodation and individual motel units along the small lak- shore

"Tomorrow" is Speaker's Theme At Decoration Day

A U.S marine when asked during the last war what he wanted more than anything else in life would reply "Give me tomorrow" — and this was the theme adopted by Lieut. Governor Rev Stuart Liddell at the annual decoration day service at the Lacombe Lake We-Puget park last Sunday

Successful Year Reported By Buffalo Lake Livestock Co-op

Thirty-ninth annual meeting of the Buffalo Lake livestock co-operative was held on June 19 in the Legion hall at Morse. Ewen Macdonald presided at the meeting. Secretary was elected chairman for the day. Mrs. H. Purdy was elected as secretary. W. Anderson, John Stone and Humphrey Parlby were appointed to act on resolutions committee.

Minutes of the last annual meeting were read and adopted, on a motion by Don Charlyk, seconded by Wm. Anderson. Two guests were introduced at that time by the chairman Charles Hayes, president of the Alberta Livestock Co-operative of which Buffalo Lake is a branch, and Henry Winkelaar manager of the Edmonton branch of the A.L.C.

Harold Olsen, presented his year's report as manager. Two highlights handlings of both hogs and cattle were slightly up, and over 2000 00 were declared as dividends. It was the opinion of the members present that the dividends should be held until autumn as the year (October) when the financial picture would be clearer.

Ewen Macdonald, at the conclusion of his report as president, asked those present to stand for a minute in tribute to Thomas Semple, a charter member who had passed on during the year. Mr. Macdonald declared R. Olsen's statement that both receipts and revenue were slightly up, and explained that the board's investigation showed that the present form of auditors did these jobs at a reasonable fee. The meeting decided to retain their services.

The auditor's report was read by H. Olsen and discussed page by page. During the discussion, W. Barrett pointed out that the cattle prices were quoted on the live weight while those of sheep and hogs was on the dressed weight.

Mr. Barrett also was unable to find a delegate to the A.L.C. convention as the chairman called on H. Washelar for a report. Mr. Washelar said he would open his report with a lecture to the local association for not having sent a delegate. Then, he went on to give a clear picture of marketing conditions for the province. Some discussion followed on the shipment of hogs to Saskatoon, and the possible effect of the new packing plant at Red Deer on the co-operative's business.

Retiring directors for the year were Ward Marritt, Robert Stone and Ewen Macdonald. Those re-elected for the next two years were Robert Stone, Ward Barrett and Humphrey Parlby.

Don Cass, delegate to the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, gave a masterful report on the proceedings at the annual meeting and that body of which Buffalo Lake is also co-operative is a member.

Charles Hayes, when called on for his report, congratulated the members of the co-op on their 39th year of operation. Lions Ball Tourney Month Away

Things are looking up for the close of ball in be save at the pro; ball tournament slated for Wednesday and Thursday, July 25 and 26.

Team selection chairman Fred Stewart announced over the week and that four teams have already been accepted for the big $4,000-prize shindig. They are:

Medicine Hat Mercurys, with a team stacked with former western Canadena baseball league reins ball players.

Grande Prairie, presently leading the high-class Peace River league.

In John Washington, with ranks filled with college players from the western and north-western States.

Wadburg, Saskatchewan, of the northern Saskatchewan baseball league.

Mr Stewart, who has carefully screened the accepted entries to date, states that he feels these four will all field strong entries for the $1,000 first-place money.

We are actually being swamped round this year by the number of teams which want to enter the tournament," he told the Globe.

We happen to be the last major tournament functioning in the province, and every good baseball team in the west is making entrances."

Among other teams being considered are Cold Lake, Fort Saskatchewan, Leduc, Olders, Mission (Montana), Kamloops (B.C.), Moose Jaw and Regina. A letter asking for an entry form has been received also from the Harlem Yankees, a negro touring ball club, and another entered team from the States has made overtures toward competing.

Meanwhile, committees are working hard to get things lined up for what promises to be a dandy tournament. The grounds have already seen considerable work, and the diamond and outfield are expected to be in best ever condition.

A Minority Government

If it weren't for the splinter parties, the minority Conservative government in Ottawa would enjoy more than ordinary powers of control. A two-party system guarantees a majority for one party but when other political forces enter a close race anything is liable to happen. And that's what did happen in this year's election.

A strong Social Credit showing in the provinces of Quebec reduced Mr. Pearson and the Liberals of an opportunity to form the next government. It is almost certain that most of the 26 Quebec seats captured by the Socreds would have otherwise gone Liberal, and this boost in numbers would have given Mr Pearson's party a slight edge in elected members over the Progressive Conservatives.

There were many other election surprises, like the strength of the Liberals in Ontario, and the failure of the NDP in Alberta and Saskatchewan. But the most surprising result of the election was the undoubted decline in the personal appeal of the leaders. Diefenbaker and Douglas, an able parliamentarian who failed to measure up to the stature of statesmanship.

The question uppermost in the public's mind is how long a minority government can last and how much political influence will be exerted by the opposition parties.

Mr Diefenbaker has the political skill to manoeuvre through popular legislation that no party in opposition could afford to oppose. Under these circumstances, an administration could carry on for an indefinite period.

The point is, will Mr Diefenbaker wish to play it safe with non-controversial bills? What is more important would such a course, while politically opportune to good for the country?

There are indications that the present economic plight of Canada demands bold and decisive action which might be responsible to initiate in a divided parliament.

The point still another question. If the issue is tossed back into the laps of the Canadian people will they be any truer about how to vote to break the stalemate?

Selling Canada

IT'S good to see the dominion of Canada overcoming natural feelings of inferiority and going out to sell itself for a change.

Department store executives and important American buyers from Philadelphia, New York and Chicago were recently invited to a Canadian trade show at Toronto. They have been asked to return to another one at Montreal on the same future, to see a further display of Canadian manufactured goods.

The tab which must amount to many thousands of dollars, is being picked up by the Canadian government through the good offices of Hon. Howard Green's trade and commerce department.

This is perhaps a blatant and obvious device to crack the rich markets of the populated eastern States. However, it worked. The word from Toronto is that the visitors were delighted with many Canadian products, and surprised at the quality and price of goods idea on sale in the fashion district. There were a number of orders given on the spot.

Apart from the satisfaction of going out successfully after business, there's an element of added satisfaction in selling to a customer that is more often a seller to us.

There is no reason why Canadian industry should continuously play second-fiddle to the United States, and more effort and a better sales approach will help reverse the trend.

Welcome, The Dandelion

DANDELIONS, the most persistent of all weeds that spoil the appearance of lawns and landscapes, are enjoying a hey-day this year. Frequent rains and warm days under sunny skies are made to order for the yellow-blossomed weeds.

Of course, June is personally the worst month of the year for dandelions. Their seed has already been spread by wind in nature's own way and the summer is the time for them to ensure new stands and growth.

Man, despite all the chemicals and rout daggers at his command, has failed to eradicate the dandelion.

Perhaps it's a small point to dwell on but there's no old adage about "if you can't beat 'em, join 'em."

Maybe we should declare the dandelion a provincial flower, with deep yellow beauty, and drop the war for all time. It's a losing battle, you see.

Royalty in Our Domain

CANADA has had the good fortune to receive three Royal visitors during the past two months, from Prince Philip, from the Queen Mother, and from the Princess Royal who is the 65-year-old aunt of Queen Elizabeth.

Prince Philip travelled the breadth of Canada with a healthy entourage to carry out a study of the impact of industry on communities. He held one official news conference in Montreal prior to the tour, but the meetings and study sessions were not public. He took a few days off for personal recreation, notably at the west coast, but Canadians were not given a chance to acclaim him at public functions.

The Queen Mother filled a series of official engagements in eastern Canada on a ten-day tour. The Princess Royal started her trip across the country from the opposite end, at Victoria, and news dispatches reported she received a heart-warming reception from hundreds of children lining the route from the airport to the city.

There is quite a difference between the Canada of 1962, and the Canada of 1939 that gave a tumultuous welcome to the late King George and Queen Mary during the first Royal visit to this continent. This year, a carefully-planned itinerary was arranged to give the maximum number of Canadians an opportunity to see their monarch and graceful companion. The tour was designed to cement commonwealth relations, and the old enthusiasm of Canadians exceeded all hopes.

Since then, the presence of the attractive Queen and her handsome consort on Canadian soil at two further Royal visits have thrilled new generations and g'eened the old.

It still isn't "old hat" to receive Royalty in the fact that three Royal personages can come to Canada with a minimum of fan-fare proves that Canadians are not less enthusiastic but more sophisticated.

Reflections of the Times

Youthful Marriages

It may come as a surprise to many Canadians to learn that in four provinces it is legal for a girl of 12 and a boy of 14 to marry providing, of course, they have the consent of their parents.

The law pertains in New Brunswick, Newfoundland, Quebec and Nova Scotia.

At the other end of the ladder in British Columbia which requires parental consent for anyone — male or female — under 21 to marry. The other provinces fall somewhere in between.

The Nova Scotia Council of Women has passed a resolution asking that the minimum marrying age in that province be set at 16. Perhaps there is more that can be done than simply setting an arbitrary age limit.

Marriage statistics from the bureau of statistics don't specify how many 13-year-old girls or 14-year-old boys marry. They do indicate however, that the average marrying age is getting younger.

For example, 20 years ago the average age for girls on their wedding day was 24 years, eight months. For men it was 28. Today it's a little over 22 years for girls and 25 for men.

More important, about one of every three girls is married today before she reaches the age of 20. It's one in 14 for the men.

An additional fact is that the divorce rate has risen sharply in the last 25 years and there now are more than 6,000 divorces annually.

It's difficult enough to make a marriage work under the best of circumstances. When it involves two people with uncertain economic prospects plus an immature outlook there is real danger.

There are girls of 17 who are fully ready for marriage and boys of 18 who have the maturity for the plunge. The difficulty is that there are many others at those ages who have no idea of what they're letting themselves in for and for whom a wedding would be a

The responsibility, then, must fall on the parents and there are many who have refused to shoulder this responsibility.

It's all very well to set a minimum age to prevent weddings of absurdly immature youngsters. But in the long run there is no substitute for the kind of upbringing that will assure boys and girls are prepared for marriage when the proper time comes.

Forage Handling Field Day

A forage handling field day will be held at the Jim Hyndman dairy farm, 3 miles west of Lacombe on Tuesday, July 3rd starting at 1:00 p.m.

The field day is sponsored by the Lacombe county extension council in co-operation with the Economic Machinery Service. The day will feature field demonstrations for all types of hay and silage equipment, including their specifications, bale stackers and sliders, swathers, crushers, mowers, rakes, forage harvesters forage wagons, etc.

In view of the many changes that have taken place in handling forage in the last few years it is felt that an "on the farm demonstration" of this type will fill a real need.

How Dairies Selection Research Method

In the most seasonal industry an important problem is to decrease the amount of fat and increase the amount of lean in the carcass. It is relatively easy to determine carcass composition when the animal is dead, but selection of live animals for breeding is what is desired.

One of the most promising approaches at present is suggested in the use of red cell mass as an index of the amount of lean. This technique for measuring lean in live animals has been introduced at the Lacombe experimental farm and will be put to use in the same herd there Dr. H. Dean Nimbal, who returned recently from Cornell University, developed and introduced the technique.

It all hinges on the functional differences of fat and lean in the animal. Lean tissue is the main oxygen consuming component of the body; the red blood cells supply the oxygen. It follows then, that a direct relationship should exist between the total red cell volume and the lean body mass. If the total red cell volume can be measured accurately, the lean body mass can be predicted.

Measurement of the red cell [illegible] using the Howard Flewelling wed doing at Calgary on Friday evening were Mr and Mrs Clyde Flewelling and family, Mr and Mrs. John Parsons and family, Mr and Mrs Jim Douglas and son Bob, Don Atkinson, Douglas Fawcett, Mr and Mrs Chaserr and the H Flewelling family.

Cut Hay Early

It has been scientifically proven time and time again that early cut hay gives the most for your money. It is recommended that alfalfa should be cut when about 1/10 of the blossoms are out. Although the total tonnage may be less the total amount of total digestible nutrients will be higher than if the hay is left to a later stage. In other words you handle more tons of feed but fewer tons of digestible feed.

Letters to the Editor . . . .

[illegible]
Blair Rice,

Just in answer to our D.A. re beef performance testing. He notes that our district with many beef herds is not as big a "cow in the ball" because we do not use the department's performance testing.

Our district farmers are too experienced cattlemen to agree with the impractical and red tape kind of testing we are offered.

To begin with, calves have to be separated into groups spaced not farther apart in calving dates than two months, and must be weaned at a certain age. Most practical farmers wean their calves as nearly as possible at one date not ago, and run them together in one group for ease of feeding.

The feeding time for test is about 168 days which does not constitute any real indication of the sire or performance of an animal. An animal must be on test at least two years and preferably three to get a real indication of size and gain.

Any good feeder can take a group of small, poor animals and push them for 168 days and get a fair gain. The feeding ration suggested by the Department might be suitable for finishing steers but it would ruin young purebred stock, both for breeding and future feeding gains.

I might say that the weighing and figuring of daily gains as practiced by the Calgary bull sale is a much more practical and suitable record of performance than a our local 4-H beef club.

I have visited many performance-tested herds of cattle on both sides of the border, and my experience is that the breeders with small undeveloped cattle is usually the one in performance-test. He can make a quick gain in a 168 to 180 day test by hard feeding to cover the overall lack of size in his cattle.

We do not like to brag about our own operation, but our Polled Shorthorn herd is, so far as I know, the only beef Shorthorn herd in the Lacombe-Clive area to be type classified in which all the animals in the herd are classified best for type and size.

My herd bull weighs 1,940 pounds in pasture condition and has won championships in 'A' circuit fairs.

In conclusion, I would like to say that most breeders are trying to do a job, but when I have to buy a herd sire I have to do my own looking. There is no help to be obtained from our provincial department of agriculture.

I am shocked at the purebred scrub serum that is being distributed by our artificial insemination units. I can only speak for the Shorthorn breed, but have bred them all my life and certainly most of their Shorthorn bulls are definitely second rate.

Yours truly,
G. A. Pretwell

Pre-Natal Budgeting Cuts Baby's Fiscal Impact

It's a happy home when a new baby is on the way, and the parents-to-be are happier than ever when the extra costs involved are taken care of

Mr. Fred Pomenter, manager of the Lacombe branch of the Bank of Montreal, suggests that many Canadian couples about to have their first child often don't realize just how costly parenthood can be. Medical bills for Mom, the baby's layette, the furnishings for his room, and baby food are all expensive items.

That's why Mr. Pomenter suggests it's a sound idea to plan ahead financially for your Great Expectations. Why not plan a B of M Stork Savings Account? Simply work out an estimate of the costs involved, divide the amount you'll need to save by the number of months remaining, and deposit the amount in your B of M Stork Savings Account regularly each month.

Mr. Pomenter will be pleased to help you open such an account. Why not drop in and see about such an account soon?

Farewell Party Honors Marshall Family at Clive

CLIVE. A farewell party was held at the Legion hall on Saturday evening for Mr and Mrs J Marshall Mr Marshall was a Searle Grain agent here, and has left Clive to work in Red Deer His wife and family remained here

Mrs Marshall was an active member of the Lend a Hand club, and the Marshall girls are talented singers They formed part of the group of girls who have won awards, as the 'Canadettes"

A large number of friends attended the farewell party Mr and Mrs Marshall were presented with a set of stainless steel cutlery and a hostess chair There was a short program to make the evening enjoyable, and a consolation lunch was served

Mrs Anne Wagstaffe of Trail, B.C., who came to Clive several weeks ago because of her brother's illness, has been visiting in Edmonton for a few days, and returned to Clive on Thursday Her brother, E. L. Reynolds is improving, but is still hospitalized in Lacombe After visiting in Calgary, Mrs. Wagstaff returned home

This reporter had the misfortune to break a bone in her foot on Thursday and is unable to get around very easily It's an unfortunate accident at this time of the year

We are all sorry to hear that Mrs. Wales is hospitalized in Lacombe, and has undergone surgery there We hope that her condition will improve.

The longest day has passed, and from now on the evenings will get shorter It seems only yesterday that we were looking forward to spring, and now whatever sprung we did have is over Time passes all too quickly.

Visitors at the home of Mrs Emma Gschwendtner last week were Lewis Gschwendtner, and Mrs. Tom Hamilton and son of Mirror. also Mrs. Hazel Cheyne and Miss Elsa Hauser, Mrs. G Hemon and Mrs. A. Wagner, all of Clive.

Sympathy is with an ex-resident of Clive district, Mrs. V. Ripley, on the death in Calgary of her husband, V. Ripley. They were residing in Medicine Hat.

Thunder Storms Common

Heavy thunder storms of last week have dumped plenty of rain in the district Hail was reported north and south of Clive A little fell in Clive during Tuesday evening's storm last week, but not enough to do any damage Every dark cloud which forms brings the threat of hail. June has been so far a wet, violent month Moisture conditions are excellent.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Foster and girls of Edmonton were visitors to the home of Mr. Foster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H Harrow The Foster family were weekending at Gull Lake, and Mr. and Mrs Harrow were Sunday guests with them at Gull Lake Also present were Mr and Mrs S. Crooks of Big Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. A Baker, former Clive district farmers, now residing at Bluffton, were week-end visitors in the district

By the time The Globe is published this week, school will be over for another year, and children will enjoy a two-month summer recess So will the teachers No comment from mothers yet. One of the conveniences at the time element Mails need not be so strictly "on time"

Newlyweds Visit Clive

Mr. and Mrs G. Larsen of Trail, B.C., were visitors to the home of Mrs Larsen's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs W. Short. Mr. and Mrs. Larsen are on their honeymoon. Mrs Larsen (nee Teresa Wilkinson) left here with her parents some years ago Her father operated a meat market and cold storge lockers here prior to leaving Clive for B.C. The lockers and meat market are no longer in operation, and until last year the lockers were used to store grain

S. Nelson was hospitalized in Lacombe last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bell and daughter Dessie, accompanied by Cheryl Kane, visited Mr and Mrs. H. Heald in Calgary during the week end, and also drove to Banff on Sunday. They report a good trip, but very congested traffic.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Boston were home for the week end and took in the farewell party for Mr and Mrs J Marshall

Rhubarb Rhubarb Rhubarb!

Rhubarb is now on its prime state and probably many of you have an excess on hand This week I would like to give you a few suggestions on preparing this fruit Many are freezing rhubarb, this is a good idea if we have room in our freezer or rhubarb can be frozen quite successfully.

Here are some points to remember when freezing rhubarb: use tender stalks, prepare fruit while fresh. Pack fruit in air-tight containers that are moisture vapour proof Color and flavor are retained more satisfactorily if raw rhubarb is cooked immediately after being blanched for one minute Leave one half inch headspace in the package Freeze immediately after packaging. Rhubarb may be frozen in various forms:

Method one: cut in 1" pieces and use 1 cups of sugar to 4 lbs. 1 1/2 cups of fruit or pack in 1 to 1 syrup.

Method two: cut in uniform 1" to 10" lengths. Wrap stalks in moisture and vapour proof aluminum foil or saran. sweeten to taste. Cook before packaging.

Canning Rhubarb is Easy!

Remember, if you have a freezer, you may need the room for your vegetables so why not can your rhubarb?

Wash, cut into one-half inch pieces, add one-half cup sugar to each quart rhubarb, let stand to draw out juices, bring to a boil, pack hot

Leave an water-bath for ten minutes or five minutes in a pressure cooker

Next winter you will be able to delight the family with their favorite rhubarb dessert.

Is Your Rhubarb Pie Always Sour?

No matter how much sugar we add to rhubarb, we always have a sweet-sour taste unless we serve it with cream or ice cream to counteract the sour. Why not try a rhubarb cream pie — here's the recipe

1½ cups sugar, 3 tablespoons cornfield flour, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 2 well beaten eggs, 2 cups cut rhubarb. 1 recipe plain pastry

Blend sugar, flour, nutmeg, and butter Add eggs, beat smooth, pour over rhubarb in 9-inch pastry-lined pie pan. Top with pastry cut in fancy shape- Bake in very hot oven (400 deg.) 10 minutes then in moderate oven (350 deg.) about 35 minutes.

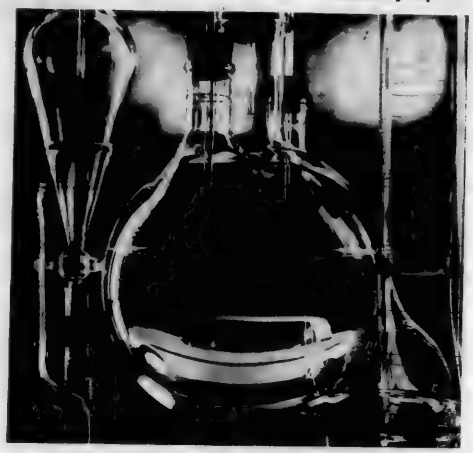
90% of all oil company product research in Canada is done by Imperial



At Imperial Oil's laboratories at Sarnia, Ontario, more than 200 scientists and technicians are working to improve present petroleum products—and to develop new ones. Their research covers many fields, from gasolines to household detergents. Another 130 scientists and technicians are working at Imperial's Calgary laboratories on ways to find and produce more Canadian crude oil and natural gas. Imperial does more research than all other oil companies in Canada combined.

The fuels your car will use in the future are being designed today. In Imperial's research laboratories, scientists and technicians are working to ensure that gasolines for today's cars—and tomorrow's—will give top performance. In the last ten years alone, Imperial has spent more than $40 million to build the equipment needed to bring you top gasoline quality.

Germs Vanish

Combined efforts of two British firms and considerable research have produced a new vacuum sweeper which will play a major part in combatting one of the biggest problems in hospitals—germ-laden dust. The powerful cleaner works on the normal suction principle but all dust and small debris collected from ward and corridor floors passes between a battery of "death ray" ultra violet lights which means instant death to the germs which cause most cross-infection troubles in hospitals today. The machine is claimed to have 100 per cent germ-killing efficiency.

Forage Crop Experts at Lacombe

L.I. Wilson, Lacombe, and Hans Hagerman

Recommended Varieties Given At Forage Crop Field Day

About 50 farmers, a number from distant points in Alberta, attended the forage crops field day at the Lacombe experimental farm last Thursday to hear about the latest developments in this field.

Leading the discussions were Hans Hagerman, Lawrence Anderson and Don Dew, giving information on recommended varieties of forage crops and on outline of forage crop seeding equipment.

A shower in the middle of the afternoon during a field tour sent people scurrying for the cover of automobiles, but it lasted only briefly.

Recommended Varieties

Visits were made by the group to plots containing sweet clover, intermediate alfalfa, rape seed, grasses, and corn for silage.

Mr Baenziger and Mr Anderson pointed out the superior winter hardiness of sweet clover varieties like Evrette and Arctic.

Lots of interest was shown in Bridalcot Treefoil, a legume that does not cause bloat when pastured. It is quite widely used in eastern Canada, but requires special inoculum in seeding.

Inspection of local plots showed it to be superior in hardiness and yield and Mr Baenziger said it is "quite possible it is one of the things to come in the next few years" replacing Empire, which is the present variety used.

In alfalfa plots, attention was directed to Rambler, Nadak, and a recently licensed variety Beaver. Rambler is creeping rooted, and therefore used in pasture mixtures.

Both Mr Baenziger and Mr Anderson advised seeding alfalfa without a companion crop.

Two types of rapeseed, Polish and Argentine, were discussed. Arlo is the recommended variety, being a Polish type that matures three weeks earlier than Argentine. Because of central Alberta's short growing season it is risky to use Argentine, although last year it was an exception.

Visits were made to plots containing straight grasses, and grass alfalfa mixtures. Carlton is a new brome grass included in the tests, along with Chief intermediate wheat grass.

Cora is not recommended here as a silage crop, although once again Mr Baenziger showed results (261 an exception to the rule. Intends Mr Baenziger and Mr Anderson interpreted the use of green oats where will outyield any other annual silage crop.

Minimum Tee Tending

D A Dew dealt with seeding studies, the depth at which seeding is required, and the types of machines used.

He said that following tests with brome grass plots, conducted at the farm by Stuart Church it was found that alfalfa was best seeded one-half inch deep and brome one inch deep. These depths tend to give highest yields.

Since forage spaces are poor weed competitors, it is essential that the field be weed free and tilled to give a firm seed bed so that moisture is near the surface.

Where erosion is a problem, care should be taken to prevent excess pulverization, Mr Dew added.

Machines for seeding grasses and legumes are of three types:

Cyclone or broadcast machine, a horizontal rotating disc with blades to distribute the seed; a grass seeder-packer, consisting of a seed box with a mechanical means of distributing the seed across the width of the box (e.g. — Brillion and Century seeders); and grain drills with grass seed attachments.

The total included 33,124 head of hogs, 124 head of cattle and 1,133 head of sheep. There was a little decrease in the grain obtained for hogs.

"Funny Money" for Town-Wide Event

Merchants and business men of Lacombe plan a town-wide promotional event, to be known as "Bonanza Days". All residents of central Alberta will be hearing a lot about these Bonanza Days during the next two weeks . . . and it's only natural that an explanation of the days should be given. What are Bonanza Days? What do they mean to me?

Biggest feature of the Bonanza Days observance is the issuance of "funny money" to be handed out to shoppers in Lacombe stores and business places starting on Thursday, July 5, and continuing until Saturday, July 21. During this period, "funny money" (labelled "bid value, 1 Buck") will be given for each $1.00 worth of purchase made in town. A limit of $25. in funny money has been placed on any one purchase. These funny money coupons have no value other than to bid on articles to be put up for sale at two large street auctions: one on Thursday, July 12, starting at 5:30 p.m., the other, and grand finale sale, on Saturday, July 21, starting at the same time.

The big event thus gets underway on July 5, building up during the following two weeks to a crescendo on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 19, 20 and 21. These are the three days on which the major "Bonanza Days" attractions will be held . . . the days during which many of the downtown streets will be closed to all but pedestrian traffic . . . the days during which rides will be in operation on downtown streets . . . sandpiles for the little kiddies . . . sidewalk bazaars where ladies' groups throughout the area will be selling their wares. There will be "gimmicks galore", including a "Dunk-a-Kinsmen" booth on downtown streets.

All the fun of a fair will be in play on downtown streets . . . fun while you shop, or visit. Whether you want to buy anything or not, we suggest you come to Lacombe during bonanza days . . . . build up your bundle of funny money coupons . . . then take part in the fun and games of bidding on many useful and worthwhile merchandise items being put up for auction during the two street sales.

Congratulations, Clive

BEST wishes are extended to the citizens of Clive on the village's 50th anniversary since incorporation.

Clive, like many other centres with a population of under 500, no longer speaks of "progress". In these modern times, it is difficult for small communities to hold their own.

Youth is attracted to large cities where opportunities exist, leaving the older generation behind. Excellent highways and comfortable automobiles make travel to big shopping centres a pleasure, draining customers away from the small community store down at the corner. These merchants claim that they do their best business when the weather is foul, or when icy roads in winter make out-of-town excursions treacherous.

Even with this background, it is possible to become enthusiastic about Clive at the half-century mark.

Clive has managed to make important advances, notably in the past year with the installation of water and sewer as well as natural gas. There is a solid core of businessmen, proud of their village, and offering good service to the buying public. There are a number of organizations working in the interests of the entire district.

Clive residents have combined their efforts to present an anniversary sports day today. We wish them every success in this venture — and into the future for the next fifty years.

Night Shopping In Lacombe

REGULATIONS affecting store hours and night shopping is a problem in Lacombe and every other town and city in the country.

Some merchants here are protesting the present by-law enforcing 6:00 p.m. closing on each week day except Wednesday when it is 11:00 noon. Town council, under continuous prodding from the board of trade, attempted to revise the statute with a new version providing night shopping to 10:00 o'clock every Thursday of the year. Then some councillors had second thoughts and defeated the by-law which they drafted themselves.

The fate of the by-law has its comical overtones, but it points out the difficulties of trying to legislate against an independent businessman's freedom of action. The provincial government labour department already lays down rules regarding maximum hours of work and minimum salaries to protect employees.

Is any further regulation necessary? If a storekeeper wishes to stagger his staff and keep his doors open 12 hours a day, or 30 hours a day, he should be able to do so in this free country without interference. Of course, his fellow merchants might get up in arms over the "unfair competition," and that is why members of the local board of trade can't get together on an agreed policy.

Some merchants want night shopping here similar to that provided in other nearby centres to meet inter-town competition. Others think the move would be a return to the dark ages.

Town council in the meanwhile has been pondering new legislation to satisfy both factions, and it can't be done.

The pendulum has now swung full left, and council has served notice it will introduce a by-law with no restriction of store hours whatsoever.

Thus, a merchant will be able to stay open every night of the week if he desires — subject only to adherence to provincial laws. Should a merchant find it unprofitable to operate after 6:01 p.m., he'll adjust his own hours accordingly.

But first council must pass the by-law it has in mind—over protests that are bound to come.

Stimulating Canada's Economy

CANADA'S economic crisis has been met at the outset by a number of emergency measures imposed by prime minister Diefenbaker and the Conservative government.

Some will affect the people immediately, like new tariffs that will raise prices on some imports, and a reduction in the value of tourist goods brought back to the country from $100 to $25 each quarter. Other austerity medicine is a return to "tight money" with consequent higher interest rates, and a cut-back on government spending. In addition, a billion dollars in reserves has been borrowed from the international monetary fund to shore up the Canadian dollar.

The Conservatives have been widely criticized for postponing these stark remedies while maintaining that the country was on an even keel during the election campaign. It may be, as Mr. Diefenbaker claims, that conditions deteriorated after the election.

Government financial policies and deficit budgets are still to blame for the depression of the Canadian dollar.

All political parties must share responsibility for the pathetic alternatives offered to the Canadian voter. Not one party had the courage and conviction to tell the people they would have to tighten their belts. What was needed was a little British statesmanship, and a Machillian or Aitee approach. What was offered was a series of sugar-sweet promises.

Lost Deposits

LOSING candidates contributed $80,000 to the federal government in the last election. They were the aspirants running for office who failed to poll at least half the number of votes of the winning candidate.

There was a near record of 1,012 candidates in the federal election. The number who lost their $300 deposits represented 43%, quite a high casualty rate. Candidates in this area fattened government coffers above the average ratio, since two of four lost their deposits in the Wetaskiwin and Red Deer constituencies, and four out of six in Acadia.

The national compilation shows that 171 Social Credit candidates lost their deposits, 159 NDP's, 40 Liberals and 37 Conservatives. A sprinkling of independents made up the balance.

Historically, the mandatory $200 deposit was to offset election expenses, but the costs today in the millions of dollars make the sum collected only a token. The other purpose of the deposit is to eliminate fly-by-nights. After a look at the scoreboard it is apparent $200 is not a sufficient financial deterrent.

Reflections of the Times

Nudists in Alberta

A few advertising pamphlets for a nudist camp have been received around town, but as far as we hear the response is nil. The camp is to be established in the province if enough converts are found. But unless the response is livelier elsewhere, the project is doomed before it starts.

This is no climate for nudists. Either too hot or too cold, and the mosquitoes have not heard about the health benefits of going about in your bare skin.

As far as can be learned, there is no law against nudists if they stay within their enclosure and reports from the coast, where there are several of these Nature communities, show the nudists to be a peaceful, law abiding lot.

If that is the way a few want to enjoy a summer vacation, no one should object, though if a nudist could see him or herself as outsiders see him, he would run quick for his blanket. The human body is only beautiful in small children, after that, we all need covering. Which is perhaps why nudists camps do not draw much attention, few outsiders find them interesting, and apparently no one in Rocky cares to join.

MILL RATE IS DOWN

Mill rate for the 1962 taxation year were set at the meeting of the council of the town of Wainwright last Tuesday night. Residents of the town who had been fearing a substantial increase in taxation due to the increased assessment figures will have their fears largely allayed by the 87½ mill total tax rate to be levied, against a 68 mill rate for the previous year

It had been the hope of council that the rate could have been lowered even further, but insistence of the department of municipal affairs that the town cease deficit financing and start to build up a reserve, made it necessary to maintain the rate at the proposed level

The rate will provide 27½ mills for municipal taxes, 22 for the school foundation, 4 for supplementary school requisition, 3.5 for hospital requisition and 5 for supplementary hospital requisition

Daily Agricultural Weather Forecasts

The Alberta department of agriculture, in co-operation with local weather forecasters, are again putting on a daily agricultural weather forecast. Mr Godwin of the Vermilion school of agriculture will be carrying on this work this summer. He's attempting to make these forecasts for at least a three-day duration and in some cases on into the fourth or perhaps fifth day.

This type of work was started a year ago with the thought that farmers could use such information to advantage, particularly during the haying and harvesting season, of the year.

The agricultural weather forecasts will be heard daily over all Alberta radio and T-V stations and should prove to be of advantage to all farmers.

New Apartment Block Planned in Town

A new 2½-storey apartment block comprising approximately 12 suites has been proposed by John Skorets on the Arnold Bruns property on the corner of 50 street and 54 avenue, opposite the school.

The information contained in a letter from Mr Skorets which was read at Monday night's town council meeting. The 50 x 75 building described in the letter as a "multiple family unit" will consist of about 12 suites of the bachelor, one-bedroom and two bedroom type

Mr Skorets gave no indication when construction would start

Council welcomed this addition to town, but requested that adequate parking should be provided for each unit.

Sinner Work Resumed

Public works chairman Wes Jackson explained that there had been a lag in completion of street work, following the installation of storm sewer, because foreman Orville Saunders and most of the town crew have been on holidays. Rain has hampered operations, too.

Despite the southbound "take" at the swimming pool was $2462 to the end of June, and $213 more in the first week in July. Council is still looking for a night watchman for the pool, and a spare mower like that now used by a bicycle stand Councillor Stonehouse said the L&C floor has been sanded and "oiled and "looks quite nice".

He and his committee are "looking over" two bids to repair the arena roof

Legion Delegate

President Ron McCormick of the local branch of the Canadian Legion was in attendance to request clarification of council's position regarding the proposed Legion memorial on the soldiers' section of the Lacombe cemetery.

The two committees will attempt to get together to settle on a suitable site

Police report for June, seven pleas received and investigated, "approximately 80"; busine s places found unlocked after hours, two; liquor situation, "no great improvements"; total fines due to the town for June, $1,135, total fines due for first six months, $4,635.

40,000 Lbs. Wool Raised At Lacombe

A total of 73,500 pounds of wool was shipped from cattle, A.H.S. posts last week by the central Alberta wool growers association. Of the total almost 40,000 pounds came from Lacombe.

This year's shipment showed a drop of nearly 13,000 pounds from the total weight last year

Oliver Fawcett of Lacombe association secretary-treasurer blamed the decrease on the wet and chilly weather of the last month which seriously delayed shearing in some flocks

"There are over 800 head of sheep in the Eckville area which have not been sheared," he reported, "and at least this number west of Wetaskiwin."

In spite of the fact that total shipments were down, the Lacombe shipping point hit an all time high of 40,000 pounds on Wednesday. Two carloads were shipped from here, and half a car from the Ponoka and Wetaskiwin district.

The advance payment of 17 cents per pound was paid at the time of shipping "Eastern markets report a steady demand for wool this year, and sales are expected to be up to the average of the last few years," Mr Fawcett told The Globe.

Helping with the loading at the four loading points in central Alberta (Red Deer, Wetaskiwin Ponoka and Lacombe) were association president P. R. Chubb, Elmer Hankonson, Arnold Hankonson, Peter Jensen and Peter Duncan.

Largest wool shippers this year were John Brownrigg Jr. of Bentley, Don Carlyle of Mirror, R. G Butler of Aica, George Flewelling of Lacombe, Ernest Tagler of Clive, P. R. Chubb of Bluffton.

Police Hunt Murderer

RCMP at last reports were still searching for two men wanted in connection with the murder of a five-year-old Ponoka girl Marilyn Jean, who was found dead in a wooded tree six miles south of Bentley on Sunday afternoon, three days after she was reported missing from a family vacation spot at Gull Lake.

The tragedy last gloom over residents of this area and the tragic events of Gull Lake, some miles

Apparently, Marilyn lagged behind the other three who went directly to the shore, and she was not seen alive again

This touched off a manhunt involving holidayers, police Police hold sermon, and hundreds of volunteers from this town and district who beat the thick bush on at the lake for a sign of the missing girl

The search was extended be yond the immediate area over the week end, while RCMP investigated a clue that a middle-aged man packed by the store in a 1961 or 1963 black Chevrolet disappeared about the same time that the loss of Marilyn was discovered

Her fully-clothed body bearin few traces of violence was finally recovered Sunday by Bill Lasd ler of Red Deer, one of 300 search ers, about 12 miles northwest of Gull Lake

A slight abrasion on the throat aroused speculation that strangu lation was the cause of death The body was taken to Edmonton where an autopsy was ordered b Dr. A. G Gibson of Edmonton

Lacombe Man Killed In Highway Crash

Fifth traffic fatality within a week in the Lacombe section on No 2 highway claimed the life of Peter Penner, 34-year old town resident.

The accident victim was involved in a head on collision at Blackfalds last Thursday night about 10:00 while he was travelling north alone on a straight stretch of highway.

Occupants of the southbound vehicle identified as Mr and Mrs. Robert Laine of Leonard Sask., and their two daughters Karen 8 and Daphne, 6, were taken to Red wood Dis trict, and sales are expected to be up to the average of the last few years," Mr Fawcett told The Globe.

Helping with the loading at the four loading points in central Alberta (Red Deer, Wetaskiwin Ponoka and Lacombe) were association president P R Chubb, Elmer Hankonson, Arnold Hankonson, Peter Jensen and Peter Duncan.

Largest wool shippers this year were John Brownrigg Jr of Bentley, Don Carlyle of Mirror, R. G Butler of Aica, George Flewelling of Lacombe, Ernest Tagler of Clive, P. R. Chubb of Bluffton.

Swim Lessons Are Popular at Lacombe Pool

Swimming instructors at the new Lacombe municipal swimming pool are working overtime these days, providing instruction for close to 200 children in four different classes each morning

The hour-long classes start at 8:00 a.m., and run from there for the hour on the hour until noon. During the afternoon and evening, the pool is open for public swimming.

In addition to a large number of children from Lacombe proper, 32 children from Alix and 20 from Bentley are obtaining swimming instruction here.

Final tests for all groups will be given this coming Saturday, to wind up activities.

How Classes Form

Meanwhile, another group of classes is being registered to start the public swimming courses on Monday, July 16. A large number of registrations have already been received for these classes, and pool superintendent Alan Graham expressed doubt that any children taking beginners' courses in the first classes would be able to move right into junior classes starting next Monday

Before we can provide more advance training for the children who have already received instruction, we feel that those who have not yet been accommodated should come first," Mr Graham told The Globe

Thought For the Week...

What you dislike in another take care to correct in yourself

Wide Open Store Hours Sanctioned in Lacombe

A by-law allowing any store in Lacombe to stay open any business night of the week except Wednesday was given swift passage in three readings, at a regular meeting of town council Monday night.

The new legislation, effective immediately, rescinded the early-closing by-law which forced stores to lock their doors at 6:00 p.m. Under the new terms, a merchant may stay open as long as he wishes on any business day. The Wednesday 12:00 noon closing regulation still stands.

The new by-law was given three readings and was passed unopposed by members of council present.

Parade Features Clive Anniversary Celebration

Westling Float

A large crowd from Clive and district jammed village streets last Wednesday for the parade signaling the start of the 50th anniversary sports day celebration Above, some of the ladies from the Coach-la-ne club in th We ting district rode in a float (See history of Clive, page eleven)

4-H Float

There were two floats contributed by district 4 H clubs but space prevents The Globe from publishing both This one was made by the Clive gram club which has won many national honors in the past under the direction of club leader, Lawrence Wagner Assembling the entries as parade marshall was Hugh Buchan.

Early Steamer

This early steamer owned by Axel Westling, leaving a trail of black smoke, was another great favorite in the parade The model dates back to the early 1900's. Following the parade, Garf Ogilvie of Tees was master of ceremonies for a sports program in the old ball park.

1913 Car

Clive was incorporated as a village in 1912, and this car was born one year later, in 1913. The old and valuable relic belongs to Mr. and Mrs Axel Westling of Clive, pictured above in the back seat Notice the high seats and spindly spoke wheels — but the wonder of it is the car still runs on its own power

Is Your Home Getting The Attention It Deserves

Failure to make repairs to your home immediately can be extremely expensive. One piece of falling plaster, that's even needed or left to take care of itself often leads to another and then the final expense is much greater

If your house is in need of improvements — repairs painted — and the like, and your ready cash can't take care of the cost see Fred Pannenter manager of the Lacombe Bank of Montreal branch about a Home Improvement Loan. H.I.L.'s are available at the B of M for as little as ten-twelve per cent per month — and you repay in easy monthly [illegible] amounts, plus interest. So if you have repairs or improvements on your mind call on Mr. Pannenter at the B of M Lacombe. He will be glad to show you how a Home Improvement Loan can help you

Crop Prospects Excellent

FARMERS in this part of central Alberta are looking forward to one of the best grain crops in history. The weather has been almost perfect for growth, combining heat with a generous amount of rainfall.

After last year's record drought, the return of moisture-laden skies reaffirms our faith in this agricultural community. It doesn't make for a happy summer holiday, but it has helped build up moisture reserves in the soil which were dangerously depleted.

The hay crop now in progress is one of the best, and there will be lots of feed for livestock next winter.

There is one way nature can undo what it has accomplished so well. This is the hail season. It would be a pity if such a promising harvest were to be smashed to the ground in one single hail storm.

One local insurance agent estimates he has sold ten times as much hail insurance this year as last but farmers felt that last year's crop was so poor it was hardly worth insuring.

Cool Off and Swim!

HAD a dip in the new swimming pool yet? It's an uplifting experience. Especially for a businessman, after he spends a hot sultry day working within the close confines of an office.

At the end of a weary day, to borrow the words of a song, he's spent and ready to relax in slippers and shorts at home. Before he gets limp all over, he should make one further effort to muster his weak frame to the inviting waters of the Lacombe pool. A brush with cools the body, and provides just the tonic needed.

While on the subject of the pool, it's good to see the swarms of youngsters in the midst of swimming lessons. Instructor Alan Chalmers and his staff are doing a capable job coping with a rather difficult situation.

It's particularly pleasing to welcome so many girls and boys from the surrounding communities. The schedule seems to be working like clockwork. Teaching these children to swim and handle themselves safely in the water, even to administering first-aid techniques, is enough to justify the existence of the pool.

Now, perspiring businessmen . . . what about you? Public swimming starts each evening at 7:00

Reducing The Civil Service

DOMINION government is talking about economy, and one of the best places to start is in the growing number of civil servants. Bureaucracy always lead to an increase in manpower to administer and operate the long list of government social and welfare departments.

Government employees, excluding those in Crown corporations, totalled 204,461 in March compared with 203,807 a year earlier. In the short space of 12 months, more than 1,500 persons were added to the payroll — an increase that would make any private businessman think twice about.

It is difficult to fire people once they are hired, particularly when they are voters as well as government workers, and another election might be held in the not distant future.

The government is like a kindly bearded samaritan in the public eye, full of generosity and an unlimited source of wealth. Like Santa Claus, the image would be destroyed if the gifts were disrupted outright, even if it isn't Christmas.

One method of trimming the federal payroll could involve stricter controls on appointment of new employees and replacement of people who leave the civil service.

This would be a relatively painless way of reducing the number of civil servants. It would give the remainder on the job something more to do to earn their keep. And it would help the government cut its expenditures by a projected $200,000 a year.

Safety in a Boat

THE boating boom is upon us, and there appears to be more watercraft on Gull Lake this summer than ever before. The waterways on a Sunday afternoon are starting to look like downtown Lacombe streets at quitting time.

Boat operators have as much responsibility for safety as car drivers. Here are a few simple rules of the aquanaes that every boater should know.

Except in an emergency, no person shall anchor a vessel in any channel or fairway in such manner as to obstruct the normal passage of other vessels.

When the paths of two boats intersect at right angles, the vessel on the right has the right of way.

When two boats are approaching head-on, both steer to the right.

Fishing boats with lines or other gear out have the right of way.

Sailboats, rowboats and canoes have the right of way over power boats.

Every power-driven vessel required to keep out of the way of another vessel shall, on approaching the other vessel, if necessary, slacken speed, or stop or reverse.

When one vessel overtakes another, the passing boat has the responsibility for keeping clear of the other.

When boats on a signal or horn are used to indicate that one vessel is about to pass another, the overtaking boat should not pass until the other boat has returned the signal.

Do not sound the horn unnecessarily.

Watch your wake. You are legally responsible for any damage it causes.

In a boat as in a car, discretion is the better part of valor, courtesy is the better part of safety — and judgment is the better part of seamanship.

Reflections of the Times

Why Right Now?

In the past ten years the pace of getting things done has been stepped up considerably. Today customers want things right now and if possible yesterday.

This was not always thus, is it because we have set up a new degree in the past ten years for the things we want, and which we must have to satisfy ourselves before they go out of date, or what is it? It seems that always the storekeeper, banker, farmer, merchant, printer too must cater to immediate needs and if there is time, enjoy yourself later.

Is it the fear of business that has led us down the road of rat racing, or pressure from others who would do it? Why do people today demand, and ask for something "right now" or "I'll have to see if I can get it somewhere else."

Is everything going to collapse in the next two hours or days if we don't have it, or aren't we going to be alive for three days to enjoy whatever we are after. Why the rush. Why the short-cut to living? Is it a new phase society has entered or do we have just too darned much.

Let's slow up, pause, talk a little, enjoy the abstracts that life can give us. For by running through life we haven't been able to keep the back at par anyway, and we've lost ten percent without even knowing it.

Time is dollars, we admit, but racing for it doesn't keep its value

HARDTOP AT RIMBEY

Tests were being made today on the hard-topping of three blocks on Rimbey's business section, west and south of the Grand Hotel corner. The hard-topping was done with a grant from the provincial government nearly covering the block south and the block west of the corner. The additional block south was done entirely at town expense.

Total cost of the project is about $30,000. The government grant totals about $21,000, to leave about $8,000 to $9,000 as town cost.

Beef Cattle Performance Testing

It would appear that there is some misunderstanding or lack of knowledge of the facts regarding the federal-provincial beef cattle performance testing program being offered to purebred beef breeders of the province in order to clarify the situation somewhat I would like to quote the following information directly from the regulations on the performance testing program.

Any breeder of beef cattle registered under the provisions of the livestock pedigree act of Canada, who has access to suitable facilities for testing and can comply with the requirements of the test, will be eligible A minimum sum group of registerable animals of one breed is required to qualify for test.

[illegible] should [illegible] calves unless he is prepared to continue in the program on a long term basis and with the max [illegible]

Application for test should be made through the district agricultural [illegible] or direct to the livestock branch by July 1 of the current year

Requirements of Test

1 All calves must be identified at an early age and must be eligible for registration. Birth weights are optional, but if taken must be within 48 hours of birth

2 Calves shall be weaned and weighed as nearly as possible to 120 days of age, with a variation of 30 days allowed at both ends of the age group

3 Creep feeding calves prior to weaning is optional.

4 Classification for type at weaning optional, and if done is the responsibility of the [illegible]

5 Calves shall be accepted in groups of not less that five of the same sex and 90 days shall be the widest range in the age of any calves within the group Smaller groups will be accepted only if they can be presented at the same time as a group of five or more All calves in one group shall be fed in one pen More than one group can be fed in the same pen if the operator wishes

6. Calves should be fed on well balanced growing ration

7 Potential breeding animals shall not be fed or implanted with hormones at any time prior to or during the test period

8. The official test period is 168 days and the final weighing shall be made as close to that date as possible A representative of the department of agriculture will supervise the weighing and will allot a type rating at that time The breeder should independently record a type rating at the same time

9 Any calf raised on a nurse cow or foster mother will not be eligible for test

Weighing Procedure

Both initial and final weighing for the test period shall be made after the cattle have been fed and watered in their free access [illegible] feed stalls

Reporting of Test Results

The department shall, at the conclusion of each test year provide to each breeder a [illegible] report for each herd showing individual [illegible] data and herd averages for each trait recorded under "requirements for test"

Included in this report will be calculated values for

1 Average daily gain, birth to weaning

2 Average daily gain during feed test period

3 Weight per day of age from birth to end of test period (birth weight assumed to be zero)

This report is intended as a guide to the breeder in the evaluation and improvement of his own herd

Because of the effect of differences of environment and feeding practices, the performance of individual animals on one farm cannot be compared directly with animals tested on other farms For this reason the department will not at present publish detailed results of individual tests The department will, at the conclusion of each test year, provide participating breeders with a list of herds under test, the number of calves and percentage of calf crop tested by each, and three years of consecutive participation in the program

The report may also contain breed averages and other summary information If sufficient participants so request, after experience with the operation of the policy is gained, the board will consider policy with respect to releasing test results to the public

The Alberta advisory committee on beef cattle performance testing shall meet periodically to review the progress of the program, and to make any changes in the policy that may be advisable

Clive Marks 50th Anniversary; Village History Recapitulated

Villans of Clive, which was incorporated on February 14, 1912, is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year in the form of a giant sports day on July 4.

Clive with a present population of 246, was once larger and even boasted a newspaper in the early days.

An interesting history of the village has been compiled, and was recovered for publication in The Globe from village secretary Mrs Florence McLeod

As early as 1892 settlers came into the area south of what is now the village of Clive By 1900 there were several families settled north of Clive.

The nearest town at this time was Lacombe on the C & E branch of the C.P.R. Afterwards, in 1905, the line was extended to east, but no provision was made for a townsite here, to the farmers, got together and appointed a committee of five members:

R. F. Allison, H. J. Northcott, George H. Reynolds, D. V. Pringle and H. W. Meadows, to push out a townsite Later, W. M. Morton, J. Reynolds, R. M. Longstreet, J. Longstreet and A. C. Johnson were added to this committee.

After five years of negotiations the Canadian Pacific Railway agreed to establish a siding if the townsite was procured and a guaranteg given to finance the new siding and buy out the siding already established farther west. This made a total expenditure of $12,000.00.

The townsite was donated by Mr. Reynolds Group, J. H. Longstreet, R. M. Longstreet and M. V. Joslin. Other farmers helped with cash donations and with the use of teams.

In the fall of 1906, the first train stopped at the Valley City as the siding was called. At this time the C.P.R. informed the committee that already another station had chosen the name of Valley City and a change was necessary

They submitted a list of names, and from this list the name Clive was chosen.

The village of Clive was incorporated on February 14, 1912. The first councillors were Messrs Fulthorps, Longstreet & Douglas Wilson The first secretary was L. R. Macdonald. The first assessor was A. A. Smith

The first taxation rate was 20 mills for municipal and 10 mills for school purposes. Land for school purposes was valued at $10.00 per acre.

To finance the new village, the council was empowered to borrow $100.00 from the Union Bank, as time went on and more money was needed in the next few years, the council borrowed from individuals at 10 per cent interest The first 10-year debenture was issued on October 22, 1913, for $1,000.00.

On February 12, 1920, at a meeting of the people of the district a cemetery committee composed of James Tate, N. W. Meadows, C. F. Thompson, A. C. Johnson and J. H. Longstreet was authorized to find a suitable site.

This site was surveyed on a mile south of the N.E. corner of the village limits.

The first Clive school still stands on the property on Highway 12 a one-half mile west of the present site. It was built in 1913 and [illegible] until 1956. It is now used as a [illegible] store and [illegible] drying business

Four disastrous fires in 1920, 1927 1946 and 1953 destroyed many business places in the village.

The village of Clive nestled down in a valley surrounded by wonderful farming lands on all sides, still is a tribute to those who pioneered this country

Those who live in Clive today feel justly proud of their village and will try to make July 4 the celebration of the 50th anniversary of their village a day that will go down in the history of the village as a tribute to the founders.

The population of the village for 1962 was 246

In the year 1961 the village installed a sewage system, and have installed natural gas and sidewalks.

Don Grant is the mayor of the village, and Fred Holton and Mrs. R. Somerville the other councillors Florence McLeod is secretary-treasurer.

Bonanza Days

BUILD-UP to the three - week Bonanza days shopping spree in Lacombe will reach a climax next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

These are the days reserved for special prices on a wide variety of merchandise for a "shopping mall" with downtown streets closed to motor vehicles, tent booths being set up by local lads & organizations, for children's rides and for a number of special events like a street dance and a "funny money auction sale".

The mutual promotion planned by the Lacombe and district board of trade will attract a large number of people during the wind-up. They will come as shoppers finding bargains, and as sightseers coming in on a mid-summer frolic. That is good traffic, towards the more fun

Business who do not make Lacombe their regular shopping centre will be surprised at the many fine stores and the quality goods on the counters.

Lacombe offers personalized service. The town is himself is around to make customers — but it doesn't give you catch him sneaking off for golf game or away on a holiday for a not inducing sale.

These Bonanza days bargains are still there for the customer

Unnecessary Road Hazard

LAST winter, the Lacombe and district board of trade requested assurances from the provincial highways department that the No 12 highway west of Lacombe would be kept passable and clear of snow while construction operations continued around the intersecting cloverleaf of the new four-lane No 2 highway. Despite the difficulties, the department lived up to this obligation.

Perhaps it is time the board of trade wrote another letter to facilitate the passage of summer traffic.

Main objection to the present condition of the road is the unnecessary cover of huge dust which is supposed to pass for gravel along a portion of this main road. Motorists are forced to exercise great caution to avoid blowing a tire.

Another hazard is the dust which can be as thick as a passoup ground fog. Cars have been passed by each other at close quarters with headlights full on at high noon.

With the extra heavy volume of traffic to and from Gull Lake at this time of the year, the dangers are implicit

It shouldn't be too much to ask that the provincial government is the fine gravel on this section of No 12 and oil it, until construction is completed and the area is hard-surfaced again

Epitaph on Common Sense

SOMETHING like 70,000 Shriners sported and cavorted at their annual convention at Edmonton this summer. In the few days they met together, six died—three of them during the colorful parade on Toronto streets

Hard cold statistics say this isn't a bad average. There would normally be at least six deaths in the same number of days in a city with a population of 70,000. Deaths are not expected during such a gathering of the clan however, and when they occur they must put a damper on proceedings.

Shrine officials said the deaths were caused by a combination of heat, exertion and excitement

There is no doubt that the human body is worked up to a pretty high pitch during convention time. People tend to do a lot of silly things they wouldn't think of doing in a high-drama existence back home. These strenuous activities carried on for a succession of days take their toll

Three Shriners, probably short on sleep while long on stamina, collapsed on parade while attempting to walk under a hot sun over hard pavement many more people than they were used to.

There is a lesson provided here but unanswered is the reason why people push themselves beyond the point of endurance and will ignore any physical punishment while suppressing mental judgment

Farm Safety Week

NEXT week, July 22 to 28, will be observed as farm safety week. The Alberta safety council lists the following of practices for safer Alberta farming:

Safety Begins at Home Keep your farm and farm home in order — eliminate hazards as you find them. Be a good housekeeper; in your home and on your farm.

Agricultural Chemicals Before using, always read the label, use as directed, store in original containers and in locked cabinets. Dispose of empty containers safely

Prevent Falls: Plan ahead—good planning reduces the temptation to hurry, means better production and fewer accidents. Repair or discard broken and unsafe ladders. Make sure the stairways are adequately lighted and properly

Rural Highway Safety: Be courteous on the highway — know and obey all traffic laws and follow safe driving practices. Remove trees, weeds and shrubs at farm entrances and intersections to improve visibility. Obey the "signs of life"

Farm Machinery Don't depend on luck — make sure your equipment is in safe operating condition. Be certain all guards and safety devices are in place. Always stop the machine before unclogging, oiling or adjusting. Equipment should be well marked with flags and properly lighted

Recreation Safety Take safety seriously — everywhere — all the time. Around bodies of water (large and small) be especially careful. Learn to handle guns properly. Include safety in farm family vacation plans

Reflections of the Times

On The Threshold

High school graduates this week throughout this area have some heavy thinking to do during the examinations are but a memory. With final results to come, the prospect for them is as thought-provoking as is the future

Public school children always have that next grade to look forward to, high school students in every year but the final one, also have their future plotted

But what of the high school graduate?

This is the time that starts sapping youth. This is the time when the realities of life must be plainly faced, no matter what horror they hold For those high school young men and women going on to a higher education, the situation is not quite so grave as for those who now find themselves a member of the Canadian working

It is a frightening step to take and yet one that has to be made Who would trade their way in the world for the comparative freedom of schooldays—almost everyone not in school School years are only a part of anyone's life, despite homework, teachers and the omnipresence of failure

While in the classroom the student was surrounded by friends, guided by teachers and encouraged by parents. Apparently, this does not hold true once school days are behind. The student, no longer a student, is also no longer one of a faceless group of people being taught the basics of their future existence The elements of the group break down into individuals, each to do or die on his or her own

The first phase of life has passed On this new threshold, there is no grooch to carry the bride across

We congratulate all you who will graduate this year and we also urge you, although you may have heard it a thousand times over, to work and work hard, to get yourselves established in this new environment which will determine the many years lying ahead of you

Social Gathering at Wolfville

(Last week's news)

WOLFVILLE — A belated birthday gathering was held at the centre last Sunday. Over fifty partook of a bountiful meal at the noon hour and after a few hours of games and visiting another meal was enjoyed before leaving for home.

It was noted that the centre is wired for lights but as yet is not connected up with the power line.

Some of our local men joined others in the search for five-year-old Marilyn Jess of Penolta, who had been missing since Thursday evening from her parents trailer at Gull Lake where they had been holidaying.

Rain on Friday night and again on Saturday is helping rapid growth of vegetation even if the weather is quite cool at times.

Mrs. R. Hurley is at present visiting at the Art Lewis home.

Mr and Mrs. Hystad are enjoying the company of the latter's mother, Mrs. Charlebois of Grande Prairie and her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Gilmore of Spirit River.

Miss Eva Patterson is visiting with her brother and their families in Calgary.

Mrs. F. Mendelsohn who underwent major surgery in Penolta and in Edmonton recently is taking further treatments in Edmonton.

Louis Cote and grandson, Clark of Sacramento, Calif., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Rainy.

To all members of the family [illegible] and Marilyn Jess of Penolta, whose body was found safe Sunday, we extend deep felt sympathies.

Experimental Station Conduct Tests on Crop Cover

Experiments have been conducted at the Lacombe experimental farm for the past 30 years using wheat and oats as cover crops.

It has been found that these crops protected failure land from wind erosion, provided excellent fall pasture, and they did not appreciably reduce the yield of the following grain crop.

Oats sown at the rate of two bushels per acre in mid-July produced much more heavily than when sown at the rate of one bushel per acre at the beginning of August. This increased production more than offset the slight reduction in yields on unseeded crops.

In the Lacombe tests, oats have considerably given the highest yield of cover crop followed closely by barley and wheat. Fall rye and winter wheat resulted in low pasture yields and seriously reduced the yield of the succeeding grain crop.

Carol Veevers Bride Of Merlin Haarstad

St Andrew's United church in Lacombe was the setting for the recent ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Carol Veevers and Mr Merlin Haarstad

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Mary Veevers and the late Mr. Robert Veevers of Lacombe, and the groom is the youngest son of Mr and Mrs. Louis Haarstad of Bentley.

Rev. B. H. Thackeray officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Entering the church on the arm of her brother, S. Robert Veevers, the bride looked quite in a street-length gown of pink embroidered sheer nylon over taffeta and having a sheer pink nylon duster. The accessories were all white.

Her only jewellery was a crystal teardrop pendant. She carried a bouquet of white carnations accented by pink tulle and white brocade streamers.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Veevers of Edmonton. The bridesmaid wore a emerald green satin gown and white accessories. She had a corsage of white carnations.

Best man was Dr. Vernon H. Haarstad of New Orleans, brother of the groom. Ushers were Mr. Gus Haarstad and Mr R. E. Davis of Lacombe.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Veevers chose a sheath dress of blue brocade with neat pin embroidery with matching duster. Her corsage was a cascade of white carnations.

Mrs. Haarstad chose a blue tweed suit with beige accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception for the immediate family was held at the home of the bride's mother. In charge of the serving was Mrs. Robert Veevers of Edmonton. The table was covered with a blue tulle cake made and decorated by the bride's mother. The setting for this was blue tulle accented with silver.

Dr. Haarstad proposed the toast to the bride. The groom jointly responded.

The same evening, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Haarstad, the groom's parents, held open house at their home in Bentley to honor the young couple.

After a short honeymoon at Calgary, Banff and other points, the young couple plan to make their home in Bentley.

Pork Expert Economist Explains Speaker at Local Field Day

Canada as a surplus pork producing country and must sell to month of this surplus as possible, stated J. E. Fetherstonhaugh, at the 20th annual swine field day at the Lacombe pavilion last Thursday.

The United States is our best customer, the speaker added. In 1961 the U.S. bought 36,000,000 pounds of ham and bacon and pork.

Dr. Howard Fraser, head of the animal science at the experimental farm, conducted the guests on a tour of swine operations prior to the afternoon program.

Other speakers included D. E. Bellamy, director of veterinary services in Ottawa and he is an Innisfail graduate; and J. G. Brothers.

Popsicle Set's Fiscal Future Rosy, says B of M

You can shorten the odds on future happiness for your youngsters by getting them off to a good start financially and teaching them how important it is to save, says Fred Pamenter, manager of the Lacombe branch of the Bank of Montreal.

A dollar bill is all you need to establish a savings account at the B of M, but this is a good beginning and a fine way to help develop habits of perseverance and self reliance which will be invaluable in the future, he adds.

Mr. Pamenter continues: His own personal savings account will be a strong encouragement to put away part of his weekly pocket money towards buying something he really wants, a brother, it's a pair of skates or a college education. The habit of planning and thinking ahead is mighty important in the development of any youngster today. In fact it's a pretty solid foundations on which to build tomorrow's adult.

Any member of the Lacombe B of M staff will be delighted to help your boy or girl to open a savings account. Bring your child in soon.

What to Freeze

Home vegetables freeze better than others. Asparagus, beans, peas, spinach, and whole kernel corn, for example are particularly good when frozen. Corn on the cob. While a special treat during the winter, has a tendency to develop off-flavors during storage and is therefore not always palatable when frozen.

Those vegetables which are usually eaten raw such as celery, cucumbers, should not be frozen. Root vegetables are mainly stored and should not take up valuable freezer space.

Some varieties freeze better than others. Choose varieties of fruits and vegetables that are recommended for freezing. A list of the varieties which freeze best in an area is available. Ask the office.

Berries, cherries and rhubarb are good freezers. Peaches require special treatments to prevent discoloration. Pears do not freeze well.

Here are a few general rules in freezing.

Freeze only high-quality fruits and vegetables. The quality of frozen foods is no better than foods put into the freezer. Foods should go from garden to freezer in four hours or less. Select fruits and vegetables that are at the ideal stage of maturity for immediate table use.

Prepare small quantities of fruit and vegetables at one time. In this way, goodness will be conserved.

All vegetables must be blanched before freezing since they contain chemical substances which if not controlled by blanching, will cause undesirable changes in flavor, color and texture of the product.

For further information on freezing methods, varieties and blanching time, contact the office and a free bulletin "Preserve by Freezing" will be sent to you.

Here is a new way of preparing jam. The resulting product has fresher fruit flavor and better color without boiling.

Fresh Fruit Jam without Cooking

Frozen strawberry jam

2c. finely-mashed strawberries
4 c. sugar
½ bottle (2 oz.) liquid pectin

Raspberry Jam:

2 c. finely mashed raspberries
4 c. sugar
½ bottle (2 oz.) liquid pectin

Combine berries and sugar. Let stand about 20 minutes, stirring to dissolve the sugar. Add pectin and stir for 3 minutes. Pour into jelly glasses or freezer containers. Cover and let stand at room temperature for 24 hours or until jelled. Seal with paraffin and store in freezer. (It will keep several weeks at refrigerator temperature.)

The fruit should be very finely mashed. To prevent the formation of crystals, jams should be rested at least 24 hours after pouring and sealed with paraffin.

For black Raspberry cherries, peach, apricot and prune, plum jams use same proportions as in strawberry jam. For pears and apricot jams also add one teaspoon of citric acid powder to the mashed fruit.

For blackberry and damson plum jams, use proportions given for raspberry jam. Grape jam is made the same way but first the seeds have to be separated by [illegible] straining.

(Reporter: Hazel Street)

There was a one crowd out for the picnic on Sunday.

Handle those well pipes carefully

When working with long lengths of irrigation pipe, well casing or well rods, in the vicinity of power lines exercise extreme caution.

Long lengths of pipe are difficult to control and should be uncoupled at each joint, otherwise they may fall onto power lines. Treat power lines with respect!

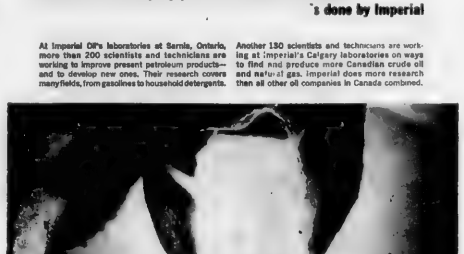
90% of all oil company product research in Canada is done by Imperial

At Imperial Oil's laboratories at Sarnia, Ontario, more than 200 scientists and technicians are working to improve present petroleum products—and to develop new ones. Their research covers many fields, from gasolines to household detergents.

Another 130 scientists and technicians are working at Imperial's Calgary laboratories on ways to find and produce more Canadian crude oil and natural gas. Imperial does more research than all other oil companies in Canada combined.



Every barrel of crude oil contains some of the sun's heat. Imperial research works to unlock more of this energy. After five years' intensive research, Imperial found a chemical additive which makes more heating oil available from Canadian crude oil. One important result: less oil imported to heat Canadian homes.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. FLEWELLING

Flewelling-Havard Rites Solemnized at Calgary

North Hill United church in Calgary was the setting for the recent candle-light wedding of Barbara Gail, only daughter of Mr and Mrs. G A Havard of Calgary, and Bruce Graham, oldest son of Mr and Mrs C. G. Flewelling of Lacombe

Rev. Reed officiated at the double-ring ceremony

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length white silk organza gown. The neckline was complemented by bead pearls and colored sequins

Extending from the waist were three dainty bows with embroidered flowers. The back of the dress was highlighted by a single bow which extended from above the waist, being centered with a small flower and flowing into the skirt

The plain white veil was held in place by a crown head-piece of pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of red roses in the shape of a half moon

Attendants were Mrs. Jeanie Peterhead, matron of honor, and Miss Gayle Flewelling, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid

They were identical dresses of baby blue crystal with floral headpieces, and each carried bouquet of white mums tinged with pink.

Miss Susan Parsons, the petite flower girl, was also dressed in blue crystal charm and carried a basket of mums.

Graham Parsons, ring bearer, carried a heart shaped pillow to the altar. Candle lighter was Glen Flewelling brother of the groom.

Attending the groom were Murray Flewelling, brother of the groom, and Lorne Flewelling, cousin of the groom. Ushers were Ronald Havard, brother of the bride, and Wayne Flewelling, brother of the groom

Prior to the exchanging of vows, Dave Parton of Calgary sang "The Lord's Prayer," and while the register was being signed "Because", Mrs Warren was organist

Later, a reception was held for 100 guests in the church auditorium. Mr. Chester asked the blessing; Alvin Jewell was master of ceremonies, and George Wilkie proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom ably replied

Mrs. Archie Havard was in charge of the guest book. For her going away the bride chose a three-piece teal blue suit with beige accessories. Her corsage was of sweetheart roses and stephanotis

The young couple will reside at 815-30A Ave., N.E. in Calgary

It was a fairly quiet meeting that adjourned at 10:00 p.m., with a bare quorum of councillors on hand — mayor R. A. Gordon, councillors Wm. Hunt, Ivan Shumacher and Lou Hittle. Absent were councillors Wes Jackson, Murray Boyes and Nels Miller.

Other Delegations

Mr. Fraser of Blackfalds was present to submit plans for the proposed addition to the Dr. William Pedersen business block on 50 street.

Mr. Pedersen said that the addition at the back of the present premises would be 70 x 30 feet, built of Dual block. It is intended to start work "in two or three weeks." Cost of the addition is estimated at $10 000 to $12 000.

Council approved the plans.

Stadium Roof Repairs

Another delegation was J. D. Hamm, representing the firm of Perpetual Roofs Ltd., Edmonton.

He outlined the method that would be used to repair the shingles on the roof of the jubilee stadium at Lacombe, if council awarded him the job.

Estimated costs varied from $5 000 for a portion of the roof, to $9 000 for the total area. A ten-year guarantee goes with the job.

Council left the matter over to the next meeting.

Miscellaneous

Councillor Stonehocker reported that a committee from council had met with Legion officials to settle on a satisfactory cemetery site for the erection of a monument.

Another committee meeting had been arranged with county authorities, and agreement was reached on seeding to grass property near and around the new swimming pool.

Satisfactory results were received on tests made on cement at the swimming pool. One sample tested 6,000 lbs. per square inch, and another 5,750, well over the required 3,000, according to the testing laboratory report.

Plan of survey of the landing strip located north of Lacombe was studied by council Specified are lands being transferred from Arnold Bruna and the Canadian Union College to the name of the town.

200 Men Work on C.P.R. Tracks in Area

About 200 workmen arrived in the Lacombe area ... early last week to install the Canadian Pacific railway track with crushed gravel.

Local CPR station agent Clarence Hergott said that tamping crews on the rail line started work at Millet this spring and are due to go as far south as Red Deer building up the grade and stabilizing the track.

The mechanized crews on two gangs of about 100 men each were at Morningside for the previous two weeks. One gang moved into Lacombe last July 13, and the other was shifted south to a Blackfalds district siding on Monday of last week.

The workmen live in self-contained boarding cars on the track, complete with cooking and sleeping quarters as well as recreational cars.

Mr. Hergott explained that the tracks are being lifted about eight inches and stabilized with crushed gravel from Blackfalds pit.

A big machine capable of lifting ties and hammering back the spikes over the new road-bed is all done in one operation, "a far cry from the old days of shovels and hammers," Mr. Hergott said.

When the new grade is completed, it will provide a smoother ride for train passengers. Some thought might be given to transferring traveling time off the already tight schedule between Lacombe and Edmonton, although there has been no official word on this.

Stabilize Tracks Around Lacombe

Two work crews numbering about 200 men have arrived in the Lacombe Blackfalds district to stabilize CPR trackage in the area. The gangs live on "built-in rail cars along the siding. Note the gravel grading built up tracks in front of the Lacombe station. The work south of town is delaying train schedules slightly from Calgary

Summer Bonanza Days in Lacombe Well Received

It was like a miniature circus on Lacombe's downtown "mall" streets during the windup of Bonanza days last Thursday, Friday and Saturday as hundreds of shoppers and visitors flocked to town.

A parade organized by Lou Wedner started things off in slam-bang fashion last Thursday morning. There were several outstanding floats and decorated entries that were a credit to local sponsors and businessmen.

The kids zoomed in with fine decorated bicycles, and judges awarded prizes to Lorraine Green, Sherry Martin and Valer a Callian. The girls received bicycle lights for their efforts.

This signalled the start of a friendly atmosphere that remained through the balance of the week.

Lacombe's business section received an exhibition midway, as traffic was closed off in favor of rides for the kiddies, swings, ... midgets, etc. Ladies' booths operated from the curbs, storekeepers moved merchandise outdoors, and at least one business sponsored a special auction sale.

Cash Pool Popular

Kinsmen club of Lacombe set up a "dunk pool" and spectators for the price of three balls for 50 cents (three for a quarter for the kids) had the dubious honor of trying to hit the target and bring a fully-clothed Kinsmen member splashing into chest-high, ice-cold water.

The favorite mark of them all was Kinsman Orest Schur, the town police chief, who had a number of unscheduled dips from customers trying to get even on past packing or speeding tickets.

Open at Night

Local merchants reported a "bonanza business" during the late evening shopping hour to 9:00 on Friday.

Shoppers seemed to be intent on building up a good supply of "funny money" which they received with each purchase, courtesy of the board of trade.

Unlike the first auction sale a week earlier, however prizes paid in "funny money" for prizes donated by different businesses reached sky-high proportions up to $1 000.

This was in direct contrast to the "penny rate" of $70 and $80 the first week.

Reason for the big difference was the larger volume of funny money in the hands of customers, as well as the apparent "pooling" of resources by some groups.

Thus, those holding modest amounts of "funny money" who were hopeful of bidding successfully on a premium auction item were disappointed. Some were a little better.

The result was beyond the control of the board of trade but of details want to remind customers that they still received good value for their money on the original merchandise purchased.

There were many other special Bonanza days events which were greatly enjoyed by the crowds.

A public band concert was held Thursday night, courtesy of the KOCR's band from Red Deer under the direction of Fred Rowett.

There was a Friday night street dance with music by Dickie Dann and his Night-Riders from Bentley.

Swim Meet

A swim meet was held Saturday afternoon at the new Lacombe pool with about 100 participating from outside clubs of Innisfail Red Deer, Ponoka We taskawin and Camrose.

Judged best male swimmer was Dale Sampson of Innisfail best female swimmer (tied) Bev Bill of Red Deer and Donna Moe of Camrose and best swim team, Red Deer Catalina club.

Attractive Virginia Huepperbesser 10 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Huepperbesser of Blackfalds was declared winner of the bathing beauty contest held Saturday.

Other charming contestants, sponsored by district 4-H clubs, were Linda Hodd, Beverly Quirk Gail Hueppebauer, Sue Farewell and Lesley Kerr.

A water safety demonstration was given by a Red Cross group from Penhold. A diving demonstration was presented by a Lacombe group. Alan Graham, Jim Currie and Gary Frazeel.

All three swim events took place Saturday and were heartily applauded by good crowds.

Mirror is Fifty Years Old

THE year 1912 was one of special significance for this district when saw the birth of Elnora and Mirror as villages in the province of Alberta.

So the year 1962 is automatically a milestone commemorating the 50th anniversary of the villages since incorporation. Clive held its celebration early this month and Mirror will mark its birthday officially on Saturday July 28 with a parade and day long schedule of events.

What the future holds for Mirror no one knows. It was once a thriving CNR divisional point but many of the railwaymen have been lost as citizens to Mirror because of the cutbacks made by the railroad.

It is possible to look back over the last fifty years, and to see how Mirror emerged from a wilderness due to the enterprise and vision of the early pioneers.

We in the present generation owe a great deal to our fore-fathers. They made our communities and this district what it is today.

With thanks to those who are no longer among us, The Globe offers congratulations in extending congratulations to the village of Mirror on its 50th anniversary.

Work of The Red Cross

EMERGENCY help rendered by the Red Cross to fire victims in the Bashaw area last week points out once again the valuable work done by this humanitarian organization.

Since it is the policy of the Red Cross not to release names of unfortunate people receiving disaster service the quiet assistance given by the Red Cross is often overlooked.

The Alberta division of the Red Cross according to the 1961 report helped 83 stricken families following fires in the province providing emergency supplies for clothing, bedding, food and shelter.

With a new swimming pool being used for the first time this summer in Lacombe, more and more district residents have become better acquainted with the water safety courses developed by the Red Cross Popularity of the Red Cross water safety program is reflected in the fact that 37,000 Albertans were enrolled in classes last year.

Most people are familiar with the blood donor clinics held periodically to collect blood for distribution free to hospitals. This is one of the more costly Red Cross services, but it provided free blood transfusions to 18,700 patients in Alberta during 1961 and saved countless lives.

There are other areas where the Red Cross serves the public through its junior Red Cross organization home nursing service enquiry bureau, and women's work committees.

These projects are financed through the annual campaign for funds in the month of March. It is well to remind citizens of the exemplary work of the Red Cross that continues uninterrupted the whole year through

Strawberries and Cream

THIS is fresh fruit season when the miracles of modern transportation make it possible to transfer tree-ripened fruit from the vine to the store counter to your home in remarkably quick time. And it arrives in remarkably good condition, as close to fresh as here to the Okanagan Valley in British Columbia allows it to be

So far we have sampled B.C. strawberries and cherries. Other mouth - watering delights are ahead as the crops mature, like plums, apricots, pears and peaches, followed at last by McIntosh Apples

Out of the whole list strawberries stand to the forefront because to this juicy fruit can be added thick cream from the bottle with a sprinkling of fruit sugar. What a rich and flavorsome dessert!

The red juices from the berries mix with the white cream making the last pink spoonful a king's own dish.

Tasteing as we said, which spells trouble for the gourmet on a diet. But who can refuse fresh strawberries in season?

Changing American Dollars

HERE we are in the middle of a busy tourist season, and the age-old problem of exchanging American money faces merchants all across Canada. This is the first year in a decade that the Canadian dollar hasn't been close to par or well above par in relation to the American dollar. With the Canadian dollar pegged at 92½ cents, should the merchant give the American customer the benefit of the difference?

Most Canadian businessmen apparently do so, adding a premium of anywhere from five to eight cents to the American dollar as a matter of course. Some will do so only when asked

A few won't pay any exchange rate, pointing out that they didn't discount American currency in past years when it was worth less. They also remember on trips to the United States when they weren't always able to receive extra pennies for the higher valued Canadian dollar they passed across the counter. In some places, the Canadian dollar wasn't accepted at all. This was hard on national pride

There is nothing gained in trying to even the score for past embarrassments.

The Canadian tourist association urges Canadian dealers to pay the going rate, generally about eight cents on the U.S dollar. "To do less is to short change the customer," says the association

Of course, the simplest and best solution is for the U.S visitor to be prepared and change his own money beforehand at bank branches where the official rate prevails

A traveller doesn't always do this, however, or he runs short of Canadian bills at an inopportune time. When this happens, Canadians can win a lot of American friends by being respectful and courteous — and giving the full amount of exchange

"The Shadow of a Great Rock"

In Isaiah, in the Old Testament, you read a description of a loyal man "And a man shall be as an abiding place from the wind and a covert from a tempest as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land."

All men whose this picture of a great rock, the loyal and dedicated alike, know that loyalty is honor and disloyalty is infamy and disgrace.

Loyalty is the quality that makes family life beautiful and true that makes national life possible Loyalty is the cement of friendship Without it friendship has no reality

Loyalty is the bond that unites husband and wife, parents and children Borrowing from our heart, it appeals to the hearts of others. Loyalty is the noblest word in our language and the noblest quality in man

Loyalty makes national life possible Back of every great accomplishment of men and nations stands the word Loyalty

Loyalty to one's country is essential to civilization to the safety of the family, the development of knowledge and science

Life is worthwhile only as a man is true to himself. Loyal to his better instincts and obedient to his conscience Times may be good and times may be hard it does not matter but for the loyal man there is no downcast It Ah! He is "as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land.

NO MISCONDUCT

As a result of a complaint received by the department of municipal affairs of the Alberta government concerning the administration of the affairs of county of Stettler an investigation was made by departmental inspectors

The report of the inspectors was tabled at the meeting of the council of the county on Friday and, after discussion with a number of specific charges in which the statements of councillor Jim Baugh figured prominently, I can inform

In commenting on our investigation it is evident that there is no evidence of fraud or misconduct but the report does indicate a certain amount of looseness in the procedures adopted for proper control of material parts or equipment

FOREST FIRE EXPENSES

Strong support to the plan to amend the Railway gas plant was given at hearings in Calgary last Wednesday before the Alberta oil and gas conservation board. The plan, submitted by the British American Oil Company operators of the plant, was supported by five of the seven participants in the multi-million-dollar plant

The Rumsey plant, largest of its kind in Canada removes many products from gas in the Homegiet-Rumsey field and Westerose South gas field including propane, butane, sasbutane and condensate The resultant by-products are marketed and the residue gas is sold to Trans-Canada Pipelines Ltd and Alberta and Southern Gas Co Ltd

Cost of the proposed expansion to the plant which will remove an extra 18 000 barrels daily of liquids from the gas being processed, was set at $4,452,- 000 It was learned in Calgary last week end that the application to construct the addition would be approved some time this month The addition would be completed for production early in 1964 at the latest

May Establish Museum at Mirror

(Special to The Globe)

MIRROR — Residents of this community are considering whether after the successful 50th anniver-sary celebrations recently that they want to extend and preserve historical items in a museum.

First effort to form a museum committee took place at an unfi-cial meeting at the Al Lavoy residence on Saturday evening and the meeting was adjourned to the Thursday gathering planned for the Legion hall on Sunday, August 11, at 1:30 p.m.

All residents in the village and district are invited to attend the meeting and give their ideas and opinions.

Objectives of the proposed so-ciety are to collect and preserve story antiques under one roof — clothes, cars, trunks and other items.

As Paul Fehrenbach of Mirror was one of the promoters visited this week, the longer the idea of a museum is postponed, the harder it will be to accomplish.

Some of the "old stuff" entered in last Saturday's parade will serve for a display, such as the Model T Ford, and a 1915 Case gas-fired tractor Al Lavoy also had a dozen old cars, trucks, thrashers, etc. that will also form a nucleus.

Everyone is urged to be the Au-gust 11 meeting for a wholesale discussion

Indecisive Driver Causes Highway Hassle
Canadians have always believed in plenty of freedom for everybody. We in our blood to value things like freedom of religion, of speech, of the press, of sleeping in on Sundays if we want to.
Of course, some people do take unusual liberties with liberty. Like that woman who is always dashing around town in her car for a drive last week and had a collision — with a man.
The policeman on the scene was a gentleman so naturally he cross-examined the man first, about why he hadn't given the lady her half of the road. The man was pretty mad. He said he was ready to do just that as soon as he could figure out which half she wanted! Which is a good example of what comes of indecision.
A session account at My Bank" can mean so many things — an education fund for the children, help for the whole fam-ily if there's ever a rainy day, a down payment fund on a new car, a house. Let's get started your own plan for regular-ized soon. Alex Bartosik, the accountant there, will be glad to show you how easy it is — and how profitable — to operate a B of M savings account

Canadians have always believed in plenty of freedom for everybody. We in our blood to value things like freedom of religion, of speech, of the press, of sleeping in on Sundays if we want to.
Of course, some people do take unusual liberties with liberty. Like that woman who is always dashing around town in her car for a drive last week and had a collision — with a man.
The policeman on the scene was a gentleman so naturally he cross-examined the man first, about why he hadn't given the lady her half of the road. The man was pretty mad. He said he was ready to do just that as soon as he could figure out which half she wanted! Which is a good example of what comes of indecision.
A session account at My Bank" can mean so many things — an education fund for the children, help for the whole fam-ily if there's ever a rainy day, a down payment fund on a new car, a house. Let's get started your own plan for regular-ized soon. Alex Bartosik, the accountant there, will be glad to show you how easy it is — and how profitable — to operate a B of M savings account

Big Project Completed Locally

TOWN motorists put up with a good deal of annoyance early this summer when five blocks of residential streets were closed off for the installation of sidewalks. The closed thoroughfares caused wide detours of traffic right in the centre of town.

Those inconveniences are now available when a big project like sewer installation is undertaken. What gripped many citizens was the noticeable delay in town workmen in getting the sidewalks finished after the sewer was in. Last month weather and [illegible] season for town work [illegible]

It is not generally appreciated by local citizens what the town [illegible] work force means to the town in saving.

Normally a program [illegible] would call for the hiring of a engineering firm also an [illegible] submit to a parallel of what goes on in a ladies hair-dressing parlor.

On the other hand, it's dubious whether men will stand for long hair at the outset in fact the trend is to shorter hair these days with the popularizing of the brush cut. If a man grows any long hair he'd mind him he's masculine it's something on the chin or upper lip.

The idea of making a style out of mops of hair atop the head sounds like a knack right on the part of barbers to make a major decision out of a simple haircut. Prices could go up to $3.00 and $4.00 per sitting with the washing and drying — including the net.

Imagine, nine million males aged 20 to one hundred walking around Canada, all looking like president Kennedy.

Merit Pay For Teachers

THE Globe has repeatedly advocated that school teachers should be judged on their merits and paid on a reasonable salary scale commensurate with competency.

The same theory has been advanced by Dr. Kenneth Parker, superintendent of Charlottetown (P.E.I.) schools who was speaker at the opening session of the Canadian college of teachers' annual meeting recently.

He said the public knows all teachers do not merit professional status. He urged that teacher competency should be recognized through pay scales to a reasonable degree

This is a simplification of a difficult problem of how best to assess the ability of a teacher in the classroom. However, salaries based strictly on experience and years of training is no longer acceptable because today's scale of pay is high and some teachers are not worth what they are receiving.

As Mr. Parker stated, "with reasonable salary scales in most school districts, the taxpayer has every right to expect a level of competency in keeping with the salary paid

When the supply of teachers catches up with the demand, a system of merit pay should be possible.

Unfair Treatment

ACCORDING to reports from south of the border the armed forces are a little fed up with the way portions of the American press lend to headline the unservice connections of many of today's vicious criminals.

The tendency doesn't seem to be prevalent in Canada, but news stories via wire services from the U.S. often do portray the gunman in a murder or the robber in a bank holdup as an "ex-GI" or ex-marine

It is deplorable that American newsmen continue to make references to a war that took place twenty years ago. The custom of linking a criminal to a service received may have stood the test of logic in 1946 or 1947, but it looks like a bunch of cub reporters picked up the habit in the early 50's and carried on with the same theme oblivious to the passing of the years

If it's fair to pin a label of "ex-soldier" on a criminal in 1962, then press accounts should likewise mention other past occupations like "ex-oil company employee or ex-newspaper editor." But you rarely see this.

The persistent association of crime with war service in press columns can only undermine in the public mind the type of training received by the armed forces and the reputation of the uniform they wear

The Pentagon looking into the situation has come up with instances where these present-day criminals had not been in the armed service for 10 or 20 years, or were dishonorably discharged

Reflections of the Times

Advertising Does a Job

Advertising has been considered by some to be a needless expense adding to the cost of doing business

Fortunately the antiquated view has all but disappeared down the drain of practical experience which swallows up many fallacies

From the viewpoint of the public or the buyer, advertising has served not merely to inform him of what's available, but it has lowered prices by increasing volume of output and thus reducing unit costs it has stimulated business and made customers propects for the firm from which it draws his pay cheque. It motivates and it lubricates the machine of progress

As for the seller advertising personnally engaged in buying [illegible] mendously beneficial effect on his ability to do business

Not long ago the McGraw-Hill Company told of a fictitious salesman meeting a fictitious prospective buyer. The latter said to him

I don't know who you are

I don't know your company

I don't know your company's product

I don't know what your company stands for

I don't know your company's customers

I don't know your company's reputation

I don't know your company's future

Now, what was it you wanted to sell me?

RUBBER TO LAKE HOSPITAL

Rufus Carl is a patient in Wainwright hospital suffering from burns to his hands and arms and face, and some minor burns to his body which he received when pumping up a gasoline lamp at the family's Close Lake cottage last week

Rufus had been motoring around the lake and pulling skis and canoe into the house just before dark. He had left the gasoline lamp and was pumping it up when the pump sucket came out of the filling cap. The check valve apparently failed to hold properly and the lamp was sprayed with gasoline which quickly caught fire. Rufus' clothing was also burning when he pumped into the lake and extinguished the fire.

Have you noticed some of your potatoes have planted tops that are a pale green color and the leaves have very noticeable purple edges? If your potatoes have these symptoms at this time of year they are infected by leaf roll. This new disease caused by a virus which is transmitted by aphids from one potato to another.

There is only one remedy for this condition and that is to pull and burn all plants showing the trouble. No condition use seed from this plot next year. Your best assurance against leaf roll [illegible] is to use certified seed

W. Lobay supervisor of soils and weed control with the Alberta department of agriculture urges farmers in this province to cultivate all fallow land where harvesting is planned. This operation must be performed imme diately if seed setting is to be prevented.

As far as roadsides and other uncultivated areas are concerned mowing the weeds now is one way of coping with the problem. With forage stands it may be possible to lift the cutting bar on the mower high enough to clip the tops of those weeds if they are above the grass and legumes

[illegible] in full bloom throughout northern and central Alberta, has a yellow flower and is easily confused with perennial sow thistle. However, being a winter annual it is much easier to control than any of the perennial weeds

[illegible] very much the same way as sinkweed and Tall Buttercup. Annuals are called because their seeds get their start in the fall rather than the spring. The aim of cultural control is to prevent new seeds from setting and to grow out those that are already in the ground

The herbicide 2,4-D has some depressing effect on hawksbeard when spraying is done in the weed's early stage of growth but this chemical cannot be used on forage stands when a legume crop is present Mr. Lobay reports that a number of trials, conducted this year, indicated that a butyric formula of 2,4-D known as 2,4-DB gave good control on an alfalfa crop. Butoxy-ethanol ester is an ingredient per acre was used in 20 gallons of water

Although there were some depressing effects on the alfalfa it seemed to regain its vitality and growth again. Further assessments will be made this year

The two-storey motor hotel was built at a cost of some 500,000 dollars and is owned by local businessmen and Calgary interests.

Thought For the Week...

The value of a sentiment is the amount of sacrifice you make for it.

Pathology Lab Opens in Lacombe

As publicly announced in the Globe earlier in the year, the plant pathology laboratory has been moved from Edmonton to the dominion experimental farm at Lacombe.

"Moving day" was Tuesday of this week when most of the equipment was transported from the universities campus at Edmonton to new quarters at the Lacombe experimental farm.

In charge of operations here will be Bill Berkenkamp who has moved to town with his wife and two children. He is a plant pathologist graduate from Tucson, Arizona.

Another staff member who will eventually make his home here is Lou Penning, who is "on leave" working toward a Ph.D degree in the United States.

The lab is operated by the federal government, and its main work is that of plant diseases.

In Edmonton, the work of the lab was centered around cereal diseases, like ergot, etc.

Plans for the future have not been crystallized here yet, but it is felt operations will be smoothed out working in conjunction with the farm and in a central location around a rich agricultural district.

Moves to Lacombe

The town extends a welcome to [illegible] and Mrs. Bill Berkenkamp and family who have taken up residence here. Oil Ruling

Subsequent report was approved as a result of the meeting in Calgary.

New revisions by government authorities provide some additional protection for land owners from oil well operators abandoning wells in the Joffre field.

Money Lambley of the Lacombe district told The Globe Monday that the new order calls for:

A "reasonable attempt" must be made by oilmen to contact the land owner before abandoning resources start.

The land owner will be given the opportunity to locate a suitable disposal area for his pit run gravel, sand and well pump boxes within one mile from the lease zone, and not requiring the crossing of a road allowance.

If the land owner cannot or will not locate such a disposal area, the lease may be buried providing they are covered over and compacted to a depth of 3 feet from the surface.

A hearing with the conservation board was held at Calgary on Thursday by the Lacombe municipal right-and-justice league with local delegates John Morton, Ken Morton and Henry Lambley in attendance along with the [illegible] Roger Leland.

The lease could get under discussion was an amendment to the provincial government statute which allows oil companies to burn flare-off gases in farmers fields when a well is abandoned.

The farmers committee requested that it be mandatory for oil companies to remove cement bases and steel from abandoned wells.

Mr. Lambley told The Globe yesterday that farmers southeast of Lacombe have experienced trouble in the Joffre oil fields, wrapping ploughs and tillers and other farm equipment on buried bulks of concrete around former oil sites which have been abandoned.

Some 30 flower beds were uprooted at the LMC alone. A few plants were removed from private gardens as well.

Most of the aerials were ripped from second-hand vehicles in used car lots but several were taken from automobiles in residential areas.

More Hail Falls at Clive

CLIVE — Another violent storm with some hail, swept over Clive and district Thursday evening, August 2, making the third bad storm to hit in less than two weeks. Hail stones were about the size of small marbles here at times, accompanied by strong wind.

Power was off as many as ten, and it was into evening before it was restored. The Calgary Power men from Alix were late getting to Clive and district points because they had been called to a home fire in Alix (the house was struck by lightning).

Fortunately for most people, the power was not disrupted until the six o'clock mood was over. The hail punched a few more holes into already damaged plants, but on town at least, did not do much damage.

The hotel and one or two homes had power, but for the most all street lights, and house and farm power was not resumed until midnight.

Mrs. E. Dillon, her son Gary, and Mr. Dillon's mother have spent a two-week vacation at Sylvan Lake.

Families Move Away

We are going to understand that Clive will be losing three families.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Joslin and girls are leaving soon to reside in Red Deer. Mr. and Mrs. Kolesnekoff (former Clive Searle Grain agent) and their family, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Holton have sold their home here in town and will sail for England on the Empress of Britain on September 8. Mrs. Reath Wood being has purchased the Holton house, and after having some alterations done will move to Clive.

"It's an ill wind that blows, no good." At least the hail weather and rains have held forest fires down this summer.

Undesirable citizens are not welcome in Canada. Yet the "Sons of Freedom" are just that. For years they have been a source of trouble and expense. As they break the laws of Canada, they are certainly undesirable, and no such should be deported. Too bad Russia did not carry out the plan for receiving them.

The weather plays strange tricks. Although Clive was drenched with rain, and some had 2 Cale, whose farm is within easy walking distance of Clive, reports that on Thursday the rain did not reach his house although it did get as far as his gate, leaving it dry as the farm Friday it was rainy and cool and cloudy all day Saturday was warm and sunny Sunday the rain and cool was once returned.

Stan Heald drove to Edmonton Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. Heald. Mrs. John Bell, Mr. and Mrs. G. Stanchfield and Mrs. W. DeMerse (the latter of Schuler) to attend the funeral of Mr. L. Heald's nephew, Rev Victor Lindgren. The Rev Lindgren had been a minister in Edmonton and Provincial districts for 40 years.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Kamins and two small sons of Blackie were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Kamin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Harrow.

Weather has not been too kind to summer fairs. Stampede week had some rain, Edmonton exhibition met with bad weather and violent wind, Red Deer fair was also plagued with rain last week, Saturday was the one "all-time" day for the Red Deer fair.

Miss Gail Reynolds of Edmonton was a visitor to her home here in Clive during the week end. From all reports we hear that R. L. Reynolds is improving in health, although still in hospital in Lacombe.

Mr and Mrs. D Green of Kirkland Lake, Washington, U.S.A., have been guests of Mrs. R. L. Reynolds. They are former Alix residents.

New Type Face Purchased

THE words you are reading now are printed in 10-point type. A point is a printer's measure and there are 72 points to one inch. Thus the size of the type you are reading in the editorial columns is about one-seventh of an inch.

Compare the height of this type with the columns alongside it on this page. They are printed in eight-point type nearly one ninth of an inch in height.

The Globe purchased this 10-point type last month, at a cost of several hundred dollars to improve the appearance of the paper and to add more variety to the columns.

All editorials will be printed in 10-point type hereafter as well as "lead" news stories to accentuate their importance and position on a news page.

Don't you agree the new type is easy to read?

Spending Spree

CANADIANS and particularly opposition politicians have been doing a lot of talking about how the Canadian government has been living beyond its means for the last five years. Deficit budgets have been piled up one on top of the other to increase the national debt by three billions of dollars.

It's something of a shocker to learn that Canadians personally have been living just about the same way, spending more money every day than they're earning.

Official statistics to April 30 show, for example, that total deposits owed by Canadians to chartered banks in the form of unsecured personal loans topped one billion dollars up 21 percent over a year ago.

Similar increases are reflected in home improvement loans, up 18% to 66 million dollars, in debts to department stores, up 11% to 306 millions and in cash loans by small loan companies, up 11% to 301 millions.

In a nutshell Canadians appear determined to live off the fat of the land whether they have the buying power or not.

Hence the Canadian government can be excused in some degree for its deficit spending on the grounds that it was carrying out the business of the nation in the same manner as the people are running their households, and expressing the trend and mood of the times.

It will be interesting to see the reaction of the people to the nation's new austerity program.

A little belt-tightening on the personal level might not be a bad idea either.

Sir Winston Still Fighting

THE Old Warrior is battling for his life with the same indomitable spirit in which he led the fight for the life of his nation twenty years ago.

Sir Winston Churchill now age 87 had the misfortune to fall and break a thigh-bone while on vacation in Monte Carlo. Very often a fracture of this type is fatal to persons of advanced years, and people generally feared the worst when medical complications set in during his convalescence.

Everyone reckoned without appreciating Sir Winston's qualities of courage against adversity. He demonstrated these qualities best with the famous slogan of "blood, sweat and tears" to mobilize the British Isles and fire up patriotism during the darkest days of Hitler in 1940.

He has exemplified the same qualities to overcome his own illness.

Sir Winston is the outstanding statesman of our time. He deserves and has enjoyed to date a happy retirement embodying his favorite hobby of painting, with frequent visits to the house of commons which he loves somewhat had arrived at faithfully.

We extend to him continued good wishes and the best health possible in his declining days.

More Spankings Needed

FOUR Indiana youth, age 18 to 17, were convicted of drinking beer and brandy at a beach party recently. There is nothing particularly unusual about this as the trend to indulgence in liquor by today's youth is both recognized and deplored. What is unique about the case was the sentence meted out by the judge after assessing the evidence.

He ordered that each of the youths be administered 15 whacks to the backside with the palm of the hand in court while the judge looked on to presume with approval.

The standard form of punishment for the errant ways of children is the levy of a court fine which of course is paid by the parents. This teaches the adolescents nothing.

Obviously the judge decided that these young boys had somehow escaped corporal punishment otherwise known as a slap to the family's in the course of their upbringing.

This is nothing new in the modern way of doing things. To hit a child because he does wrong is to scar him mentally for life, so we are told. The parent must reason with the child and appeal to his better nature but never touch him.

The judge comes from the old school of doing things, and possibly his methods are to be preferred.

It would embarrass these young bathing youths in front of an audience as nothing else could. The memory of shame would linger and might act as a deterrent to further drinking. After all that is what justice is for, to prevent repetition of the crime is possible.

A few loonies dollars in payment of a fine would have had no effect whatsoever.

Reflections of the Times

$636 Beer . . . at $53 per Bottle

In a community which never misses a chance to cry the blues over local misfortunes, the Hibernia situation is most consistent and timely. Centralization of institutions in larger centres is rather surprising to find people who can afford to pay $53.00 a bottle of beer.

The editor of The Camrose Free Press makes that statement. And he's not joking, either.

Yet many ladies and men in our population do not consider it worth while to drive to Camrose to get their medical care. Some of them, indeed, would not even drive to Camrose for drinking in cars.

What does motivation do, despite the fact that through frequent publicity everyone must know about the $50 minimum, people still appear and admit the use of drugs and pay three $50 without flinching. And they are mostly young people.

What the heck, a $50 fine for a bottle of beer is a good quotation.

How the law can afford to put it in every better one.

HOSPITALS IN RETROSPECT

The staffing situation at the Peace River municipal hospital is unsatisfactory, says the town council, although it has had no particular complaints about the present staff. Council is considering a request from the hospital board for a salary increase for registered nurses.

Mr. Grimson said no person in the hospital board or council would like to see the hospital closed, but the present staff cannot continue operations on a seven-day week.

It would mean that the hospital would have to close down for two days a week.

Look For New Labels

One of the most important features of the label on a food package is to give an accurate description of the contents, so that the purchaser may not be deceived in any way As of January 1, 1962, all manufacturers and packers of foods are required to comply with the amended labelling regulations that were issued in August, 1960, by the food and drug directorate. At that time, manufacturers were given until the year to design new labels, where necessary, and to use up existing stocks.

Canada's food and drugs act and regulations must be truthful labelling. They also specify that all information required by the regulations to be carried on the label must be "Clearly and prominently displayed thereon "

The main panel of the label on canned and packaged foods that part of the label or package that is generally exposed in the consumer on the grocery shelf — must show:

1 Brand or trade names of the product.

2 Common name of the food

3. Net contents of the package or container.

The common name now the regulation has been expanded to state that where the common name consists of more than one word, each shall be identically displayed.

The new regulations require that the net contents appear close to the common name on the main panel of the label, and the regulations state the minimum type that the letters and figures may be in relation to the size of the label. It should be possible to see in one glance the number of ounces in small packages and containers along with the name of the product.

Any declaration of added preservatives, food colors, artificial flavoring, constituents, and the list of ingredients, where required, must be grouped together on the main panel or on any panel other than the bottom of the package This requirement applied also to the name and address of the manufacturer.

All ingredients, except in the case of foods for which a standard has been laid down in the regulations, must be declared in descending order of proportion unless the quantity of each ingredient is stated by percentage of proportionate composition Non-standardized foods are exempt, these include bakery products, confectionary, potatoe desserts, soft drinks and soups, to name a few.

Enriched bread, brown bread or whole wheat bread, where it is made and sold on the premises, must be labelled according to the regulations unless a sign prominently displayed in the retailing area of the store carries the required information.

Read the labels to know what you are buying. The food and drugs act and regulations protect both your health and your money

Weeds and Cereal Crops Discussed at Field Day

A large number attended the annual combined cereal crops breeding plots and crop management field day at the experimental farm last Thursday afternoon.

It was an ideal afternoon for plot inspection, and farm technicians explained various experiments now underway at the farm and gave advice based on experiments completed to date.

D. B. Walker of the farm staff reviewed the results of the recently completed pasture study where alfalfa was found to be superior to brome alone or crested-wheatgrass alone when measured in terms of pounds of beef produced. Fertilizer usage, at rates up to 400 pounds per acre, gave profitable returns under the conditions of this study, he reported.

Of special interest were plots of creeping red fescue which have shown outstanding ability to become a dense sod-forming grass. This grass is very winter-hardy and appears to be superior to brome alone or creeping red fescue alone when measured in terms of pounds of beef produced. Fertilizer usage, at rates up to 400 pounds per acre, gave profitable returns under the conditions of this study, he reported.

Of special interest were plots of creeping red fescue which have shown outstanding ability to become a dense sod-forming grass. These plots have received 600 and 800 pounds of fertilizer annually for the past six years, and it was believed the combined effect of the very heavy fertilizer and the extremely dry weather last fall accounted for the killing.

Wild Oats Contest

H. A. Friesen, in charge of the forage crops division at the farm, discussed studies with Carlyon of the post-emergence control of wild oats. The need for spraying when the wild oats are in the two-leaf stage was again evident this year, he noted.

New formulations of 'Carbyne' under test this spring appeared to hold little or no promise as a means of lengthening the acceptable period of the wild oats.

The seed-applied compound, 'Avadex', to control wild oats, again gave good results in tests this year, but Mr Friesen stressed that extreme care in applying this compound was necessary for satisfactory results.

Cereal Crops

In dealing with cereal crops, Dan McFadden, head of the cereal crops division at the farm, stressed the value of good seed. Improvement in these fine seed, weed-graded seed is all-important in the production of wheat, oats and barley.

Referring to the varieties of wheat suitable for this area, Mr. McFadden said that while Thatcher and Saunders are still the best varieties. He explained that it takes a minimum of five years of testing of new varieties of cereal grains before a license can be issued, and expressed skepticism as to the economic wisdom of farmers importing new varieties and then requesting license for them.

Of particular interest was a new variety of wheat developed by a project group co-ordinated by Dr. Martin Kaufman of Lacombe. As large as high-yielding main crop varieties, the wheat has the feed barleys, although stated their early maturity of founders and these two varieties have no value approaches Thatcher in yield. for consigning with wild oats be Tests are continuing on this seed- cause of their late maturity. Mr McFadden stressed the Oils, he pointed out is still pre-

Looking for Bargains ?

Why not do your sleuthing in your own home town?

When you add up travelling costs, not to mention road hazards, parking problems and jostling crowds, and affix these items to the "uncertain" you get in the "big city" you'll probably find it wasn't such a good deal after all.

Think about it. Quality style and values are pretty good right in our own town, and remember that your support of local business helps build a better community.

Urges Fall Care For Perennials

Iris clumps can be divided and transplanted soon, after the flowers are gone, advises H. T. Allen, horticulturist at the Lacombe experimental farm. New varieties brought in at this time will be well established before the next season's frosts. For the popular bearded iris, good drainage is essential. Never plant in a depression, or in soil likely to swell.

Among newer varieties that have done well at Lacombe are blue shimmer (pale blue), marina domain (maroon), mimmo (lavender white and purple), pink opus (soft pink), rocket (bright orange) golden symphony (light yellow and heliotrope), and ebony echo (deep red with brown overtones).

Interest in the new hardy chrysanthemums is increasing. They provide a profusion of bloom from late July until well into late fall. This is a good time to be looking at your chrysanthemum clumps, Mr. Allen says. If the centre is dying out, the plant is not likely to overwinter, so division this fall is indicated.

Chrysanthemums transplant readily. Even when in full bloom they may be moved, without injury, to a more desirable location. Although these hardy varieties often overwinter, it's a wise precaution to pot up and bring in some of them in the fall. If kept in a cool cellar and cuttings made in February, strong healthy plants will be available for outdoors as soon as the ground warms up.

A useful leaflet, "Growing Chrysanthemums in Alberta", can be had from district agriculturists. Many varieties are available, but those having done particularly well at Lacombe are: Dr. Longley (orchid pink), Mona (brick red with yellow centre), galaxmas (buff), mardon gold (dwarf yellow), redwing (wine), akimura (bright mauve), aureus (rust red with yellow centre), pale face (pale yellow), paddlers (light yellow).

Renewing peony varieties or adding to the collection can be given thought at this time. There are many varieties now on the market, including some of the single flowered Japanese types that have done well at Lacombe.

Among them are Jappenshiu (dark red), krinkled white (and takus (clear rose pink with pale pink centre). Two hybrid early flowering peonies also worthy of mention are John Harvard (dark maroon) and Mad[illegible] fleur (single bloom, flesh-tinged cream).

Large peony clumps may be divided in early fall, but use care in planting. Mr. Allen advises. Peonies should not be planted too deep, and like iris they need a well drained soil.

Council To Estimate Crop Yield

County council members held their regular monthly meeting Thursday of last week, and dealt with a mass of business [illegible] Among the matters discussed:

Estimates of crop yields for the entire county will be drafted for the information of PFAA. The government agency requests estimated yields by townships before September 15. Council members agreed to provide these estimates for their own individual areas well before the dead line date.

PFAA officials showed primary interest in hail damage, and while council agreed that individual farmers, in many sectors of the county have suffered serious hail losses, the damage to date has been very spotty, and not heavy in the overall picture.

Changes in road allowances because of the new number two highway Red Deer - Lacombe by-pass continues to be made. At the request of the provincial department of highways, the council closed two roads abutting the new super-highway grades.

"WHERE BARGAINS ARE BORN"

Local Vets Take Part In Dieppe Ceremonies

The local veterans of the ill fated war time Dieppe raid are in Europe today taking part in the memorial services being held to commemorate the 20th anniversary of the raid on June of 1942.

Bob Hill and Bob Armstrong, the only members of the Calgary Tanks during the raid and who subsequently founded out the war in German prisoner-of-war camps, are two of 60 overall Alberta Dieppe veterans who left last week for Brantville. From there they travelled to bus and train to Dieppe where memorial services are being held, the monument to Canadians now dated is being unveiled, and where a special service will be held at the Canadian army cemetery at Bayeux.

Following the ceremonies at Dieppe proper, the local Dieppe servicemen will visit the British Isles before returning home on the special charter plane which arrives in Calgary on September 6.

Wife Mr Hill are his wife and Tommy, while Mrs Armstrong is accompanying her husband.

Following the Dieppe raid, both Mr Armstrong and Mr Hill were prisoners of German Stalag 8B for 18 months before being transferred to another prisoner-of-war camp in September on the Baltic coast. They re-patriated upon the conclusion of the war.

Legion Pony Tournament Draws Large Crowds

Close to 800 baseball fans were in the stands for the final game of the Lacombe Legion's third annual pony league baseball tournament to see the Lacombe Legionnaires defeat the highly touted Vegreville squad 10-3 to become the first local team ever to win this tournament.

Sixteen squads from all parts of the province played on Lacombe and Blackfalds baseball diamonds Saturday and Sunday, with good crowds turning out at both parks to see some sparkling ball.

There were highlights galore in the games the Stan Simpson of the Lacombe Maple Leafs pitching a no hitter into the seventh inning, before weakening to allow two Alix runs in the final inning (Maple Leafs won 3-2).

It was a spectacular tournament all through nothing but praise from players and fans alike for the quality of baseball displayed.

Scores of the various games: Lacombe Legionnaires 6, Blackfalds 2 (Ghost Pine 8 Olive 5, Drumheller 7, Bentley 4, Taber 6, St. Albert 3, Deltaone 10, Blairmore 2, Dixie 8, Blackfalds 6, Lacombe Maple Leafs 3, Alix 2, Vegreville 8, Forest Lawn 6;

Delta 9, Deltaone 9, Vegreville 13, Maple Leafs 3, Legionnaires 6, Ghost Pine 9, Taber 0, Legionnaires 7, Taber 6, Vegreville 11, Delta 4.

The final game was a dandy. The two teams swapped a run apiece in each of the first two innings, and the count was knotted at 2-2 before the locals went ahead on a couple of timely hits, then won going away as the Vegreville defence collapsed and the locals counted five big runs to wrap it up.

Support The Flower Show

ANNUAL flower shows are in the . . . field in the locality this week at Lacombe on August 23 and at Alix on August 24.

Both these shows sponsored by the local garden club and Alix branch of that club are well worth the public's time and interest.

They display vegetables and flowers and fruits from some of the best gardens in the province.

In some cases, the exhibits may give the viewer a momentary feeling of inferiority when he compares their with the produce grown in his own back yard but all in all the altra items are most worthwhile. They prove what a variety of garden stuffs can be raised in central Alberta.

The season has been a particularly good one since the opening days of spring so the entries in the different classes are expected to be above average this year.

Of course it is the thing to be an onlooker and another to be an exhibitor. But in communities like Alix and Lacombe, the two types must be in one and the entire person to make a success of the show.

So cast an eye around the garden and pick out the best for competition. It doesn't matter whether you win with it or not, it does help swell the number in contributions and make a better flower show.

Lend your support to the Alix and Lacombe flower show in a matter if not as an active participant

Foggy Speeches

WHEN a newsman is reporting a story for the paper, he tries to include the most important information in the lead sentence, the next most pertinent in the second paragraph and so down the length of the article. The trivia is relegated to the end.

This writing technique is followed for two reasons one, the reader's time is limited and he wants to learn the meat of the subject after scanning the headline and the first couple of sentences with the option of picking up further details in the balance of the article if he desires, and two for the sake of the news typographer who can throw out the last paragraph of a story in a tight column without fear of destroying the thread of the contents.

In normal news coverage of events the style is exactly followed. In the case of reporting the text of a speech, difficulties sometimes arise because of the method employed and because of limited space

It is no simple matter to condense a 60-minute address of a speaker into five inches of single column type

In the first place the reporter must use his best judgment in selecting the keynote of the talk for his news "lead". What he chooses is often at variance with what the speaker was trying to get across. This is the result of a muddled and fuzzy presentation

Then again the writer must of necessity ignore a good deal of subject matter in favor of other speech references which he considers more important. Direct quotations are favored, to reduce the chance of error.

The speaker, however, may have intended to leave a different impression with the audience and failed.

He charges the newspaper with "misquoting," with "quoting out of context" etc.

Usually a well-qualified reporter is not guilty The so-called erroneous report is caused by the speakers' foggy thinking

The United Nations

THE United Nations is going through strenuous times and stresses, as native countries in Africa and Asia strive for independence before they are ready to accept the responsibilities of self-government

It is one of the objects of the United Nations to be an instrument of peaceful change In the Congo, for example, the people who have shown a spirit of aggressive nationalism and racialism Both have been aggravated and exploited by Communism

Russia is not helping to promote the principles of the UN, but rather undermining them by contributing to international confusion and strife

As Britain a foreign secretary Lord Home, stated in a public address last month.

The United Nations is not only a fine idea, it is a man-made institution Man is a mixture of good and bad and one aspect of history is certainly the failure of his institutions to match his ideals."

The United Nations is struggling along with a charter that should demand the support of all nations because it is man's best and perhaps only prospect for world peace.

The goal is hardly possible when the UN has become little more than a sounding board for two great world powers holding the right of veto.

Only the weight of world opinion from all the nations sitting in the assembly can hold either the Soviet Union or the United States in check.

The conclusion of Lord Home's speech hits the mark

"If the members of the assembly who are tempted to let emotion rule their judgment will discard passion and prejudice for principles, then the United Nations can still be the instrument of peace for which under the charter it was designed."

Reflections of the Times

A revolution in shopping habits has been causing painful adjustments among small retail merchants and butter contraves in many Canadian communities

The spread of the shopping centre with its chain retailers department stores and discount houses, has disrupted traditional patterns of retail buying and selling. . . .

The mass merchants, depend largely on mass-land shoppers who pack a week's purchases into a one shot excursion after the man in the family is home from work.

The small merchant whose business depends on the more casual trade of day shopping in the heart of the community is alarmed by the invasion of the big retailers.

The friction caused by the competition often find expression in disputes over store-closing hours. The shopping centre merchant must keep his store open in the evening to make the most of excessive buying. Longer hours for the small merchant are likely to result in his own life or narrow his profit if he lures more staff

The general result is that the small, established merchants resist the invasion by the big chains by fighting later store-closing hours in their municipal councils or in the courts.

But the fight often seems to be a rear-guard action The mass merchants generally have been successful in creating a trend toward a longer retailing week

In big urban centres like Toronto, few binding regulations governing store closing remain among the city bylaws Many stores ignore even statutory holidays

The small retailer can hardly be blamed for feeling overwhelmed by the competition of the shopping centre and the discount chain

But while the mass merchandising revolution is a fact the little man and his small store are far from finished

The big cities where the shopping revolution was launched within the last decade are showing signs of reaction against mass buying The small merchant is gaining in on the change.

To the shopper jaded by the big impersonal market place — with its emphasis on self-service, impulse buying and automation — the midtown specialty shop and the corner grocery store are beginning to seem as warm and satisfying as the country general store with sawdust on the floor and pot-belly stove in the corner.

Pickle Potatoes

If you want to brighten next January's meals with crisp pickles and spicy relishes, make them now with garden fresh vegetables. A few points to keep in mind are:

1. Use only those fruits and vegetables that are fresh and firm. You can use fruit which is slightly under-ripe.

2. Use good quality salt (strength — about 3 tablespoons salt will give a better color to light colored foods. Avoid iodized salt as it may darken cauliflower and cucumbers. Try mild cider and blended vinegars to add a distinctive flavor to pickles and relishes.

3. For strong, a solution of salt, vinegar or sugar used at the beginning of the pickling will retain the pickles for shriveled up into hard, tough pieces. To prevent soft pickles, use fresh spices and vinegar for each batch. Pickles made with too much vinegar may become sour.

4. Use tubs or crocks for pickling. Pickles made with iron or copper or galvanized iron or brass pails become discolored. Wash and scald crocks and utensils, using thoroughly.

5. Store your pickles in a cool, dry place. Pickles will keep best in the dark.

6. Always let pickles stand at least a month before using them. Pickles improve with age.

7. The weak brine on the pickles may be used to pickle cucumbers, peppers, cauliflower, onions, green tomatoes, etc. Just add a little fresh brine to the weak brine and pour over the vegetables.

8. Use a 10 per cent brine (for mixed pickles) — 1 pound of salt dissolved in 8 pints of water. The purpose of this brine is to draw out water and make pickles firmer.

9. For crisp pickles, avoid slightly but never cook.

10. Use fresh whole spices for canning spices lose their strength and flavor if stored in bulk. Tie them loosely in a cheese cloth bag, cook them with the vinegar then remove.

11. Use table or coarse salt for pickling. Table salts with iodine will cause cloudy liquids and sediment.

12. Always let pickles stand at least a month before using them.

Bowling Alley For Lacombe

Plans are being formulated to build a six-lane bowling alley equipped with automatic pin setters, in the town of Lacombe.

D. William Pedersen attended the town council meeting Monday night to submit changes in proposals in connection with additions to the back alley behind the Pedersen Motors block which would accommodate the bowling alley.

A outstanding fun man was Wally Bowes of Calgary, representing J. M. Chetkowski who operates bowling alleys at Calgary, Edmonton and Banff.

Pedersen told council that he also proposes to enter into a retail lease with a jewellery store on the premises occupied by Kerr's Jewellers at the front of the building.

It would be the first bowling alley in Lacombe since the Lacombe bowling alley owned by W. Mitchell burned in the basement of the old memorial recreation centre back in 1961.

Summer days are waning, and first preparations for the annual civic election in October were made by town council at the regular meeting Monday night

If an election for the two council seats is necessary it will be held three weeks after nominations day — on Wednesday October 17.

Pass By Laws

Council had a fairly light business agenda, with deputy mayor L. O. Hittle in the chair.

Given the required three readings were two by laws authorizing the town to proceed with street improvements on 50 (Bernett) avenue

By-law D76 provides for an expenditure of $10,203 from current revenue for construction of curbs, gutters and sidewalks on the north side of the avenue from 52 to 50 street, and on the south side to the C & E trail

By-law D77 provides for an expenditure of $2,347 from current revenue for construction of curb and gutter on the south side of the avenue from the C & E trail.

The by-laws being done under the local improvements plan, 25% of the costs will be charged to the property fronting the avenue, and 60% of the costs to ratepayers flanking the avenue in question.

Other expenditures approved were strips of land from private owners on the south side of the avenue from the C & E trail, to ensure uniformity in the width of the road on the western town limits.

Old Building Demolished

Councillor Will Hunt advised that the vacated premises formerly occupied by the Carry Cafe on 47 (Railroad) street would have to be demolished, on order of fire commissioner A. E. Rodgers

Road Repairs

Councillor Ivan Stonehocker informed council that repairs to the main road at Lacombe's jubilee stadium were completed this week by Perpetual Roads Ltd of Edmonton.

He wanted to know if council was agreeable to have the lemon done at the same time thoughthe Rodgers dressing rooms and official are engaged.

The further question of adding a coat of crush rock on the road was discussed, and it was agreed to give the road three years more to see if it is necessary.

Miscellaneous

Some difficulty is being experienced in having the poles installed along 50 ave on a proper station basis, because some

Citizens are classed at night and on Sunday as trespassers, due to investigate the feasibility of using bulk gas supplier to public work vehicles which might save $15 or $20 a month."

Middle East Force Turns to Camel

During project planning works officer Capt Mervyn Palmer of Vancouver and foreman of works Sgt George Grundy of Peterborough and Chilliwack found no tree for military vehicles unless a one-quarter metal track was laid down as a makeshift road. With the aims of using a camel in its age-old role of hauling materials, the two Canadians turned a costly project into a cheap and simple task. Once the idea was approved, Sgt Grundy had no time in arranging the lure of the animal and its Bedouin driver.

United Nations Emergency Force Engineers have to passed the modern age by forme a camel to assist in an engineering project. And the result saves time and money. The job was to prepare the airfield Khan Yunis rifle range for the annual UNEF competition in September.

Little League Maple Leafs Win Four Games in Week

The "little league" Maple Leafs played their wind-up baseball games of the season during the past week

The Leafs upset the Bentley squad 8-5 at Bentley last Wednesday and walloped Clive 14-1 at Lacombe last Thursday.

On Saturday they came from behind to edge the Forest Lawn (Calgary) Bluejays 6-4 on a game played here Tuesday. The Leafs are in Calgary for a return engagement with the Bluejays.

Over the week end the young stars won on a "Dad vs. son" game The score? No one — quite sure — and the Dads are talking.

Loot Removed in Break-In at Alix

ALIX — Irvine Petersen's 1-31 service station was the target of vandals who forced entry into the office on Wednesday night of last week. They took whatever cash they could locate.

Among those home from vacation trips are Mr. M. Newton and grandson Roger Dean, Mrs. Sam and Mrs. Robert Phillips and family and Mr. and Mrs. E. Holowatuk.

Mrs. Fred Karbas (nee Mary Jackson) of San Diego, Calif., visited recently with Mrs. Barbara Foster and other friends of former years.

Remember the September WI meeting at the home of Mrs. Belle Pulsipher on Wednesday, Sept. 5. Roll call is sample of preserves with attached recipes.

To Leave Alix

Mrs. Ernestine Dull, who has been a member of the Beryl Band staff for some time, has accepted employment with the band in her home town of Fairview. Band plans to make her move at the end of August. We wish her all the best in this exchange. Wednesday night of last week Mrs. Dull was guest of honor at a farewell party at the Beryl Band hall.

Mrs. Fred Karbas (nee Mary Jackson) of San Diego, Calif., visited recently with Mrs. Barbara Foster and other friends of former years.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hrynyk spent last week in Banff where the former was busy with ATA conference sessions.

Meterologist members, please start thinking. The roll call on Thursday, Sept. 13, will be answered with your comments on the flower show suggestions heeds or bouquets especially the first on the list are requested

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Miles Loughridge on the birth of a son in the Lacombe hospital last week.

Lucky Fellow!

We hope, Roy, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Alf Bascombe, is as lucky in his undertakings as indicated by the clover leafs. Last week he found a five, a seven, and a 10 leaf clover. The 10 was almost a flower, with well-shaped leaflets arranged in three tiers.

Mrs. Bascombe also had an interesting find when she picked up the most perfectly-shaped arrowhead that was uncovered in the excavation of the basement. One wonders what historical incidents are connected with it.

Chad Thorpe of Massey, B.C., was a guest at the F. Rouse home when he renewed friendships in the village and district

Aged Lady Ill

Mrs. Boland and Mrs. H. Bateman were called to Red Deer on Thursday by the serious condition of sister and aunt, Mrs. A. Bloxy, who has been a patient in the Red Deer hospital for the past week.

Seven Cents a Copy

ON September 1, increase in the yearly subscription rate of The Globe from $3.00 to $3.50 goes into effect.

While it is true that the main source of revenue in a newspaper does not come from paper sales, the income is a steady and cumulative one in reality the change made for any publication of newspaper or magazine — is pitifully small, and out of all proportion to the time involved.

The advertiser makes up the difference, and it has always been the policy of publishers to sell their product for a pittance in order to encourage a large circulation which in turn guarantees the advertiser better returns for his money.

There are signs that some publishers are trying to strike a better balance between circulation charges and operating costs. No longer is it possible to buy a paper for one or two pennies, as it was in large cities before the war. Now the single copy price is no less than a nickel; up to 15 and 20 cents for week end editions.

Most weekly publishers continue to drag their feet, when it comes to raising subscription rates, including The Globe. There hasn't been a change here in over five years, despite steadily upward creeping costs for machinery, maintenance, repairs, and labor over this period. The advertiser can be expected to absorb only so much of the increase

The new subscription price of $3.50 per year represents only seven cents per copy — less than the cost of a cup of coffee We hope you will agree with us that it's still a good buy!

Labor Day

LABOR day is next Monday, and like most national holidays the significance and purpose of Labor day has become lost in the public mind.

To most of us it means the last holiday week end of the summer, another high accident toll on busy highways, and the beginning of a new school term

Labor day is the day set aside in recognition of the labor force of Canada. It is supposed to be a day of rest. Usually he's working just the same, on unfinished chores around the house, or risking his neck on the highways grimly bent on reaching a destination, or acting as host to visitors.

The picture of labor on the home front is not a rosy one The country is in a state of economic unrest, with opposing forces promising prosperity and depression.

The number of unemployed is up, reflecting the influx of new workers as school graduates join the labor force, and threatens to rise with the end of temporary summer jobs

There are long range factors that tend to make labor officials nervous and apprehensive The inroads of automation in industry are cancelling out positions formerly filled by laborers

As the economy slows down, the number of available jobs diminishes at a time when the labor supply is growing faster than ever, now that war-time babies are reaching the labor market

Despite these conditions, Canada enjoys a high standard of living The gross national product — the sum total of all goods and services produced in the country — continues to rise. In many facets of the economy involving labor, Canada is forging ahead.

These are the things labor prefers to concentrate on the approach of Labor day, 1962

Coin Collectors

EVER since a Winnipeg bank teller discovered a 1921 Canadian fifty-cent piece in a batch of change, for which she was offered several thousand dollars, public interest in coins has quickened

Many articles have been written recently on the value of coins now rarely seen in circulation A 1921 nickel comes to mind, for example This piece is in short supply because not too many were minted that year Today, a 1921 nickel is worth something like $75.00

There are thousands of coin collectors across Canada, who have followed the line as a hobby

With the latest publicity, estimates place the number of sudden-to-be amateur enthusiasts in the hundreds of thousands

They have no real interest in coins, outside of turning a penny into a buck, or a silver dollar into a fifty-dollar bill because of the date on the back

They're not hobby collectors, but "get-rich-quick" hopefuls.

Just watch how many people scan the change in their pockets as they walk down the street. Hope springs eternal!

Nominations Invited

DO you know of some boy or girl in the district, 16 years of age or less who has fulfilled an achievement under duress or under difficult circumstances? If so, pass the information on to The Globe

Such a youngster, for some unheralded act, may qualify for the "junior citizen of the year" award sponsored by the Calgary Power Ltd.

As the power company says, "the area of qualification is virtually unlimited — acts of physical heroism, exceptional courage in illness, scholastic success under adverse conditions, etc."

The awards are designed "to give exceptional junior citizens the recognition they deserve, and to further the spread of good citizenship among today's young people."

Nominations from our readers are invited, with the closing date for entries across the province September 29 Results of the final judging will be announced at the end of October Let us hear from you.

VERSATILE FARM VEHICLE

Vandals Monday night did an estimated three hundred dollars damage to the Grand Prairie memorial arena, and slight damage to tractors on a nearby equipment company lot with spray paint cans.

Using the paint, they ran through the arena spraying walls, floor, lights, pictures and chairs. Crossing the street to Jack Deltombe Ltd., Farm Equipment dealers, the vandals sprayed the headlights of two tractors on the lot.

"The paint was easily removed," Mr Deltombe said. "We had it all off before we knew anything else had been touched."

Over at the arena, the situation was much worse There was paint everywhere On the walls, the vandals had written obscene and vulgar pictures and had drawn lines along the woodwork

Painters yesterday began the arduous task of cleaning the walls A paint remover was required to clean in many places.

DIES AFTER FIRE

After battling flames to escape from the basement of his burning home, and summoning neighbors to help extinguish the blaze which is believed to have started when an oil heater exploded James Mohler of Obaton died early Monday morning at the home of his grandson, Donnie Mohler who farms near Obaton

Indications are that Mr Mohler who walked with the aid of two canes, had tried unsuccessfully to escape from the basement, where he had been sleeping, through a small window and was then forced to make his way through the flames up the basement stairs

He somehow managed to get into his car and drive to the home of neighbors, Mr and Mrs Herman Jacobs He awakened them by sounding his car horn, and then drove back to his home to help fight the blaze

Shortly afterward other neighbors arrived on the scene to help fight the fire until the Camrose fire brigade arrived

Meanwhile, Mr Mohler had been taken to Donnie Mahler's home, where the effects of his ordeal overcame him, and his heart failed before the doctor arrived

Yellowing in Barley

Although yellowing in barley is very often attributed to excessive moisture, there are other factors which also cause this condition. Among these are root rot diseases and too heavy nitrogen application. straw into the soil.

According to Dr W F Shorepaid associate professor of plant pathology at the University of Alberta, this root rot disease can be controlled by a system of crop rotation. Wheat and barley must not be grown in sequence for more than three years because the root rot organism attacks wheat just as readily as barley. Many farmers plant oats wheat and barley followed by summerfallow but Dr Shorepaid recommends preceding the summerfallow with an oat crop The reason for this is that it takes two years for the root rot organism to starve itself out of the soil

In the case of too heavy straw incorporation, it appears that the nitrifying bacteria concentrate on the straw instead of releasing nitrogen for plant use. The addition of nitrogen fertilizer in such cases is frequently necessary to overcome this condition. Straw should be disced under rather than plowed under. Before doing so, however, farmers should spread a little fertilizer on the soil. The application of either 10 to 15 pounds actual of 15 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre is a step in correct this condition

New Plan Out

The plan provides Leader Cooperative Fertilizers and grower organization with a complete range of liquid nitrogen solutions, starting from 15 pounds of nitrogen per acre bank. Research by the Alberta Department of Agriculture recommends preceding the summerfallow with an oat crop The reason for this is that it takes two years for the root rot organism to starve itself out of the soil

Holiday Week End Warnings From National Safety League

Favorite Labor day outings are canoes, fishing trips, boating and swimming Unfortunately, these activities also have fatal consequences each year Drownings lead the list.

About one-thirds of the drownings each year are not of swimmers, but of persons who fall into the water from boats, piers, bridges etc, fully clothed Swimming and water sports are unnecessary risk when they go unsupervised or unprotected areas of lakes and rivers.

The national safety league of Canada asks everyone to follow these tips on water safety

Supervise children playing or near water

Swim and boat only with companions never alone

Provide each person in the boat with an approved life preserver.

Should the boat swamp or capsize, stay with it Wait for help or push and tow it toward shore

The league reminds those who plan to spend the week end at home not to leave their safe environment at work Friday The safe way of doing anything is the right way anywhere

Jelly-Making Difficulties

Homemade jelly is a favourite family treat all during the year Jelly that does not turn out is an expensive disappointment The greatest cause of failure is the use of too much sugar An excess causes a soft jelly, a great excess results in a syrup

Soft jelly may also be the result of insufficient cooking, too much or too little acid lack of pectin or prolonged boiling with accompanying hydrolysis of the pectin

Tough jelly may be due to the use of too little sugar too much pectin and overcooking

Cloudy jelly is usually due to improper extraction Straining the juice through a coarse cloth or squeezing while straining allows some of the pulp to pass through with the juice Sometimes green fruit or fruit partially frozen is the cause of the cloudiness in the juice

Tough jelly does not ferment as readily However, jelly that does not set or jelly that once sets and later liquefies may ferment

Sourness or "sweeping" of jelly is frequently the result of using a juice too high in acid content Jellies made with pectin concentrates sometimes weep

Crystallization in jelly is most frequently the result of too great a concentration of sugar Usually it occurs in jelly low in acid and often when sugar is added near the end of the cooking period, resulting in little or no inversion taking place Crystallization is not likely to occur if the sugar has been originally properly prepentioned to the pectin in the juice and if the resulting jelly has been properly sealed up

Cream of tartar crystals frequently occur on grape jelly Allowing juice to stand twelve to fourteen hours and decanting or straining the cold juice before making the jelly often removes enough of the cream of tartar to prevent the formation of these crystals in the jelly

Strong flavour and dark color are usually the result of too long a cooking period For the correct method of preparing jelly and for some interesting recipes why don't you write for our pamphlet "Jams Jellies and Pickles"

Clive Congregation Gathers For Anniversary Church Service

WESTLING August 19 was a red-letter day at the Seven Lutheran church at Clive when the congregation celebrated the diamond anniversary of the church. Ninety-five people signed the guest book, as three former ministers took part in the service. Rev. Otto Eklund of Camrose, Pastor Alfred Franzen of Bladeburg, Iowa, Pastor John Arvidson, Westlawin.

Pastor David Bober of Edmonton, district president, extended greetings and two letters from former pastors were happily received.

Program for the special occasion outlined a brief history of the 60-year-old church, as follows:

"The first Lutherans to arrive were Erich Westling and Per or Wickesberg and their families who came from Lake Lillie's Minnesota and arrived in Lacombe on July 14, 1899.

"Erich Westling took up a homestead north of Urquhart Post Office and later donated three acres of this land for a church and cemetery. The nearby settlement later was known as Valley City before being changed to Clive by the CPR in 1912. The public school district here was given the Westling name.

"The previously unsettled district soon became populated. The early settlers nearby included other Swedish-speaking families of Lutheran faith and upon their arrival they felt the need of the church and worship services.

Baron R. Lucheran church was organized in the home of Martin Monson and family on August 5, 1901. The meeting was presided over by Rev A J Rydén. The following persons joined the newly organized congregation as charter members: Mr and Mrs Erich Westberg and son Axel, Mr and Mrs Martin Monson Mr and Mrs Fred Westling Mrs Anna Wickenberg and daughters Jane and Amelia.

"Two charter members are still living: Mr. Axel Westling still lives in the community and is an active member of the church Amelia Wickenberg now Mrs George Haverstock, lives in Castor, Alberta.

Various pastors and students came and conducted services in the pioneer homes, and worship services were conducted each Sunday — usually by "Grandpa" Westling.

At the annual meeting of the congregation in 1906, it was decided to erect a church and the following six members were elected to serve on the building committee: Olof Wahn, Fred Westling, Olof Strandberg, Martin Monson John Erick Westling and Erick Westling.

The church was constructed by donated time, money and material, logs from the nearby trees, lumber from the sawmill and hard work. Accumulation of funding these events, the Lacombe church was built and for many rough years and during the period when there was no church, worship services were conducted in homes, school houses, community halls and other suitable places. Despite hardships and difficulties, the church was completed and dedicated on December 15, 1907.

"The parish has undergone changes during the years, but worship services have been held regularly with the exception of the years during the depression when there was no pastor. Services were conducted by lay readers and students.

"The church was constructed by Rev Clifford Lindgren of U.S.A. and Rev Carlos Holmen at New Westminster, B.C.

Guests from out of the district were from Red Deer, Calgary, Edberg, Meeting Creek, Edmonton, Bentley, Lacombe, Blackfalds, Innisfree, Bashaw, Wetaskiwin and Ponoka.

Role of dedication of the new sanctuary windows was given by Pastor D. I. Müller, the present minister from Meeting Creek. Mrs. Clive Knight sang "The Lord's Prayer" and a quartet of Rev. Müller Deora Lee, Fred Knight and Dirk Bekhuis, rendered "He the pearly gates will open."

Following the service every one shared in fellowship over a pot luck supper served on the lawn.

Prevo Riders Perform

PREVO — R. Carlyle is to be highly commended for his work with the boys and girls in the Blindman Valley riding club. He has put in a lot of time and effort with the members, who have appeared in many fairs and horse shows this year. They have presented their colorful musical ride at Red Deer, Olds, Bonnie Blackfalds, Bentley and Lacombe with much favorable comment.

The boys and girls wear white hats and white shirts with red fringe on their backs, and carry guns.

Mr. Carlyle and Mr. Stephenson wear red shirts with white fringe and carry large Union Jacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lee and family of Hanover, B.C., visited at the J. Burt home.

About thirty relatives gathered at the E. Pickering home to celebrate Leslie Pickering and cousin Jimmy Larsen's birthday. It was a rainy Sunday so the beach picnic was cancelled for a home party. There were visitors from Miller and Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Carlyle were several visitors to Edmonton where they met Mrs. D. Suggett. Her son Jack returned with the Carlyles for a few days.

Les Hunter of Sylvan Lake and Billy Cameron of Edmonton spent a few days visiting their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. J. Hunterman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilkins have gone to B.C. on a short holiday trip.

90% of all oil company product research in Canada is done by Imperial

At Sarnia, Ontario, and Calgary, Alberta, Imperial operates the largest petroleum research laboratories in Canada. At Sarnia, the company's scientists and technicians are working to improve present products and to develop new ones. Their research covers many fields, from gasolines to household detergents. At Calgary, Imperial research personnel are exploring means to find and produce more Canadian crude oil and natural gas. Imperial does more research than all other oil companies in Canada combined.

Proven Grain Varieties Best, Says Experimental Farm Cereal ist

If you are growing grain, stay with the recommended varieties. That's a suggestion from Dr. M. L. Kaufmann, cerealist at the Lacombe experimental farm. There is little chance these days, he advised a farmer producing something better than varieties recommended by scientists engaged in this work.

Plant breeders, plant pathologists entomologists geneticists and members of the plant products service of the Canada department of agriculture are constantly working for improvement. Yield, maturity disease resistance and lodging resistance are some of the requirements.

Every year the researchers get together, discuss their results and recommend varieties for given areas. Some seasons vary, at least three years of superior performance are required before approval can be considered.

It is money to carry on this work, for more than the individual can afford. That's why it has become a federal responsibility. Even then the task is often good-looking lines are being continually discarded. Even though they may have certain points they lack the all round performance of varieties that are from year to year recommended.

It's interesting to try something new occasionally and there's a temptation to bring in a handful of grain for planting or to pay a big price for varieties recommended elsewhere. Save your time and money, advises Dr. Kaufmann. Leave the breeding to the men trained for the job. Watch those recommendations and take advantage of the work they are doing for you.

A point to remember is that even though a variety has been increased in Canada it may not be suitable for your locality. If in doubt, consult your nearest experimental farm cerealist or you.

Dr. M. L. KAUFMANN

On hay and pastureland FALL - APPLIED FERTILIZER GOES TO WORK EARLIER AND FASTER NEXT SPRING

This fall, when you have more time and better weather, broadcast Elephant Brand fertilizer on your hay and pastureland before freeze-up.

Plant food can penetrate soft ground easier and as it is carried right down to the root zone it becomes available to feed the plant as soon as growth starts in the spring.

Make the extra profits that other farmers do on their pastures — an average of $11.65 per acre.* Livestock can be pastured earlier when hay and pastureland are fall-fertilized with Elephant Brand. You have more time and better weather, too.

Make more money from extra meat and milk this year.

See your Elephant Brand dealer soon.

*Based on results from '59, '60 and '61 Elephant Brand Demonstration Farms.

Experimental Farm Trout Pond Now Open To Adult Fishing

The trout pond at the experimental farm, opened all summer to junior-age anglers, has now been thrown open to adult fishing, fish and game president Fred Dobberstein told The Globe yesterday.

Five hundred fish were placed in the pond this spring, and Mr. Dobberstein has no idea of how many are left. "But it should be fished out this fall before freeze-up, since the fish cannot winter in the waters of the pond anyway."

Pool Closed For Season

Lacombe's heated swimming pool closed doors on Monday after a successful summer, just one week shy of six months.

Councillor Ivan Stonehocker at Monday night's council meeting said that although it was originally planned to carry on swimming at the pool through to September 15, the weather was not encouraging, and Sunday's attendance was poor.

He brought councillors up to date on operating costs at the pool. As at the end of August expenditures totalled $5,853.00 compared with revenue of $3,777.05, leaving a net loss of $2,075.95.

Councillor Stonehocker noted quite a total operating loss to September 10 of "around $3,000," compared to an estimated figure in the budget of $1,500.

In commenting on the difficulties councillor Wes Jackson stated, "I think the pool operation was a success." He noted that eight pools in Calgary cost $40,000, or a net loss of $5,000 per pool.

Everyone agreed that the number of persons taking advantage of swimming (just under 500, see page 14) was "encouraging." The cool, rainy summer was certainly not conducive to swimming, mayor Ben Gordon said.

Council, however, has already also made a grant of $300 in the budget, and did not deem it wise to change the figure.

It seemed better suited to the town to undertake the "adequate sanitizing of streets and buildings in Lacombe" and to erect signs pointing out landmarks like the museum.

Since this item was considered by the Recreation Board only about seven years ago, many of the street numbers on corner posts have become worn and are not recognizable

Council has investigated the cost of the project, and a sum of $1,000 will be considered and "possibly included" in 1963 estimates.

Home Site Wanted

Applications for building permits for four new residences were approved:

To Dale Neufeld and Leo Pepper, on the Vic Pepper sub-division, each about $11,000; to Mrs. Copron, on the Ellis property south of the hospital, about $6,700; and to W. C. Anderson, on the Evans property opposite the school.

A permit to Webb Primell to erect a garage near the curling rink was refused, as a commercial venture in a residential zone.

Approval was given to the Lutheran church to move church building from Edmonton to a lot in Lacombe on the Pepper subdivision Building inspector O. S. Young has agreed the structure

Bus Posting Problem

Councillor Nels Miller noted

Thought For the Week...

Human character is a compound of time and patience

First Snow

First snow of the season fell on Lacombe and district on Friday morning, but it was gone within 36 hours. The morning's flakes melted as soon as they hit the ground.

If local residents felt lucky at having the snow which was piled in ditches in southern Albert they didn't escape further heavy rains this week that again delayed harvesting.

A total of one and a half inches of rain was measured at the experimental farm on Monday and Tuesday and grey landscapes this morning didn't offer much hope of relief

The precipitation will improve [illegible] conditions which were depleted to last year's drought, but later operations have been at a virtual stand still all week long.

Pay Hike Requested By County Bus Drivers

Bus drivers serving schools in the county of Lacombe want more pay.

A delegation of four attended Tuesday morning of the Lacombe committee on the county office — Ken Urquhart and Dennis Rose of Lacombe, and Josh Schieder and Bill Mink of Eckville.

They requested an increase of $1.00 per day to the present rate of $10.00.

Chairman Arthur Wigmore of Blackfalds explained the delegation that a $1.00 per day increase would cost the county $10,000 a year.

The matter was tabled for further considerations, and at the same time the committee will endeavour to obtain in writing information on bus driver salaries in surrounding counties.

Police report

Police report the August un[illegible] were down from July, reported, in turn reported to Calgary Power". total time due to the latter for the first eight months $6,060.00

Lecture of thanks to council were read from Loretta Miller who obtained a license medical [illegible] from employment at the swimming pool for two months, and from Shirley Rose, who spent five months at Camrose from the department of recreation, cultural development, where qualities her as a recreation [illegible]

Councillor Stonehocker reported that repairs to the arena roof are complete, and it was decided to postpone an aluminum paint job.

Councillor Jackson reported that work on widening 50 (Bernard) avenue was proceeding satisfactorily. The main public works program is preparatory to hard-surfacing in 1963.

Lacombe Indoor Rodeo On September 28-29

Lacombe Kinsmen's third annual indoor rodeo will be staged at jubilee stadium on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 28, 29, with a Lacombe district children will be invited to participate in special events including pony chuckwagon races, a greased pig contest, and girls' barrel racing.

In addition, spectators will be treated to a first-class musical show presented by talented members of the Blindmoss Valley riding club.

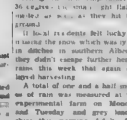
All this is in addition to the regular rodeo events featuring top cowboys in the rodeo circuit: saddle bronc riding, calf roping, wild cow milking, and Brahma bull riding.

Prize money of $1,500 is offered, so the boys will be playing for keeps.

Kinsmen have announced another innovation — an old-time dance on Friday night at the Lacombe hotel following the rodeo. Teena Boy's six-piece orchestra and Red Deer will provide the music.

Reserve seats for the rodeo go on sale this week, and may be purchased from Al's Electric at Lacombe or Vold's Auction Mart at Penoka.

Rodeo committee chairmen are J. Martin, secretary; Owen Bishop, arena manager; Eddie Mah Pay, concessions; and Al Berube, ticket sales. The new local rodeo club have agreed to take charge of parking.



AL WALOSHKA

Gull Lake Level Still Topic

An inquiry to Hon. A. R. Patrick requesting information on any new developments or special plans for raising the level of Gull Lake will be made by the board of trade and agriculture following an executive meeting held at the Lacombe Hotel last Friday morning.

"We would like to know what is being done", president Al Lee mentioned to sum up the roundtable discussion, "and I think a strongly supported to present government plans should be made so that we will have something definite to report at the next general meeting."

Secretary-manager Roy Sturgeon was directed to write the letter to the local M.L.A. and provincial secretary.

The executive faced a lengthy agenda for the meeting. Among the many topics discussed briefly:

Numbering of streets and avenues in town within more suitable signs; other direction signs on town streets for the hospital, L.M.C., Gull Lake, etc.; bringing up to date and reserving name plates for district farms.

These matters will be referred to a general meeting of the board of trade and agriculture membership to be held in the near future.

Business Days Promotion

It was agreed that a complete report on the summer "Bonanza Days" promotion would also be prepared for the same meeting.

Following presentation of the committee's report, time will be set aside for discussion of the event, airing of complaints and consideration of suggestions for any future town-wide promotion

It was agreed that the Alberta Government Telephones should be written to suggest telephone subscribers of the Clive area who have already petitioned AGT for a toll-free telephone service to Lacombe

Other matters dealt with briefly included town street-lighting and Christmas season, the spring 4-H club project and the financial statement sponsored the tour Jack G Gesner of Lacombe, Ken Ludden from Saskatoon Clyde Reichelt of the Great Falls (Montana) Tribune, Ken Liddell, Calgary Herald. Other newsmen on the trip were George Meyers of the Camrose Canadian, represented the Alberta weekly newspapers association and Bill Power of the Edmonton Journal. The visitors were entertained by the town council at a noon luncheon, at which representatives of the Lacombe Board of Trade were present. The tour included visits and stops at the College Servitium factory, the Lacombe Plus service, the experimental farm and the Mosquito-Fullmer Tent Co.

Funeral Tuesday For E. E. Lee, Pioneer Farmer

Ernest (John) Eugene Lee passed away at his residence in Lacombe on Friday, September 7, 1962, at the age of 68.

Funeral services were held from Evenside chapel on Tuesday with Rev. B. H. Thackeray in charge. Interment was at the Alix Rest cemetery in Red Deer.

The deceased was born in Wallaceburg, Ont. on May 23, 1894 and moved to Alberta with his parents in 1908, where he farmed until 1930 when he moved to Lacombe.

He continued farming here to 1950, moved to Leslieville for two years, then returned to Lacombe where he worked at various jobs since.

He is survived by his wife, Mabel; two sons, Ernest of Blackfalds, and Kenneth of Lacombe; five daughters, Mrs. E. Nunn of Kakabeka Falls, Ont.; Mrs. R. Hunt of Lacombe, Mrs. V. Hewitt of Chinook Valley, Mrs. W. Waddon of Clive, and Ruth at home; one brother, Arthur of Lacombe, and 23 grandchildren.

He was predeceased by one son, Arthur, in 1960.

Pallbearers for the funeral were all old friends of the deceased:

Jim Kolitsky Jr., Jim Miller, Russ Hendry, Fred Trout, Harold Kyle and Rod Bell.

School Building Plans Laid For '63

A projected 1963 school building program that would include construction at Alix, Bentley, Blackfalds and Satinwood was discussed in its initial aspects at a meeting of the educational committee in the county office on Tuesday.

The extent of the building at each point was left to the building committee, but it is expected that there will be a minimum of two new classrooms at Alix, four at Bentley, two at Blackfalds, and a staff room at Satinwood.

The building committee was given authority to hire Bell and McCulloch, architects from Edmonton, to prepare sketch plans for additions at Alix, Bentley and Satinwood; and Bissell & Holman, architects from Red Deer, to prepare plans for Blackfalds.

These plans are to be ready not later than October 1.

An estimate of costs at this time will allow the committee to work out a prospective figure for debenture.

Present at the meeting was Dr. J. W. Chalmers, director of school administration, from the provincial government at Edmonton.

Committee chairman Arthur Wigmore outlined to Dr. Chalmers the pressing need for school accommodation at various points in the county:

At Alix — One grade three class is now housed in the Masonic hall, where there are no washroom facilities and the heating is inadequate. Two more classrooms will allow for evacuation of the hall, and look after anticipated expansion next year. The school also needs a gymnasium, and Dr. Chalmers agreed there would be no trouble here as the extra curriculum calls for a gym, and the student population warrants one

At Blackfalds — A science room and library has already been asked for and approved.

At Bentley — In the elementary school, a staff room is being used as a classroom and the teachers are using the library as a staff room. In high school, two grade 12 rooms are expected next year (there are 40 students in grade 11 this year). Thus, a two-room addition at the elementary school and a two-room addition to the high school is desirable.

Also the washroom facilities at Bentley are "poor in regard to the gymnasium," and the shower-toilet facilities are inadequate for the entire school. Thus, a lean-to is favored to provide storage space and proper washroom facilities that would also be accessible to the outside playground.

At Satinwood — Needed to round out the school is a staff room, which could also serve as a sick bay and for storage

At Mirror, there is considered to be enough school room but it is badly scattered around.

New school construction at Eckville and Lacombe has taken the pressure off for the time being.

Clive Farmer, W. A. Meldrum Dies at Age 85

A Clive district resident for over 60 years, William Andrew Meldrum, passed away at the Lacombe municipal hospital on Sunday, September 9, 1962, at the age of 85.

Last rites are being held at the Evenside funeral chapel in Lacombe, Wednesday at 2:00 p.m. with Rev A. C. S. Liddell officiating. Interment will be in the Clive cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers are Ben Hawkins, Jesse Cole, Ib Ogilvie and Ben Cameron. Active pallbearers are Allen Meldrum, Lyle Meldrum, Bob Lesher, Bill Lesher, Keith Johnstone and Carmen Johnstone.

The deceased was born in Ontario, and came west to the Clive district where he farmed in 1910.

He was predeceased by his wife in 1950, and is survived by one son, Harry of Clive, two daughters, Mrs. Lillian Lesher of Lacombe and Mrs. Lyda Johnstone of Longview — 10 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren, two brothers, and one sister

MOVE TO COAST

Mr and Mrs. Ernie Heath, who have been in the Sprucevale district for 20 years until 1961, were visitors in Lacombe on Monday. They were moving from their home in Calgary to Parksville, Vancouver Island. Mrs. Heath was author of the popular feature, "Through the Eyes of a Country Woman" in The Globe in the pre-war years.

School Addition Progresses

Herb Coombs of H.D.C. Construction Co. Ltd., Edmonton, contractors for the new Lacombe high school addition, was in attendance on Tuesday's meeting of the education committee to report on construction progress. The roof of the building is now complete "no the weather can't hurt us so much," he said Mr Coombs added that the job is going forward favorably despite the adverse weather and the slow start due to initial delays on pre-cast concrete delivery

Birthdays Honored By Friendship Club

Friendship club met last Thursday at the LMC, where eight August birthdays and seven September birthdays of members were honored.

New committees were chosen for October, November and December.

Mrs. H. F. Aiche contributed a solo and encore in her usual pleasing manner. Carol Shand and Gail Flewelling played a very enjoyable piano duet. Chester Miller sang two humorous songs to his own accompaniment on the guitar.

Mrs. William Chesser read a very interesting letter in 1899 by Miss Margaret Cowan to Lacombe at that time. She described the school, paid tribute to her pupils, and mentioned names and places well remembered by some of the members of the club.

If anyone has similar letters, newspaper clippings or early Lacombe newspapers, the Friendship club would be greatly interested to receive copies which might be used in their projects.

H. C. Brown then showed pictures, with an interesting commentary by Mrs. Brown, of their recent tour of European cities. A bountiful lunch was served

The Rev. Russell Patrick also spoke a few words, recalling his early association with the groom and many of the other young guests.

Following the reception, open house was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the gifts were displayed and also the home of the groom's parents

For her honeymoon trip over the Rogers' Pass to Vancouver, B.C., the bride changed to a printed dress in shades of shocking pink, topped by a pink coat of silk Bouclé.

Letter . . .

TO THE EDITOR

Joffre, Alberta
September 10, 1962

Dear Sir

As the post office over the period of years has been moved, it has been further from the centre of town on every move

Why is it? I have often wondered.

There is not a letter box down, up at the Royal Bank corner for the convenience of people who just have letters to post.

Surely one of the post office staff could go down once a day to empty the box. I would like you to publish the above to see what the reaction is.

Yours truly,
John M. Jenkins

Steam Engine in Clive District to Blow Next Sunday

An old farm steam engine of ancient vintage, owned by Ed Westing, plans to come to Clive is going to be oiled up and moved under its own power next Sunday at 2 p.m.

All kiddies and other persons interested are invited to visit the farm and see the old relic in operation before it heads north some 15 miles to Ponoka.

Mrs. Westing, who blames the old engine dates back to about 1910, says a number of children might like to see it steam up and whistle. "You don't hear many of them any more," said Mrs. Westing.

She added that ladies of the Westing district Chatelaine club will be serving lunch before hand to visitors interested

Rockets to Ice Contender

Lacombe Rockets, provincial intermediate A hockey champions, expect to be sending power house team this year with some of last year's players returning.

At an executive meeting last Friday, Dirk DeFreine was re-elected treasurer, Gordon Kamlah secretary, and Mary Leiske manager.

Art Park agreed to take on coaching duties for another year and stated at the meeting that most of last season's players will be returning with adequate replacements available to fill the holes left by departing stars.

The club expects to be able to announce some player signings within a week or two.

Club president Percy Thompson set up other committee members, and appointed each director to a chairmanship.

It was decided to have an auction sale again this year, probably early in October, with Gordon Kamlah in charge. Donations from the citizens of the town and district would be appreciated

Juvenile Drinking Parties

FRONT page publicity given to the juveniles indulging in liquor at drinking parties on a recent issue of The Globe caused the eyebrows of many Lacombe residents

Perhaps they were aware of the situation, but preferred to close their eyes to it in the hope that it would go away. Perhaps others were not sufficiently concerned with the deteriorating liquor problem among the younger set in this town.

Whatever the case, the majority talk into it is better to bring the unhappy facts out into the open.

Parents are primarily responsible for the upbringing of their children. They should know what is going on. And they should take prompt remedial action when they believe such an important question concerning the conduct of young girls and boys shouldn't be left to the police by proxy.

It is well to remember that the sweeping term "drinking by juveniles" is not only a small minority. It is a case of a few bad apples spoiling the barrel, but the question was sufficiently serious in the eyes of the police department to merit a news release.

One further point. Some parents or persons of advanced age must be supplying liquor to minors. They are acting outside the law. They should know better in view of the possible consequences that may ensue. Not the least of these is the menace of impaired driving and the risk of traffic accidents.

The court should show no mercy in giving maximum penalties to those convicted of supplying liquor to minors.

Beat the Heat!

WE'VE been wanting to wash away summer for the appearance of a kind of electric blanket in reverse — one that's supposed to keep you cool for winter's coming.

It is being produced in the United States and consists of two white cotton sheets sewn together and connected to a blower fan at the foot of the bed. Air is circulated between the sheets, reducing excess body-heat moisture with no draft.

This invention described in The Financial Post sounds like a dandy. It beats an ice pack at the foot of the bed.

But then this summer was a cool one, and maybe a climate without excess heat is the best answer of all.

Standard Dress in Schools

CONFORMITY of dress for school students is something that many parents favor in order to save money in the belief that standardization reduces the need to buy more and varied types of children's clothing for competition with neighbor families.

Home and school associations at Bentley and Lacombe talked about the feasibility of standard dress at meetings held last year, and a resolution presented to the county from Bentley was tabled until a court ruling was handed down on the subject at St Albert.

The judge decided that school boards do have the power to regulate dress.

Other parents not so sure might consider that this arbitrary authority vested in a board comes perilously close to infringing on family rights.

"Why should a board be able to tell me what my little Johnny can and can't wear to school?" an independent housewife might well ask.

What the judge had in mind, no doubt, was to put a check on flagrant abuse of school dress that can reach extremes. A gang of boys, for example, might adopt a certain type of dress as a badge of hooliganism. Girls might wear form-fitting garments unduly accentuating bodily physical features.

All a school board should be required to do is see that students choose proper school dress that is of good taste.

A type of standard dress or uniform for all is another matter.

Cuts up to junior high school level who are restricted to skirts and blouses, for instance, would resent such a mandatory ruling.

Even though they are quick to copy the dress of others and follow the fashion stream at every turn. The difference is that in the latter case the choice is theirs to make.

Prosperous Future For Alberta

THE old saying about "you can't see the forest for the trees" has a parallel for most Alberta residents who are too close to the scene to comprehend and appreciate the advances being made by the province

The economic development in Alberta was pin-pointed last week by the department's deputy minister, O Overholtzer, who released these provincial statistics compared with one year ago

Mineral production value 20 percent higher, building permit values up 20 percent to nearly 11 million dollars, retail trade up four percent, wholesale trade up 11 percent, motor vehicle sales up 29 percent, farm income up 12 million dollars, electrical generation up 12 percent, both employment and labor income increasing.

It is hard for the layman to digest these figures at one reading, but the constant in all the economic data is the increase

Mr Overholtzer said "There's nothing spectacular brewing, but all the smaller activities make the picture pretty bright"

Alberta's population is the fastest growing in any province in the Dominion, and is now approaching the 1½-million mark

Small but steady gains have a way of rifling into the economy easily, and permanently. The business outlook in Alberta is promising, despite the moods of pessimism in some parts of Canada

Reflections of the Times

Absent Weather

We have little doubt that nuclear tests DO affect the weather

Government meteorologists have opposed this theory. They say that the disturbance created in the atmosphere by an atomic explosion is negligible beyond the immediate area.

We disagree. Even an amateur weather observer knows that a small amount of surface heating can create enough instability to spark a cold front as well as local thunderstorms.

The training of government weathermen may well stop short of ionto genesis, the science of the precise beginning of weather systems

They must know however that weather changes are caused quite simply by the movement of air masses which have varying conditions of temperature, humidity, etc. The air masses have those differences because of surface heating and their initial characteristics change as they move over the globe — by contact with the earth's surface and with other air masses

Electric storms may be triggered quite easily by local conditions. Stable air masses may be transformed into unstable conditions by local conditions

We have experienced some peculiar weather changes during the past year. Old-timers may say that they experienced similar peculiarities long before the H-bomb. Meteorologists may produce their averages to blind us with science

It is still our contention that a high - altitude explosion equivalent to 50m tons of TNT could trigger major changes in our weather pattern of the northern hemisphere

Labour or Equipment?

Labour costs are continually rising and good farm workers are getting harder to find and keep. In an effort to offset these labour costs and secure more of the many farming jobs done by machinery, equipment and buildings, recent years has seen a substantial increase in what is known as "custom work".

The [illegible] what you can do to determine if [illegible] pay you to do it yourself or have someone else do it. Here are some questions to ask yourself:

Labour: Is it seasonal or year-round? Is it skilled or unskilled? Is it dangerous or disagreeable? Is it repetitive or monotonous?

Equipment: Do I or [illegible] have the equipment necessary to do the job? Is it economical to own the equipment for the job? Is it more economical to rent the equipment for the job? Is it more economical to have the job done by a custom operator?

Buildings: Do I have the necessary buildings? Is it economical to own the buildings for the job? Is it more economical to rent the buildings for the job? Is it more economical to have the job done by a custom operator?

These are only a few of the questions that must be answered before a decision can be made. Each farm is a problem in itself and must be considered as such. Some farmers are beginning to consider when it's going to stop raining. Another 17 inches on four successive days further delays the grain harvest

Winter Bouquets

September is a good time to start collecting materials for winter bouquets. Look for long stout bend branches of poppies thistles cattails, milkweed pods, bittersweet and all kinds of grasses and grains.

For the flowers you want to save pick them at the peak of their perfection. Only a few (like goldenrod) are best perfect in bud.

Rinse or dust your materials thoroughly and hang them in a place to dry. Cut them with assembly vegetable oil or mineral oil before you wrap them gently in a newspaper or put them away in a florist's box. This will keep them from becoming too brittle or crowded arrangements later.

To hang ball-cushes from ballroom, dip the heads in shellac.

Flat plant material like daisies are pressed "face down" on a "layer of borax. Mix half borax, half cornmeal, or two-thirds borax and one-third sand. Store of the mixture in pressed over the flowers to cover it. Six or seven days all the time it takes for these dry.

Magic leaves will remain lovely for a long time if you oil them and press loosely between newspapers for a week or so. Be sure to cut the stems as long as possible.

Silver powder copper, pottery and wicker containers will set color and richness to your dried weather materials.

Remember only leave an arrangement in place as long as you would have fresh flowers out. Bright light will fade your dried blooms and visible dust layer robs any arrangement of the charm of a surprise!

"The Hoodlum Priest" Coming to Lex Memorable Movie

A crime drama with a touch of humor, romance and heroism is woven with interest in "The Hoodlum Priest" coming to the Lux theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday

Don Murray, who starred in "Bus Stop" plays the role of a Jesuit priest in St. Louis dedicating his life to helping young hoodlums start a new life on their release from prison.

This is a stirring story one that will take all movie-goers back to the memorable Boys Town of 1938

B of M Announces Education Plan

Introduction of a combined savings and loan plan for university education was announced by the Bank of Montreal here today.

Under the plan, to be known as the Bank of Montreal University Education Programme, parents, guardians and sponsors of high-school students can spread the cost of a university education over periods of up to nine years, thus keeping monthly payments to amounts they can afford without hardship. And the goal to be attained is made up of the interest paid on a straight loan programme.

Revives Memories of Lacombe in 1890's

Reg Bagley, old-time resident of Lacombe who arrived here in the 1890's, writes some memories in the Wainwright Star about "the good old days".

Excerpts are reprinted in The Globe for the interest of pioneers and the edification of today's youths:

Seemingly the nebby red man had passed out of picture before my arrival, consequently there was only hamlet of few people and a few sawer buildings. There were but few of people settled on quarters in a ten or fifteen mile radius but there were only nine boys, boys of any sort on the village.

One of these were stubbies, quite a log house that belonged to the Andrew Glass family west of Lacombe and which somehow was considered one fine army hotel in the village.

Lacombe there were fewer than [illegible] who resided in Lacombe when I first saw it.

On his return journey to Lacombe he would load up with fish, as much as his expenses could hold and sell them to all and sundry at five cents each.

Blooms and Berries Grow Side By Side On Mountain Ash

A mountain ash growing at the Robert Schutte residence in Lacombe is garbed out for both spring and fall!

The large tree is a mass of red berries, signifying the fall, but still the berries are so showy spring like blossoms of white.

Mr Schutte brought a small sample into The Globe office last Friday, and stated that "this is the third year that the tree has been decorated with both blooms and berries in September."

For the interested gardeners, they will find the tree on the east side of Mr Schutte' home at 4:37-34 avenue.

Are Shot-Guns Ready? Season Opens Monday

Hunters are polishing up their shotguns in preparation for the fall hunting season which opens in the west area of the Lacombe district next Monday morning.

The season opens at 7:30 a.m. and runs for twelve days, ending on September 17 at 6:00 p.m.

Limit for ducks is seven per day, with a possession limit of 14.

Shooting season is from September 17 to December 7 in the "northern" zone, which is defined roughly as the area from Edmonton to Red Deer lying west of No. 2 highway.

The district east of the highway is designated as the "southern zone" where the season will be from October 5 to December 13.

Continued decline in numbers of ducks on the prairie has resulted in a further reduction in bag and possession limits.

Daily bag limit for ducks is four instead of five, with a possession limit of eight instead of ten.

The season dates above apply to ducks, geese, rails, coots and Wilson's snipe

District Farmers Busy Harvesting Average Crop

The weather seems to have finally beaten, and grain harvest operations are in full swing all across the Lacombe county.

Damp wet weather has put the harvest about one week behind in this area, but clear blue skies in the last few days with temperatures in the 60's has allowed farmers to return to the fields.

Grain yields are generally good, according to best estimates by agricultural officials, and an average to slightly-above average crop is now being harvested.

Some sprouting has occurred in the swaths and some that may been reported in the press. It hasn't reached serious proportions.

Swathing is almost completed in most parts of the district, and the majority of farmers are busy combining. Threshing is about 30% complete to date.

It will take another two weeks of good dry weather to finish the harvest for 1962.

60th Wedding Held at Alix

(From our own correspondent.)

ALIX Mr and Mrs. Thomas Knight were guests of honor when approximately 200 relatives and friends gathered in the partially decorated community hall to congratulate them on the occasion of their 60th wedding anniversary on Tuesday, Sept. 4.

Fred Bell, as master of ceremonies escorted the honored couple to their dinner before a table graced with a beautiful three-tier wedding cake beside which several gift bouquets came from the Rebekah lodge) were nicely arranged.

A large heart made by Mrs. Gwen Jarvis was formed on a cake plaque and flanked the figures "60", all of which were outlined with shining silver dollars.

After effective background display of good wishes formed an attractive setting for the couple which Mr and Mrs. Knight watched an enjoyable band talent variety program.

F. Bell read a telegram of congratulations and good wishes from Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, certificates of similar messages from Premier E. C. Manning and from Lieut.-Gov. J. Percy Page and a letter from parliamentarian John Diefenbaker.

On behalf of the government and himself, Hon. Russell Patrick congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Knight, and remembered during his teaching days in the Knight's farm home district at Buffalo Lake.

There were gift presentations from the family and the community.

Following a bountiful refreshment period, dancing and visiting were enjoyed by all, especially the bride and groom of 60 years, who took part in all the evening's entertainment.

Thomas Wilson Knight was born in London in 1876, and with his family moved to Malton, Essex, where he met and married London-born Ivy Marguerite Pond in Woodham Walter Anglican church on September 4, 1902.

Mr Knight, an interior decorator, and his wife moved to Whitham, near Dut and Ted were born.

In 1907 they came to Canada in the flagstations of Erskine, in the vicinity of which they started in primitive fashion and developed a successful farm where Muriel and Tommy were born and reared.

All the family were present at the anniversary gathering. Mr and Mrs. Cousins, (Dot), Mr and Mrs. Tommy Knight, Mr and Mrs. J. Hewett of Alix, and Mr and Mrs. Ted Knight of Penhold are also four grandsons, seven granddaughters, and five great-grand children.

We add our congratulations to the fine couple, Mr and Mrs. Thomas Knight, and wish them many more happy anniversaries.

No Further Word Received on Rockets' Hockey Trip to Japan

No word has been received to a series of exhibition hockey date on the applications tendered games.

several weeks ago by the Lo- Club president Perry Thomp- cal Rockets to visit Japan for son said this week that "no news is good news."

The hold-up is due to the commitment that must be made by the Japanese Government for the trip So far the Japanese have not given that guarantee, but they say they will be within the next few years.

If the Rockets do go, fans won't be deprived of hockey this winter The team would be away for three weeks (the last two in November and the first week in December), but the same number of home and away games would be played on a tighter schedule in the regular CAHL loop.

Hockey Meeting Sunday

President Perry Thompson, coach Ari Park and manager Marv Lemke will be delegates from Lacombe at a general Alberta hockey league meeting in Red Deer next Sunday to consider an application from the Calgary junior Buffaloes.

Lacombe will likely support the application to help Calgary develop junior hockey players, providing it is the intention of the Buffs to use junior packchers only in the lineup.

Road Improvement

The road south of Crestomere for two miles is under construction and was a muddy mess for a few days. A very definite improvement is taking place on the hill in front of what is familiarly known as the old Taylor place.

The steep run from this spot and the sharp curve are being eliminated, and a wide gravelled road in its place. Traffic seems to demand these improvements, and school buses must have good all-weather roads.

Allan Mercer left for his home in Ponoka, where he will attend school. He spent the past month with Elmer and Lorne Gilliand.

Ken Mercer arrived back from Clinton, Ontario, where he was in training with the R.C.A.F. After a short holiday, Ken will resume his studies at the U. of A., Edmonton.

Swimming Pool Operation

LACOMBE'S new swimming pool, which officially opened on June 23, closed down on September 10 after a most successful summer of operation.

The one matter of the pool was hotly debated in town offices and residential areas whether the heated waters were popular because of the novelty as a matter of conjecture. However, it was gratifying to see out-of-town residents from Alix, Clive, Bentley and intermediate rural areas taking a dip at regular intervals.

The pool should rightly be named "Lacombe and district swimming pool" because the facilities are there for all to enjoy, although the burden of payments falls solely on town ratepayers.

The summer weather was discouraging. There were more cool and cloudy days during July and August than not, days conducive to basking in the sun in swim suits.

So while the first-year novelty of a swimming pool will have worn off by next summer, better weather will encourage the same attendance.

Nearly 300 swimmers from the town and district were presented with Red Cross water safety badges. This more than the recreational aspects, represents the true benefits of the swimming pool in Lacombe. If one life from drowning is saved, the total operational deficit of some $3,000 will be amply repaid.

A word of commendation goes to the instructional and lifeguard staff members, who rendered excellent service.

Don't Be a Sucker

DOOR-to-door salesmen pose a problem for many local residents, who are too embarrassed, shy, or flattered with the flattery, to say no" "no" when asked to buy something.

The Globe has mentioned on numerous occasions that the best man to deal with is the community merchant, who has your interests at heart and who is always available to live up to claims on the product purchased.

Next time you hear a rap on the door, avoid these pitfalls as fell one in the Wolfville (N.S.) Acadian

✔ Don't fall for sympathy appeals or hard luck stories, and the working his way through college, supporting an aged mother, etc.

✔ Ostensibly appeals, such as you are entitled to a discount of $50.00 if you sign today" or "You won a Consolation prize, but in order to get your winnings you must sign here, and pay here, for you will likely be paying for everything you get.

✔ Survey pitch. The salesman who start their pitch with a so-called survey.

✔ "Free". You have been asked to receive a "Free Set."

✔ Advertising display. "You have been selected, and we wish to use your home for an advertising display."

✔ Bait and switch. "You have won $xx.00 credit on our appliance, (which sells for a cheap price)," but when you order it, the salesman refuses to sell it to you. He brings in a much more expensive appliance, which was the one he intended to sell you in the first place.

✔ Referral sales. The salesman asks you for the names of 10 friends, who might be likely prospects for his sales, on the understanding he will pay you $5 for each sale made. It may pay off, but more often it does not, and you may lose a friend.

✔ Rush tactics. You must sign today — this is a one-call opportunity, and tomorrow you will not be entitled to consideration. The reason is that the group position will not stand up to investigation.

✔ Paying a deposit on home repairs, before work is started. The excuse may be to purchase materials for the job. If the contractor cannot finance sufficient materials to start the job, it is likely that he may not be able to finance his board and room to finish the job.

✔ Coupons for sale You get a coupon which entitles you to a photograph at a cheap price. The salesman wants to get an order for a quantity, and if you finish up only one, you may not get the service you expect. Ask for the names of satisfied customers, and check with them before you pay out any money.

A special note to teenagers. Don't pay a deposit and sign a contract without consulting your parents or guardian. The salesman knows that the contract is not enforceable, but he also knows that he does not have to make a refund of the deposit

Most Important People

A NEWSPAPER has two customers to please — the subscriber and the advertiser. Of these two, the subscriber is the most important.

This is true even though the advertiser provides most of the revenue of any paper. But the advertiser buys space for one reason: to get his message read by a large number of people.

Therefore he is vitally interested in the circulation of his advertising media. The greater the circulation a paper has, the more advertising it can sell and the higher the rate it can command.

Over the years, therefore, the paper most cover the activities which interest its readers Otherwise circulation will drop off and advertising revenues will shrink in consequence.

It is because of reader interest that such a large proportion of weekly newspaper space is devoted to district and personal news

Often this may seem of the Mrs Smith went down the road to visit Mrs Brown" variety, but the little item has definite reader appeal to the Smith and Brown families, relatives and all friends.

In The Lacombe Globe we have examples of the great interest taken in personal and district news

Reader interest building circulation and upon that circulation a newspaper's revenue depends Therefore to the publisher of any paper the subscriber is the most important person

Reflections of the Times

The Brave Flood

We view the future with a great deal of alarm There are persistent rumors, coming from such usually reliable sources as breweries, that the present type of returnable beer bottle will soon be scrapped in Alberta and replaced by non-returnable bottles and tin cans.

After a season with our old slide-rule, it seems a matchematical certainty that Albertans will be wading through a layer of beer bottles at least knee deep within approximately 36 months of the time the said bottles become non-returnable

There seems no possible way of avoiding this impending flood. Such inundations as the Great Flood that Noah rode out in his ark and the Johnstown Flood all had the grave to eventually recede of their own accord. But can anyone imagine a flood of beer bottles ever receding?

The flood of brown glass empties may even wash right up the court house steps and into the dignified presence of supreme court judges.

The question will be Who is responsible for getting rid of the blasted empties? Must the party who swigs it empty find a suitable burial plot for the bottle? Will the law permit the rules of abandoned property to apply to empties? Will it be possible for a person to ever get rid of his empties?

If he dumps them somewhere, he will be guilty of committing a public nuisance, which, in view of the seriousness of it, may be made an indictable offense

On the other hand, the poor chap with a taste for the frothy stuff, can not possibly keep all his empties in his own house or backyard — that is and still live there

After very serious thought, we think the breweries should reconsider the whole business. Either or heap a bounty on the empties or package the foamy amber stuff in cardboard cartons that can be burned.

CHIMNEY FELLED

The giant chimney at the Imasfail sulphur plant came down with a mighty explosion and a mishap The contractors hired for the big job even allowed for the wind

Closest thing to excitement was the stampeding of camera fans for a shot of the big drop

As the Imasfail gas plant's name implies, it is a plant that separates the gas and oil of the Imasfail oilfield, improving the quality of the crude oil, treating the associated gases to make them marketable and converts the hydrogen sulphide gas, an objectionable component of the raw gas, to elemental sulphur.

Buying Replacement Cattle

Every cattle feeder knows the saying, "cattle bought right are half sold" Buying replacement cattle is never an easy chore at best, and this fall many cattle feeders will be particularly anxious to buy their replacements "right" The Drovers Journal offers these tips to prospective buyers.

Try and keep from paying more than the going rate at any one time It sounds easy enough, but every year some feeders probably pay more for cattle than they should, due possibly to auction fever or the excitement of competitions or the exhilaration of local [illegible]

Take your [illegible] with things as they are and [illegible] it pays the average feeder best to wait a bit "right" to inform himself on both subjects, when he makes buying decisions.

Remember, however, that cattle is a patent to buy the cheapest offering cattle for feed they will put it takes bigger cattle, for example to do more efficient job of a rough stall-fed, than it does to make the most of a full pasture of leguminous and grass

During the first few weeks in many new cattle, close observation, special attention, and watchful care Any that get sick during the first couple of weeks, wipe out most of the advantages of being clever in the first place

Fertilizers Can't Do Everything

On many non-irrigated farms in Alberta, fertilizers have value in that fertilizer treatment there farms have not given any increase in grain yields This is often true on individual farms and this is why it is important to do some trying out of fertilizer on your farm

On the other hand it has been clearly shown on many of our grey wooded and chernozemic that fertilizer alone on grains did not pay Nowever, when fertilizer was used in connection with manure it increased yields to grains which were seeded on this land after the clovers were broken down

Some [illegible] on [illegible] Some [illegible] of the [illegible] combination of grass and legume along with fertilizer will give the best results

Take Soil Samples Now

Now is the time of year to get those soil samples into the government laboratory for soil testing laboratory We have a supply of sample containers in our office and also a sampling tool which can be borrowed to make it a simple task to take soil samples

Letters to the Editor

The Editor,
Lacombe Globe
Lacombe Alberta
Dear Sirs

In a "letter to the Editor" of last week's Globe, Mr John Jenkins of Joffre voiced a query that has been heard often since the new post office was opened last spring, namely why do we not have auxiliary letter boxes in Lacombe"

Very shortly after the change of location of the post office, the Lacombe and district board of trade petitioned the postal authorities for the added service

Mr G M Beaton, district director of postal services from Edmonton came to Lacombe and made a survey of the town and forwarded our request to Ottawa

There is a letter on file dated May 31, 1962, which points out in the fact that there are very definite rules governing letter boxes in smaller centres in relation to distances from the main office and our request has been deferred pending further expansion of the town

Thank you for the opportunity to make this information available to our district residents.

Yours truly,

Roy Sturgeon
Secretary-Manager Lacombe and District Board of Trade

NEW STETTLER TOWN OFFICE!

Councillors Pratt, Sloan, Crawford, Kuntz and Kreuger instructed Mayor Kloepfer to interview R. Jenkins while in Calgary at the week end

The council is still interested in the Jenkins' building for a town office, but before a plebescite can be taken the price of the building and the cost of remodelling must be considered

Mr Weeres had been informed by Mr Jenkins that another party was interested so the council is having to make their inquiries as quickly as possible

Lacombe Back in the 1890's

Roy Bagley, one of Lacombe's earliest pioneers is currently publishing some memories of the town and district in the 1890's, in the Wainwright Star. Excerpts are reprinted herein:

I remember a celebration at Lacombe on July 1, [illegible] of mine in the town the day There was a half-breed by from Tail Creek with a pale [illegible] that was a better one, and I had to take second money.

We had from the Edmonton Trails Association through the village The judges were on top of a little [illegible] when the wheels of the old Hudson's Bay [illegible] gave way.

The old boy nonchalantly down to Lacombe's though was built in 1894 by Mr Simmons who stood east of the Edmonton trail about half way between Lacombe and Blackfalds. John Green's sister, Kate, was the first teacher

She was good but had some big unruly boys that were quite a chore to handle She used to bend them with a strap, but they had hard slick hides and a short memory, and were soon back for more

She afterwards married Mad Barnett who owned land adjoining the town site to the north and west and at the second spring old town and I suppose she had to promise to marry him to get rid of him as she could get on with the teaching.

All the children other than the few in the village rode horses with the exception of the Ponies, the Sanders and the Hannas That school-house yard was full of horses.

Business in School

The winter of 1894 was bitterly cold. The logs of the school walls were green and they shrunk away from the plaster letting in the winter I don't know how the kids survived. The old log schoolhouse was floored with green lumber, wide box-ish boards, and as they dried and shrunk it left crevices between them.

Besides were plentiful underfoot, and, to many of the children, were a novelty. It would cause quite a commotion when a snake crawled up and over the foot of a scholar.

The desks were homemade of native lumber and not fastened to the floor and usually a desk of two upset, spilling books and slates.

The school board was fortunate in obtaining Peter Talbot (who later became a senator) to take over the teaching job. That was a fortunate day for the children. Every child in the school worked his best to try to please him. He was wonderful. No trouble — even the dumb ones made progress. He was a teacher and a friend.

First Fair

The first agricultural fair was held in the school-house yard and as the slough was dry, the judging was done there I worked driving a team on a slip scraper to help build the grade to the grounds.

Andy Anderson held the scraper and Mr. Poole was grade boss Just fancy building a grade like that with our team and a few shovels that would only hold about a bushel of earth We did things the hard way in those days.

Dan Gourley was in the lumber business. He put up a small building on Barnett Avenue just east of the hardware store. The lumber was piled out back and he made outings for all and sundry as needed.

Billy Elliott was our harness maker and a good one He learned his trade with the Great West Saddlery at Calgary and built a small place just back of the department store on the corner of Barnett Avenue and Nanton Street The back of the building was used on a workshop and the front as a showroom.

Often we would put on the gloves and he would teach us the art of boxing. One of the boys, Johnny Morton, was an apt pupil, and he out-manoeuvred Bill Elliott and knocked him over a pile of saddles onto his back That ended our boxing bouts.

1895. I think

Nelson lived just east of Lacombe a few miles and became a successful stockman and farmer

First Threshing

The first threshing machine in the neighborhood was not of much force but it was better than the flail The machine was a trend-power using a team of heavy horses or three smaller ones.

There was a slatted frame on an angle on which the horses were tied and their weight forced the slats downward, forcing them to climb continuously, thereby turning the rod that drove the cylinder. Between forty and fifty bushels was about all that was accomplished in a day.

Mere soldiers were arriving, each one getting a few acres subdivided from A man, Frank Ramsay, came in from Kansas bringing a machine that had a circular horsepower that used an [illegible] of horses

Bill Fawcett who lived five or six miles northwest of town brought one of the same type whose machines were fed by hand

We may have had another Press before the machine was in the district I recall in Lacombe The Rev. John Fenn did had services in [illegible] Street down by the slough.

First Sermon

I was at the Presbyterian church the night the Reverend Mathews preached his first sermon there The text was "What does it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul" The Reverend Mat new was all right

The Reynolds people came to Lacombe in 1896 from Dakota They brought a sense of the first honey bureau in the locality Percherons masses of good weight and quality Later they moved out to land south of where the village of Clive is located and Roy Bay Reynolds still holds the original homestead.

Ned Barnett had a lot of land under cultivation just north of the townsite which Mr Reynolds farmed while living in Lacombe

I N Tee came from Dakota with the Reynolds people and built a small mill — lovers and [illegible] but it was better than the flail The machine was a trend-power using a team of heavy horses or three smaller ones.

New Meat Regulation

A new regulation, designed to ensure that consumers get the quality of meat they expect, came into effect in Alberta on July 1. Only carcasses that have been "Canada Approved" for health and graded by federal carcass grading can be marketed.

Also, beginning July 30, meat of the same grade designated by the grader and on the ruler attached to that particular grade. Prior to this time, some dealers used ribbon brands of a color associated with "choice grade" on carcasses that have been graded by a federal grader.

Customers will know when they see a red or blue brand on beef, veal, lamb or mutton that it is "Canada Choice" or "Canada Good" in the order. In the case of beef and veal, brown has been designated for the "Canada Standard" graded and black for "Canada Commercial", "Canada Utility" and "Canada Manufacturing."

Discouraging About Dry Cleaning

The question is frequently asked, "Are my clothes cleaned with those belonging to other people?" If so, won't their dirt get on my clothes?

Modern, dry-cleaning equipment is designed so that the solvent is pumped continuously out of the cylinder, through a filter, and back into the cylinder at a rate of 1,000 to 10,000 gallons an hour.

In addition the solvent is filtered, clarified and distilled to keep it as carefree condition. This prevents dirt from being redeposited on garments. Properly dry-cleaned garments do not smell of dry-cleaning solvent.

Statements have been made that dry-cleaning wears out cloth-es. Actually this is not true. Abrasion through wear is the first cause of fabric deterioration. Accumulation of dirt and soil is the second greatest cause.

Washing Gloves

Launder both fabric and washable leather gloves right on your hands, much as if you were simply washing your hands. Treat any especially soiled areas to a gentle rubbing with a well-lathered soft brush. Pull the gloves off from the cuffs down — do not pull them off by the fingers. Rinse well, blot in a towel to remove excess moisture and lay them flat, to dry, smoothing them into shape. Blow into fingers to help get the air circulating.

Leather Gloves

Require one more step. Before they are completely dry, put them on and smooth them carefully over the fingers and hands until any stiffness is gone. This "working" is particularly necessary for white kid gloves, which often have a yellowish look after washing until worked

District Planning Commission Comes Under Fire

Lacombe district planning commissioners were under attack for its inaction in Lacombe at a regular meeting of the town council Monday night.

The subject arose when a request from was received from the commission, notifying the town of Lacombe that it was obligated to its fiscal year April 1, 1963, to March 31, 1964, would be $2 238 complained.

Town Secretary Frank Lacey noted that the sum was $351 less than the current sum.

Councillor Ivan Stonehouse said he would be glad to see the town pay the extra $351 for a little service.

"The town is supposed to be zoned and mapped, and we haven't seen one thing yet," he said.

Councillor Hale Miller commented that I think we should get something done for this money. They are dragging their feet down there."

The town of Lacombe joined the commission three years ago and has paid out over $6,000 to Red Deer is undertaking a survey of the town of Lacombe.

Councillor Ross Bancroft thought it would be [illegible] get some and asked that [illegible] funds to the Red Deer district added to help the [illegible] planning commission for the [illegible]

Three veteran Lacombe businessmen who have contributed so much to the community will be invited as honored guests to the next general meeting of the Lacombe and district board of trade on Friday, October 5, at 7:00 p.m.

The three outstanding public service through the years, life membership awards will be presented to Floyd E. Mitchell W. Norman Morrison, G. Tom Jackson, and Thomas Wilkes.

At the same time, one of Lacombe's pioneer business establishments will be given special recognition.

A plaque will be presented by board of trade president H. Al Leal to officials of the Lacombe Nurseries, which this year is observing its 50th anniversary.

While the banquet is sponsored by the board of trade, the nature of the occasion makes it a public affair and non-members of the board of trade and their wives are also cordially invited.

Sale of advance tickets is desirable, and these may be purchased at most stores through board of trade members.

Adventist Church Opens Saturday

A year-long construction project was culminated in the official opening of the $210,000 Seventh-day Adventist church last Saturday afternoon. The fine new building is located east of the auditorium on the "hilltop." Messages of congratulation were rendered by officials from the provincial government and the town of Lacombe, at the inaugural ceremony. The church with a capacity of 1,300 was filled for the opening day events. Deputy mayor Lew Ritchie (above) speaks on behalf of the town of Lacombe.

Council Urged Keep Town Beautiful

Suggestion from the Lacombe garden club that the town pay more attention to a tree re-planting program was given a favorable reception at the town council meeting Monday night.

A letter from president D. A. Dow of the Lacombe garden club noted that civic programs are calling for the removal of a large number of trees. "It is disconcerting to note that there has been no new planting of trees," the letter continued.

Mr. Dow offered the services of garden club officials in helping to plan a suitable program to beautify parts of the town. Specifically, he recommended the liberal planting of American elm.

Councillors agreed that other districts should be made aware of the reputation of Lacombe as a town with beautiful trees.

Council promised full consideration to a tree re-planting project in the 1963 budget, and hopes to utilize the professional assistance of the garden club. It might be possible to make seven acres of land available for a small town-owned nursery, it was pointed out.

60 Avenue Improvements

Work is proceeding favorably on widening the 50 (Barnett) avenue thoroughfare which also serves as the east-west No. 12 highway.

Calgary Power Ltd. submitted four shovels to clear off the new mercury light standards with underground supply. The town's share of the cost is $4,175.

Council accepted a proposal from Alberta government to negotiate to install underground power cable on 50 avenue.

Three Delegations

Leroy Thompson attended the meeting to request permission of council to allow a trailer to be erected on a location alongside the residence of his brother, Berkeley Thompson, who needs the care of the individual living in the trailer.

Council was sympathetic in considering the right to remove the trailer from the by-law, providing it measures up to sanitary regulations.

Les Bird attended the meeting to receive sanction from council to build a garage in connection with the new C. Kuperus residence.

Council approved the building permit as the same meets the by-law requirements.

Leroy Thompson for $14,000 for a new residence and a permit for the Alex Hall for a new business.

Town collector D. R. McCormick attended the meeting to discuss council's position with respect to a local civil defence unit meeting scheduled for the county office on Wednesday, October 3. Councillor Murray Boyce will represent the town of Lacombe.

Nuisance

Councillor Mels Miller reported that the lagoon is "filling in", i.e., the solids are rising above the level of the drainage pipe.

Town workmen are co-operating with Calgary Power in levelling off, and an extension has been put on top temporarily.

Councillor Ivan Stonehocker reported that Leroy Thompson has completed planned improvements at the Lacombe memorial rink, including painting the upper windows, redecorating the small front office and cleaning up the janitor's room.

He also reported that certain minor repairs have to be made at the Lacombe swimming pool, where small cracks in the concrete have shown up, and the diving board has "tilted."

Over Thousand Attend New Church Ceremonies

Official opening of the $210,000 Lacombe Seventh-day Adventist church located at College Heights, took place Saturday afternoon, Sept. 22. Preceding this event, dedicatory services were conducted in the new edifice and featured E. W. Dunbar, associate secretary of the general conference of Adventists as guest speaker.

The afternoon opening at 3:00 p.m. which was the pressure of a number of community and Lacombe residents as visitors for the occasion. Present also were Calgary architects, Ahgren and Buchanan, who drew plans for the Calgary Adventist church, contractors Alex Ellis and R. C. Anderson of Lacombe, deputy Mayor Lew Ritchie of Lacombe, and provincial minister of industrial relations, Hon. Russell Patrick.

Program at the afternoon

Included remarks by J. W. Butler, newly-elected president of the Canadian Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, C. M. Peters building committee chairman, Malcolm R. Prater, business manager of Canadian Union College, H. T. Johnson, president of CUC; Pastor Hugh Campbell and Pastor Ted Andrews, and Dr. John McKibbin of Lacombe.

Sermon of the afternoon was by E. L. Cross, secretary-treasurer of Canadian Union Conference, with headquarters at Oshawa, Ontario.

Music offerings of the afternoon's program included Bizet's "Agnus Dei" played by Mrs. Verne Fitch on the new Hallenan electric organ, and a male quartet composed of R. A. Gibson, Llewellyn Finch, Leland Jones and Henry White singing "Come, Spirit, Come" by Towner.

Prominent floral displays decorated the platform during the various local firms. The

Fine Weather Aid to Fall Harvest Operations

With temperatures in the balmy 70's district farmers are making the proverbial "hay while the sun shines."

It is estimated that the harvest is now about 75% complete in this part of central Alberta, and the quality of the grain is only a little below average despite adverse growing conditions that included a mixture of drought and frost in the late summer with frost and rain in the early fall.

Yields have been good, in the average 25-40 bushels per acre category for barley with some deliveries running over 50. There is not much malting barley.

Local elevator agents report grain deliveries are "not rushing but steady."

The delivery quota has been raised from two to three bushels per specified acre in Lacombe.

Nominations For Council Assure October Election

Three nominations for two seats on the Lacombe town council were received at the town office between 11:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon today Harold Johnston, Mike Kierluk, and Ivan Stonehouse. Both Mr. Johnston and Mr. Kierluk are seeking office for the first time.

Retiring councillor Murray Boyce declined to let his name stand for nomination for a further three-year term.

An election will be held three weeks hence, on Wednesday, October 10.

Fine Indoor Rodeo Friday, Saturday

For those who haven't taken in a rodeo before, a special invitation is extended to attend the Kinsmen club's big two-day indoor rodeo at jubilee stadium on Friday and Saturday nights start ing at 8:00 PM.

This year's annual show offers plenty of entertainment packed into two hours. There's exciting [illegible] and laughs in every minute.

Talented cowboys from the ring also rodeo circuit will be vying for the $1,000 prize money and events like wooly bronc and bare back bronc riding, calf roping, wild steer wrestling, and Brahma bull riding.

Members of the Bentley senior band will be on hand to play music while the cowboys perform on stage.

Another treat will be the precision musical ride by the talented members of the Blindman Valley riding club.

Pony chuckwagon races and the popular girls' barrel races will be featured.

For the kids, there will be a greased pig competition roping, last year's calf scramble. If "corn-agers" have never tried to put the squeeze on a greased pig before, here's their chance! Just have names with Jack Mackin at phone 5-6166.

Program chairman Al Walashka promises fun for all. Don't forget the [illegible] dance to be held in conjunction with the rodeo on Friday night only, at the LMC.

"New Life" For CBX Transmitter At Lacombe

CBX radio transmitter will remain on location at Lacombe for at least another year, as a result of the Canadian government's austerity program.

Announcement of a $8,000,000 reduction in its budget was made last week by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and the bulk of the cutback will be on the CBC's capital budget.

This includes suspension of work to provide new CBC radio stations in Edmonton and Calgary, which were to replace the transmitter at Lacombe.

Dave Malmberg, chief operator of CBX at Lacombe, told The Globe this week that as far as he knew Lacombe will not be closed down for at least another year as a result of the cutback.

The current fiscal year of the CBC ends next March 31, and details of the 1963-64 budget are not known.

However, it is noted that the corporation has gone ahead with engineering studies on the proposed CBC stations at Edmonton and Calgary, and sites are being purchased.

My Story: How to Catch a Skunk

The Globe was pleased to obtain an exclusive interview with 11 year-old Karen McKinnon, who attends grade six at the Lacombe school, on the compelling subject "How to catch a skunk."

Here is Karen's unabridged story:

"I was visiting my uncle and aunt at Arrowna this summer and was out playing when I saw something moving in the bushes

"I thought it was a skunk cat

"Then I smelled something funny

"Then it came out and we looked at each other for two or three minutes

"Then I took off my sweater and caught it by the tail I took it back to the house and put it in a box

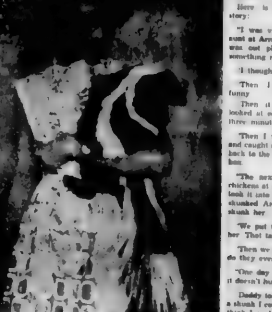
"The next day after cleaning chickens at my grandmother's we took the skunk to get it de-skunked And it cost $10.00 to de-skunk her.

"We put tomato juice all over her That takes the smell out

"Then we bathed her And boy, do they ever hate a bath

"One day she bit my nose, but it doesn't hurt now

Daddy told me if I could catch a skunk I could keep it. He didn't think I could catch one."



Pet Skunk

Sandy Skunk Dr-pew McKinnon is the name of a pet skunk caught on an "animal hunt" in August by Karen McKinnon, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McKinnon of Lacombe. "Sandy" is kept in the basement downstairs and is fed such goodies as raw hamburger, raw eggs, raw chicken, dog food, milk, and spare-rib.

Is Your Home Getting The Care It Deserves?

Failure to make repairs to your house immediately can be downright expensive. One piece of falling plaster that's overlooked or left to take care of itself an often leads to another. And then the final expense is much greater.

If your home is in need of improvements — repairs, paint jobs and the like — and your ready cash can't take care of the cost see Fred Parmenter manager of the Lacombe Bank of Montreal, branch about a Home Improvement Loan. H.I.L.'s are available at the B of M for all kinds of worthwhile purposes about the house.

They're inexpensive, too — the interest is only one half of one per cent a month — and you repay in easy monthly installments plus interest. So if you have repairs or improvements on your mind, call Mr. Parmenter at the B of M tomorrow. He will be glad to show you how a Home Improvement Loan can help you.

Porcupine Fine Pet

Sheri Henderson, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Henderson of Lacombe, has a porcupine for an unusual pet (she says) lovable house pet. Even with quills, the porcupine is cuddled and fed out of a baby's bottle by Sheri as shown in this picture. The animal also eats apples and fruit, and peppermint candy for a treat. The porcupine is allowed out of his pen occasionally to roam around the garden and eat berries. He was caught on the farm last May. The family calls him "Porchon." Sheri says his full name is Autumn Preacher McQuinten I. — Staff

Drug Prices Fair, Local Rotarians Told

Prescription drug prices have not risen as rapidly as prices for many every day essential products and services, contrary to popular belief L. B Goff of Parke, Davis and Co. Limited, pharmaceutical manufacturers, told members of the club's meeting last Friday.

"According to the dominion bureau of statistics," he said, "for the period from 1949 to 1960, the index of the total of all consumer prices rose to 128.0 But prescription prices rose to only 119.0 during that period."

During the same period, he noted, food costs rose 122.2; shelter costs rose to 148.7, telephone rates to 148.0 footwear to 144.2 and bus fares to 199.8.

"It's pretty obvious that the average prescription cost rose less than the average price of the products you normally buy from day to day."

Although the charge is frequently made that drug prices are too high, the average prescription cost is actually less than it was 10 years ago, he said.

Mr. Goff pointed out that the industry is spending tremendous amounts on research for new and improved drugs In North America, this amounts to some $200,000,000 and Canadian companies either directly or indirectly are contributing their share to this amount.

"The pharmaceutical industry wishes to stress that the tremendous advances made in the past — and those expected in the future — are only possible within the framework of a democratic free enterprise system. It is significant to note that Russia doesn't give tremendous work it has done technologically in its penetration of outer space has not made one major contribution to the pharmaceutical field

"Nor is my industry for one moment, trying to take the lion's share of the credit for the progress of the past and the promises of the future It well continues to work — as it has in the past — with the medical professions, the universities, the independent researchers and the pharmacist in our immense assault against disease and pain and suffering

"Neither profits nor the costs of drugs are high, contrary to popular belief, he said.

Leslie Mabbott Weds Wetaskiwin Girl

Calvary Baptist church at Wetaskiwin was the scene of the recent wedding of Mrs Linda Arline Strobelein daughter of Mr and Mrs Paul Strobelein of Wetaskiwin to Mr Leslie Mabbott, son of Mr and Mrs. Elmer Mabbott of Lacombe.

Rev. Williams Sibley officiated at the candle-light ceremony in the church, decorated with bouquets of white and bronze gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was radiant in a full length gown of white peau de soie with lace applique and matching train.

A chapel length veil was held in place by a crown of pearls and she carried a bouquet of miniature roses and white stephanotis.

Attending the bride were Miss Norma Strobelein and Mrs Pat Bulmer who were identical Hawaiian gowns of gold peau de soie with full length bell shaped skirts accented by matching accessories. They carried bouquets of shasta daisies.

The groom was attended by Mr Jim Mabbott brother of the groom and Mr Audrey Strobelein, brother of the bride.

Ushers Stanley and David Buggles were ring-bearers and Miss Sharon Mabbott was the candle lighter Ushering the guests were Dr. Jim Sheridan and Mr Jim Anderson, both of Edmonton.

Mrs Marilyn Martin played the wedding music and Mr Leroy Dirkes was soloist

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs Strobelein chose a beige colored lace dress with brown accessories and a corsage of lilac mum roses.

The mother of the groom was attired in a brown dress with dark brown accessories and a corsage of talisman roses

Dr Jim Sheridan proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in the lower auditorium of the church.

New Construction Is Promising . . . .

THE amount of new building going on in Lacombe this year is heartening and a sure indication of the town's growth and prosperity.

The eight-month total of building permits stands at $564,150. This figure, now and the end of the year may surpass the all-time high of $700,000 set in 1958.

This, despite a slow start that saw no city building permit in the months of January and February, construction delays and contractors lost spirit.

It's amazing the changes that can evolve in people's thinking. Since Bill apparently had half a heart he must like you transform-ed their ideas into action at the Bill Summit.

The type of building going on in town is also satisfying. There are a few civic projects included in the total like the swimming pool and school addition.

The rest is in permits, however, are for private citizens and businessmen. There are a number of new homes being constructed and some commercial building in addition to a multitude of additions and improvements.

The town of Lacombe is not enjoying a spectacular growth, but it is definitely ahead in every stage that can be accumulated readily with steady commodity services and facilities.

The First Million

THE first million is always the hardest to make. After that money comes easily. Or so we're told.

Most millionaires made their start in an earlier era. The tax structure today is such that the only agency able to amass a million dollars from nothing is the government. It collects that kind of money every day. But then the government needs many millions to spend-feed the populace with baby-bonus cheques and social security.

The individual beginning a business career with a fixed objective of making a million has to withstand the right-hail. If he climbs into a high income bracket where his goal may appear possible, he finds that the government will take 75% or more of what he earns in taxes.

It is impossible to accumulate a million dollars that way. An Irish Sweepstake win or two can help, of course. That's tax-exempt.

But the government isn't thinking about the self-styled millionaire in ordering a royal commission to investigate the whole tax structure.

What is worrying government officials is the lower wage earner and the small businessman, and the effects of excessive taxation that destroys initiative and incentive.

It's amazing how much the government takes from the average Canadian in taxes. On an average it exceeds 25% of Canadian income to all three levels of government, according to results of a study made by the Canadian tax foundation.

The survey revealed that "almost 90 percent of Canadian taxpayers receive less than $7,000 income per year."

After the tax bite, it's apparent that the average Canadian hasn't much money left to play with — let alone to save a million.

Changes In The Bible

WORD from Oxford, England, is that changes are contemplated in the language of a new version of the English Bible known as somewhat skeptical.

Being dropped from the old testament are words like "doth" and "thee" and "thou". Granted these expressions are antiquated, they still lend a certain charm to the greatest of all books.

Substituting "you" and "your" may make Biblical passages more modern in sound, but they will destroy lyrical phrases that make the Bible phonetically unique.

Another quality distinguishing the composition of the Bible is the use of simple sentences. The writers of the olden days studiously avoided compound sentences and clumsy clauses that mar simplicity in much of today's writing.

The next step is obvious. to rewrite these sentences into compound jargon in order to make them "modern".

Surely the King James version of the Bible as it is constituted today from translations of the past should be good enough for present and future generations. Why all the fuss to "improve" Biblical prose that is already beautiful!

The Short Work Week

A by-line news story from New York states that, "This year, for the first time in labor history, the four-day week has become an actual union demand in negotiations with management.

With no decrease in take-home pay, of course. The relation of costs with production that determine the price of commodities in competition with those in other countries is only one disturbing aspect of the short work week.

Another is the worker and what he will do with his extra leisure time. This is not as whimsical as it sounds.

On first impulse many men would grab at a long three day holiday week end every week. But on second thought, how would he spend his free time?

He would have his wife kicking around the house. He would get sick of watching T-V. He could improve his golf and bowling skills but even this would become tiresome. Finances wouldn't allow him to travel, every week end, and anyway he would outwear his welcome with relatives and friends at the other end of the line.

The trouble is, men are geared for work and not play. Most men are so busy with their jobs that they don't know how to cultivate and enjoy hobbies.

It takes talent and initiative to derive cultural advantages from spare time.

Leisure time is a serious problem for many retired people, and the same holds true with the worker too many days away from his job. Doctors and psychiatrists point out that people have "an inner compulsion to work" and they feel lost when they lack specific job responsibilities.

No doubt the unions will eventually win their demand for a four-day week week.

When it be something when the rank-and-file find time dragging and go back to the bass on bended knee begging for a fifth day of employment!

Reflections of the Times

Courtesy Daring Hunting Season

It is nice to be able to report that relations between farmers and hunters have improved a good deal in this district, possibly due to the good educational program of the fish and game association.

It should be pointed out that when a farmer grants permission to hunt on his land, it is a privilege that should be respected. Cars should not be driven over swathed grain and bottles and shell cases should not be left lying around to do damage to machinery. There should be no shooting around livestock as this is not only asking for a serious accident but cattle can be frightened into losing weight.

The time of year when hunters are in their seventh heaven: the farmer is in his sweat box. If you have bagged your limit, perhaps you would care to leave a few behind The hare.

David Bodger, who moved to Lacombe from Medicine Hat, Sask., two months ago, is appointed sanitarian of Lacombe's newly organized Boy Scout troop.

A delegation of three members of the Lacombe board of trade headed by president Reed Kerr attend a town council meeting to request immediate action to curb speeding on streets.

Possibility of the establishment of a Simpson Co. mail order house in Lacombe is seen this week, as representatives arrive to look over possible office sites.

Increased interest and greater circulation of books is noted by librarian Janet Gibson, as 1,200 new books arrive on the shelves of the Lacombe regional library, with headquarters in the M.E.C. basement.

Respected residents of Lacombe since 1906, Mr and Mrs R. L. Ramsay receive congratulations from the many friends on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Arthur Woods, well known resident of the Bonny Crest district west of Lacombe, receives shoulder and lung wounds in a gun accident.

Ideal weather favors the farmers this week, as harvest machinery is humming steadily. A bumper crop with some barley yielding as high as 80 bushels to the acre will strain storage space, as local elevators are already full.

There has been no frost to date, and this is the second best growing season in 44 years according to official records at the Lacombe experimental farm.

Student enrolment at Mirror school is up 43 from the year 1951, now standing at 238.

DRUM SCHOOL UP

Drumheller's construction picture continues to be one of impressive proportions.

A spokesman for Poole construction general contractors for the $1,153,000 vocational training school says progress is ahead of schedule. The Poole contract calls for construction of the school to be completed by March 31 of next year. Some 80 workers, both skilled and unskilled, are employed by the construction firm. A total of approximately 35 to 38 employed in the sub-trades. The construction of the walls of the building are expected to start immediately.

It is felt tenders will be called for the construction of dormitories within a short period possibly a month. When the dorms are built the overall cost of the enterprise will amount to $1,750,000.

TRUCK AFIRE AT GP

A speedy downhill run through grass and flames ending up with a smash-up in the ditch, provided a few hair-raising moments yesterday afternoon for truck driver Don Belknapp, just south of Grande Prairie.

Mr Belknapp was driving into Grande Prairie from the north on highway 2 with a load of seed. Suddenly the cab of the truck was filled with smoke and seconds later with flames.

The engine seemed to explode, said Mr. Belknapp describing his spine-tingling ordeal "I couldn't see anything."

At the time of the explosion his truck was travelling about forty miles an hour.

To add to the ever-mounting "cobfull" of problems, his jacket caught fire. By this time, Mr Belknapp had succeeded in slowing the speed of the truck.

But the smoke and flames in the truck left him momentarily blinded. The truck, heavily loaded with seed, went out of control, careened across the highway and crashed into the ditch about one-half mile from the highway bypass and Clairmount Road intersection.

Just before it piled up into the ditch, Mr Belknapp jumped free of the truck cab. Landing in the ditch beside the burning vehicle, he quickly ripped off his flaming jacket.

His only injuries after the fiery ride were singed hair and eyebrows.

LeRoy Thompson, a cattle feeder in the State of Iowa, says he can pay up to $2.00 per cwt more for cattle from superior performing bulls without losing any profit. When he made this statement at the performance registry (international) annual meeting, Mr Thompson was giving a report on feeding a group of performance tested steers.

According to S Lore livestock supervisor with the Alberta department of agriculture, Mr Thompson bought 96 head of steer calves in the fall of 1960 from an auction sale. These particular animals all came from Montana ranchers using performance tested bulls. They were fed for 342 days and averaged 2.20 pounds gain per day. A control group being fed the same ration at the same time averaged 2.00 pounds gain per day, which is 1/5 of a pound per day less than the performance tested animals.

The feed cost for the performance tested cattle was $14.83 per cwt of gain compared to $18.80 for the control group. This, of course, works out to almost $1.00 per cwt cheaper for the performance tested cattle. There was no difference in the grade or rate of gain in the two groups.

With the feedlot test, Mr Thompson also found that slow gainers at the beginning of the test retained the same pattern throughout the feeding period. Consequently he now disposes of slow gainers after the first weighing.

Mr Lore pointed out that this test certainly demonstrates the importance of selecting breeding stock that performance.

Weed Essay Scholarship

A 1,000 word essay on "How We Control Weeds on Our Farm" could earn a $500 scholarship for you if you live on a farm and are between the ages of 12 and 18. S Lobay supervised work with weed control with the Alberta department of agriculture pointed out that the best provincial essay written by a boy or a girl will receive a $25 prize and automatically be entered in the competition for the scholarship.

Sponsored by the north-central weed control conference the competition is open to young farmers from the fourteen north-central states and the three prairie provinces. The scholarship can be used at any recognized agricultural or home economics college provided the course chosen lead to a degree or diploma in agriculture or home economics. The successful competitor can use the scholarship any time up to three years after he has graduated from high school.

Since all essays must be completed in October Mr Lobay advises any one interested in the competition to prepare his essay immediately. Detailed rules pertaining to the competition can be obtained from district agriculturists, field supervisors or the field crops branch of the Alberta department of agriculture.

98% of all oil company product research in Canada is done by Imperial

At Imperial Oil's laboratories at Sarnia, Ontario, more than 200 scientists and technicians are working to improve present petroleum products — and to develop new ones. Their research covers many fields, from gasolines to household detergents.

Another 130 scientists and technicians are working at Imperial's Calgary laboratories on ways to find and produce more Canadian crude oil and natural gas. Imperial does more research than all other oil companies in Canada combined.

Every barrel of crude oil contains some of the sun's heat. Imperial research works to unlock more of this energy. After five years' intensive research, Imperial found a simple and profitable small process more than doubles Canadian crude oil. One important result: less oil imported to heat Canadian homes.

Gas Price Reductions Save Average Consumer $4 Yearly

Reductions in consumers' gas bills for the next 12 months have been announced by Northwestern Utilities Ltd.

Jack Collett, local gas Co agent, said this week that the reductions will work out to about $4.00 per year to the average consumer.

These reduced rates will affect all gas consumers in this area — we are the main line — Blackfalds, Morningside, College Heights and Lacombe — Mr. Collett explained, but they are not applicable to points like Clive and Bentley.

Farmers whose buildings are served by gas from communities on the main line will also receive the benefit of the reduced rates, Mr. Collett stated.

Here is the news release from Northwestern Utilities Ltd.:

A $1,350,000 reduction in consumers' gas bills for the next 12 months has been announced by Brian F. Wilson, president of Northwestern Utilities, Limited.

Effective October 1, the company will grant an allowance equal to two cents per thousand cubic feet in all customer bills in Edmonton, Leduc, Vilna, Red Deer, Camrose, Wetaskiwin, and 24 other communities (including Lacombe) served by the company.

The main reason for the allowance is a temporary reduction in the volume of gas available to the company from certain oil-field sources of supply. This will reduce the company's unit costs on a short-term basis. At the same time the company said it has been able to effect economies which also lowered unit operating costs.

It is expected the allowance will remain in effect for the balance of this year and most of 1963.

"Increases of gas available indicate that a smaller proportion of our total needs will be obtained from oilfield sources after 1962 and 1963," Mr Wilson said.

"As a result, Northwestern will make up the balance required by its market from its own lower cost fields. However, this depletes the company's valuable peak load reserves and cannot be continued for any lengthy period of time. For the long-term protection of our customers we are contracting to bring gas from the Swan Hills area.

It will take about 12 months for the producers to build the field facilities and gas from this area will become available towards the end of 1963. When that occurs it is expected that the rate of increase will cease."

Mr Wilson said that no change in the schedule of rates is involved. The present rates will remain in effect, and an allowance of two tenths of a cent per therm will be applied to customers' bills on a monthly basis.

The allowance will apply to customers served from what is known as the "integrated system" in which the majority of communities served by the company are interconnected with the major sources of supply. These include communities served off the Viking to Edmonton, Telfield to Red Deer and Provhota to Edmonton transmission lines.

YOU HAVE A HAND IN THINGS CANADIAN when you own Life Insurance

Surprising? You—but true. Like most people, you have probably thought of your life insurance—as protection for your family—as a good way to save money regularly—as a valuable collateral if you need a loan for an emergency—as a retirement plan for you later on.

Actually, your life insurance dollars are more than an investment in your personal security and your family's. These dollars are also an investment in Canada. They stimulate growth and progress and help make this country a better place in which to live and work.

At the moment, 9 BILLION DOLLARS of life insurance savings are invested on important Canadian enterprises—through the purchase of bonds and stocks and through mortgages.

These hard-working dollars are helping to finance great projects all over this country such as pipelines, shopping centres, bridges and highways, homes, apartment and office buildings, schools, factories, industrial plants and power developments. These investments create employment opportunities, too.

The income from these investments benefits you directly by reducing the cost of life insurance to you and the 9 million other Canadian policyowners.

Westling Scribe Asks More Co-operation

WESTLING — It's been some time since I've seen in the news. But I've got a perfect excuse. No one's been taking much interest in the affairs of Westling district. Why is it? Everyone looks for "there" in the Westling district. Why is it? Everyone looks for "there" districts news but they don't think of giving it to us. But I guess anyone who writes news for the paper knows what I mean. Everyone is especially busy this time of year, so I'll forgive you, but let's keep hoping, you can find time to make the "scribe" phone to me. Let's co-operate!!

The farm home of Mrs E. Westling was a very busy place a week ago Sunday, when so many people came to see and ride on the old steamer. Chatelaine club served coffee and cake, and sold weiners and buns. The weather was perfect, too.

Last Sunday Mr and Mrs W. Walon entertained for dinner and supper. Those included Mrs. John Lee and Ruth, Leah, Hazel and Jack, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee and children all of Lacombe; Mrs. Vic Hesketh of Okotoks; Mrs. Alberta Mrs. Kirby, Victoria Drake of Blackfalds.

Sympathy of the district goes to Mr and Mrs. Harry Meldrum and family in the passing of Mr. Meldrum Sr.

Combine weather is prevailing for the harvesting at the present. Let's hope it lasts.

Chatelaine club meeting was held in the hall. Mrs. George Shakleton was hostess and Mrs. Charles Webber co-hostess. It's a busy time but a fair number of ladies came out.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Webber have had their two sons, Jack of Montreal and Roger of Kamloops, B.C. visiting the past two weeks.

Wayne Gibson of Carstairs was at the Evans Carson home one day last week.

During world war one he served overseas with the 187th Battalion for two years. During world war two he was a member of the Montreal - Black Watch home defence corps where he served at Petawawa Arsenal.

Moving to Victoria with his family in 1942 Mr. Plumb was employed by Norton - Shipbuilder for seven years before doing construction work until he was employed as first aid man for his employers.

Surviving are his widow, Mary Jane Graves a native daughter of Blackfalds, two sons, Robert and William, three daughters, Pearl (Mrs. Bevan) and Alice at home, brothers Fred and Jack of Red Deer. There are seven grandchildren.

Mr. Plumb was predeceased by his brother Tom of Rimbey in 1958 and his daughter Pearl of Eldon Wash., in 1961.

Funeral services were held in Victoria on Wednesday, September 19.

Honorary pallbearers were Mr. Roy Matthias and Mr. Ray Harris friends of many years, former residents of Blackfalds and Clive, respectively.

New K40 Club Organized For Lacombe and District

A new K40 club for former Kinsmen club members who have reached the age of 40 year or over has been organized in Lacombe.

DON McCORMICK

Who has been chosen charter president of the K40 club of Lacombe, for the 1962-63 term.

Initial meeting of the new group was held at the Don McCormick residence last Friday night, with 13 of the prospective 13 members in attendance.

Don McCormick was named first president of the Lacombe K40's and Tom Ford secretary-treasurer.

The purpose of the K40 club is to allow members to continue a link with Kinsmen after they have passed the age of 40 when they can no longer be treated as active members of Kin.

Many such K40 clubs have been formed in Canada with a constitution closely allied with Kinmen clubs and their objectives.

Since the Kinsmen club of Lacombe was organized in December, 1956, a number of past members have reached the age of 40, and a K40 group here was deemed desirable.

The fifteen charter members are Bob Buck, Russ Walton, Jim Ross, Hugh Reid, Kenneth Mc. Ross, Dr. Don McFarlane, Edgar Sam, Tom Smith, Geo. Brown, Mark Kozub, Ben Mikkelsen, Cliff Lee.

It is planned to have monthly social meetings at various points in the district.

The October meeting plans to have Rod Love as guest speaker at the Lacombe Golf club.

"Did I Catch Him?"

...ept. 12. This was only one of many enjoyable rodeo events which attracted a combined crowd of over 6,000 at jubilee stadium last Friday and Saturday nights. (See other pictures, page 7).

Perseverance Pays Off

It's taken three years, but Lacombe and district residents appear to have finally accepted the Kinsmen indoor rodeo as an established outstanding entertainment value.

In 1960, the Kinsmen lost $600 on the first annual rodeo. In 1961, the Kinsmen lost about $350 on the second annual rodeo.

A few more deficits like that and Kinsmen would have discarded the "annual" idea.

However, perseverance pays off and the 1962 rodeo was a resounding success. A crowd of 1,500 passed through the gates at jubilee stadium Friday night and 2,250 Saturday night — exclusive of reserved seat sales and children who were admitted free.

Rodeo chairman Al Waiselas said Monday that he expects a net profit of about $1,000, including concession money.

Kinsmen were gratified with the patronage and hope that everybody enjoyed the show — which is still an "annual" one.

Proceeds will go toward community projects.

Joffre Post Office Closes

(From our own correspondent)

JOFFRE — The closing of the Joffre post office here Friday marked the end of a 60-year period that it has served our community.

The first post office was established about 1902 by H. Rhodes, who also built and owned the store in which it was located.

In 1903, G. H. England took over the store and post office.

In 1907, the hamlet of Rhodes became known as Joffre, and the later Rhodes post office was established under the same name.

Some of the postmasters throughout the years have been Holmes and Small, and Richardson and Small.

In 1908, the post office was moved to the Green residence presently owned by the Ricketts and it has been in that location ever since.

It is interesting to note that before the local post office was established, residents got their mail at Canyon and Bowden.

The Brookseay post office was at the farm residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ritson located about 1½ miles east of the present site.

Mr. Ritson was the first rural mail carrier in this district and later his daughter, Mildred delivered mail for our district and other rural routes for 30 years.

Since the closing of our post office some of the patrons are getting their mail on RR3, Lacombe and the rest have a group box located beside Joffre hall.

In future, instead of a postal address of Joffre, it will be Box Joffre, RR3, Lacombe.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Cull To Mark Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. PERCY E. CULL

Mr. and Mrs. PERCY E. CULL, respected residents of the town and district for 50 years, will observe their golden wedding anniversary on Tuesday, October 9.

Friends are welcome to attend a reception at the Lacombe normal school dining room next Tuesday between 2:00 and 4:30 in the afternoon and 8:00 and 9:00 in the evening.

The former Clara Randall was married to Percy Cull in the Spring Valley district on October 9 1912 by Rev. R. J. Tate who was then minister at Clive.

The bride was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Randall, who ... ...ttled in 1911 on the farm now operated by Ken Henderson two miles east of Lacombe. The ... have from Perth Road, On...

The groom was the ... ...born to Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Cull pioneers on a farm in the Canyon district in 1884. The family came from Guelph, Ont., and moved to Spring Valley in 1911.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cull were active workers in the Spring Valley district during their long residence there and in Lacombe since when they retired right ...

Mrs. Cull has been a member of United church women's organizations for 51 years both in Spring Valley and in town. Mrs. Cull is still on the executive of UCW, and was president of the group in Lacombe last year.

Mr. Cull is a life member of the Alberta Wheat Pool. He was on the United church board at Spring Valley, and still takes an active part in church affairs.

Mr. Cull has been particularly interested as school activities through the years. He was secretary of the Spring Valley school district for eight years, and served on the ... of the old Red Deer and Lacombe school divisional boards, several times as chairman. He is past president of the Lacombe Friendship club.

The Globe joins others in extending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Cull on this memorable occasion.

Long-Time Citizens Will Be Honored

A public meeting to pay ... to four pioneer residents of the town of Lacombe will be held at the LMC on Friday, October 5 at 7:00 p.m.

While this banquet event is being sponsored by the Lacombe and district board of trade, it is not restricted to board of trade members only and it is hoped all friends of the honored couples will make a special effort to attend.

To be presented with life memberships to the board of trade are: G. T. Jackson, W. H. Merryfield, F. R. McLeod, and Thomas Wilmot. Mr. Wilmot now resides in Calgary.

All four have contributed greatly to the life of the community during the years, serving on the town council and other public organizations.

Mr. Jackson is still secretary of the ... ...McLeod is treasurer on St. Andrew's United church board.

A ... ...time officials of a pioneer business establishment, town Lacombe Nurseries will receive a special plaque from the board of trade on the occasion of its 50th anniversary this year.

John McDonald and his son-in-law, Don Hay, now operate the Nurseries which was founded here in 1912 by the late J. N. B. McDonald.

Board of trade organizers would like to ascertain some idea of the possible attendance at this function, and it would be appreciated if those planning to be present would purchase advance tickets which are on sale at most stores in Lacombe.

Roll Magazines

Help the high school pupils to help themselves by placing your magazine subscription with the students. IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs. Edith Rogge, who passed away October 3, 1960.
God saw she was getting weary
He did what He thought was best,
He put His arms around her
And whispered come to rest.
The golden gate stood open,
There years ago today)
She quickly slipped away
Dear remembered and sadly
Missed by her loving husband
Georges and her daughter Marion

In loving memory of little Thomas Arthur (Tommy) Elder, who passed away on the morning of October 4, 1958.
Gone from the earth so swiftly
And like a flower in bloom
Plucked so late in spring.
Yet called away so soon
Always remembered by Daddy
Mommy, brother Lee, Taylor and Linda.

Clive Thieves Arrested

We are given to understand that the men who broke into and stole from two local garages, have been apprehended. The R. Neilson garage and the G. Blandley garage, were broken into within two weeks of September.

We are sorry to hear that Oscar Chiswell, Clive area resident now living at the senior citizens' lodge in Lacombe, has been taken to Edmonton to undergo surgery.

Some crops are yielding well, as reported by H. Ibbotson, who has some oats which are going 100 bushels to the acre. Wheat is reported to be rather low in grade. Farmers are working around the clock to get the harvest in before the weather changes.

Bentley Band
At Rodeo

A giant potato was brought into town by Mrs. John Bell. It weighed 3¾ lbs., and was 14¼ inches in circumference one way and 19 inches in circumference the other, which would be almost 10 inches long. This is the first giant vegetable to be reported so far. Any others?

The wind of Tuesday bared some of the trees around the district up so that time, the weather in full colors were beautiful to see. Saturday's wind stripped many trees of leaves.

Did anyone notice how many varieties of bugs, insects and spiders there were this summer? Could it be that the spraying of weed-killers and insecticides have killed off the bugs' natural enemy the birds and also toads?

Mr and Mrs K. Nelson and family former Clive residents, were [illegible]

Dust Peg

Dust is once more flying in clouds, as dry weather aids for many during the harvest. Another week of fine weather will see some of the harvest home. The frost is annoying, but at this time of the year and until the farmer has his grain safely harvested it is preferred to rain.

Mr. and Mrs. R. McCormack were back home for the week end, as were Mr and Mrs W R Easton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hanson were Edmonton visitors on Sunday, guests of Mr and Mrs A. W Fowler and family.

Mrs Newfang, whose many friends Gschwendtner's are Clive visitor on Sunday accompanying her two daughter and two grandsons of Ponoka. Her daughter, the former Elsie Fife, is now Mrs Nelson and resides in Ponoka.

K. Stanyar is hospitalized in Lacombe, suffering from pneumonia.

Callers at the home of Mrs. Emma Gschwendtner's were Mrs Lena Borden of Kenora Ontario, and her daughter, Mrs. A. E Kraus of Red Deer.

Ponoka Unexpectedly

Clive and district people were shocked to hear of the sudden and unexpected death, of O. V. Burrows, who died at his home in Clive on Sunday. Mr and Mrs Burrows and family came to Clive about two years ago.

D. F. McAlister of Edmonton and Mr. and Mrs. John Vandermeulen also of Edmonton, were visitors during the week end, on the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Reynolds.

Another smash hit at the Kinsmen indoor rodeo last week end was the musical ride [illegible] the Blindman Valley Riding club. These 12 talented youngsters age seven to 18 years, under the di[illegible]

Canadian Dollar Value Restored, B of M States in Review

Following the success of Canada's emergency action to support the dollar, the way is now open for longer term measures, according to the Bank of Montreal business review for September, just issued.

Tracing the history of Canada's foreign exchange picture since 1858, the review says establishment of a par value of 92.5 U S cents was a return, after some 18 years, to a system similar to that of other major trading nations who are members of the international monetary fund.

Against a background of improved foreign exchange reserves and a Canadian dollar well above parity the B of M says, "it is evident that the emergency program . . . has been successful in restoring stability and confidence in the Canadian exchange market.

"The way is therefore clear to [illegible] constructive, the undertaking longer-term measures designed to overcome the underlying balance-of-payments difficulties which became apparent when the Canadian dollar was overvalued in relation to other currencies."

Key Problem

The bank says that linked to Canada's economy is to that of an overwhelmingly large neighbor subject to ebbs and flows of capital in great volume" — the nation always faces major difficulties in choosing an appropriate exchange regime and rate

However, the B of M points out that other countries have operated successfully under a fixed rate system for many years with only occasional changes in par value.

Canada

In any event, there can be no argument that it will benefit Canada and the rest of the world alike for foreign exchange dealings in this country to be conducted in "an environment of stability and confidence free from major speculative influences," the bank says.

And, the B of M review concludes "the maintenance over extended periods of time of a stable par value for the currency can certainly contribute to this end."

New Bridge Near Blackfalds

A new bridge 180 feet long is being constructed across the Blindman River on one of the county's main roads eight miles west of Blackfalds. Erection of the all-concrete bridge was undertaken by James Tomchuk Construction Ltd of Edmonton last June, and as many as 16 men are working on the job now to rush through completion which is expected by the end of October before the snow flies. Total cost will be about $80,000, including materials and survey, and the county of Lacombe will receive a grant from the provincial government for the whole amount.

Lack of Depth Prevents Stocking At Barnett Lake

An item of interest . . . the deepest spot in Barnett's Lake north of Lacombe . . . is nine feet.

This factual evidence was unearthed last week by Len Thompson and Ralph Hoover, active members of the Lacombe fish and game association, who took about 40 soundings at the lake to determine the maximum depth.

Some thought had been given to having the lake stocked with fish . . . but with a 9 ft. maximum depth the stocking project would not be feasible.

Thanks For What?

NEXT Monday is Thanksgiving day, which is a time for laying aside our tools and toting up the dividends of a bountiful harvest while feasting at the dinner table over a turkey or ham.

The world moves a little swifter, and the common man hemmed in by talk of nuclear bombs and total destruction wonders whether it will all end in it any use giving thanks for anything?

In this part of the world we enjoy peace in a land of plenty. We take our lot for granted, but we are so much better off than most other peoples in most other countries that maybe we should give thanks just to be in Canada.

In Canada, where we are harvesting a profitable grain crop from the soil, where the wide open spaces give us room to breathe, without fear of war skirmishes from a sullen neighbor, where we can take drives in the country and marvel at the changing colors of the autumn leaves, where we can watch the breath-taking beauty of the sunsets as the horizon darkness a new bit earlier every day.

These are some of the small rewards in life that we rarely recognize and appreciate. It's the little things that count, and we should remember them on Thanksgiving day.

Support Home and School

PARENTS have a big stake in the education of their children. Most fathers and mothers are interested in what their sons and daughters are learning in school, and while they would like to help improve educational systems they feel handcuffed as to a vehicle to use to achieve this purpose.

One organization where they can at least lend a contribution to education is the home and school association. Here parents and teachers can meet on a common floor once a month, not to do battle but to exchange ideas that will promote a better education for youngsters in which we are all vitally concerned.

As a recent Royal Bank letter states

> The home and school movement has made a significant contribution to education by constantly striving to develop parental interest in improving educational opportunities for their children. In many cases it has been instrumental in achieving noteworthy advances in school curriculum and facilities

> A home and school association is not designed to take the running of the school out of the hands of the trustees and the principal. On the other hand, warns Dr. S. R. Laycock in "The Parents' Responsibility, it should not degenerate into a sodden aid to provide luxuries or needed supplies through the running of whist drives and dances. Its purpose is to co-operate with the school authorities so as to assist in the training of pupils to be mentally healthy and well-rounded citizens.

> The association must be continually studying if it is to be of service to the school. Group discussion is a useful tool in planning a course of action, but let it be discussion of how to do things now and not heady talk about a distant Utopia. As Dr Samuel Johnson said: "While you are considering which of two things you should teach your child first, another boy has learned them both."

> The home and school association is not a platform from which educators acquaint parents with policies, but an assembly for the exchange of ideas having as their purpose the provision of the best education that parents and teachers can imagine

Centennial Celebration

A CANADA centenary council is going ahead with plans to celebrate the nation's 100th birthday in 1967. This appointment at an early date is wise, because the years have a way of flitting by and a project of this scope requires years of time and planning.

First publicity from the council includes these words: "To mark this great milestone in our history, most people agree that parades, pageants and general festivities, while an important part of the occasion, are not sufficient in themselves. The feeling is widespread that projects of lasting benefit should be undertaken."

The suggestion is made that permanent memorials like parks and buildings and recreation areas would be suitable. The booklet intimates that grants would be made available to communities for authorized purposes. It is hard to see how financial handouts could be very substantial considering the thousands of populated centres across the nation that would all clamour for a slice of the "manna" The dominion government has become austerity-minded and would find itself in difficulties if some communities were favored and others ignored.

At any rate, it isn't too early for the town of Lacombe to start thinking about what sort of local celebration should be organized. Other ideas advanced by the centenary council like establishing a museum or a park hardly apply locally. A natural museum housed in the old Hacking school died from lack of interest, and the town is endowed with beauty aids for parks on the town square and the experimental farm, aside from [illegible]

A mention of Gull Lake does bring to mind one possible development that town council could investigate. That is to sponsor a regatta, something that has been singularly lacking at "our lake" for a long time

The date is propitious—July 1—and a splendid sequence of water events including swimming and boating might be an ideal type of birthday celebration.

Another essential part of any anniversary program is music, and local school bands with four score years experience under their belt should participate and help create a holiday atmosphere.

The year 1967 is not too far away, and the town should be thinking ahead now

Reflections of the Times

Shades of the Past

We had heard and read on several occasions of Mr. Roger Lebeuf and his Citizens Mineral Rights and Justice League and had also filed several of his pamphlets in the waste paper basket.

It was rather surprising then to learn from the dailies that Premier E. C. Manning forecasts that the League will emerge as a full fledged political party in next year's provincial election. However, on second thought, why not? The ridiculous and irresponsible Mr Real Caouette was dismissed as a minor aberration before the results of the federal election.

Mr Carl Nickle, a sensible man and Alberta's best authority on the oil and gas industry, has put Lebeuf and company with so much alarm that he devotes three full pages in the August issue of his magazine "Oil in Canada" to an editorial attacking his statements as half truths and "outright errors of fact."

It would seem that Mr Lebeuf poses as the champion of surface right owners as opposed to the unholy alliance of the international oil cartels and the filthy rich and ruthless provincial government Shades of the political past! This is the kind of talk that brought high office to the late Mr. William Aberhart and Premier E. C. Manning and, much later, to Mr Real Caouette

All adopted Major Douglas' line to preach that the international bankers and their toadies — the governments of the day—were in league against common men

There is good reason to believe that the Citizens' Mineral Rights and Justice League will not attract the voters because it is being taken seriously by Canada's wisest politician, Mr E. C. Manning. He has a good case on his side and will know how to use it.

There are good reasons why the Social Credit regime in Alberta should be ended soon, but the government's oil and gas policy with its concern for all Albertans is not one of them.

GREEN ACRES

By District Agriculturist Walter McNary

Feed Testing

How that our winter's feed supply is in do we really know what we've got? The volume of our feed supply is easily determined but the feed value is another matter

At our feeders' short course last winter, Dr McElroy of the animal science department emphasized the fact that even the good looking hay can be misleading We used in say that if hay has a good green color then it would contain [illegible] carotene A to supply adequate amounts for cattle feeding However it has been found that the only real way to determine the feed value of any feed is to have it analyzed at the university and all feed laboratory

Feed samples sent in can be tested for protein content and also vitamin A in the case of forage Cost of this service is $1.00 per sample plus an extra dollar if a vitamin A or nitrate test is required Sample containers can be picked up at our office

Care of Raspberry Plantations

Efficient late summer and fall management of the raspberry patch should ensure good production for 10 to 12 years, states researcher B. H Anderson of the federal experimental farm at Morden, Saskatchewan

Raspberry plantations suffer from a tolerable warm and cold periods in late s ason. This can be avoided by using [illegible] canes over, and covering the tips with soil about October 1 each year. Mulching should be done each year preferably soon after the fruiting season. When grown in rows the new canes should be thinned to a certain spacing, usually 15 to 18 inches wide When grown in hills eight to 10 canes are sufficient in a hill two feet in diameter

Raspberries are heavy feeders If the plantation is a good one, a heavy dressing of manure [illegible] applied in the fall or early spring will insure production

Pumpkin grown by Rod Sobbers and weighing nearly 37 pounds is displayed in the children's vegetable show at Acme and another right behind it at over 30 pounds is grown by Paulette Lecoutere

Warm weather allows Mr and Mrs Joe Woodrow of Lacombe to pick strawberries yesterday

Removing Stains from Household Furniture

Removing stains from furniture can create a problem. The usual stumbling block in removing effluent and successful methods of keeping furniture in good condition

Most wood furniture is finished with lacquer or varnish Lacquer is [illegible] relatively soft you can mark it with your fingernail, varnish is harder but not as clear. Both can be protected by weekly polishing with non-soft wax liquid wax

Mix soap and water mild rem- [illegible] stains, by wipe up spilled liquid immediately If [illegible] further as moisture chipped the with [illegible] can be [illegible] the soft surface enlarge and refin- to the grain

Normal use will eventually make fabric covered furniture dirty no matter how often you vacuum it To wash it add a mild detergent to warm water, whip up some thick suds and scrub only the suds into the fabric with a brush

You must be careful with upholstery cleaners not to get them too wet They may make water rings and those cannot be removed — not even professionally Thus home method work the very same if you get the fabric too wet it will water stain also

Cold water is the safest thing to use to remove stains but perhaps use it be to paint ink or grease stains Boiling point stains use rubbing alcohol Remove grease by putting the stain with [illegible] soaked in carbon tetrachloride turning the cloth after each pat to expose a clean surface Remember vapour from carbon tetrachloride is poisonous so never use it in a closed room Use it sparingly on furniture with foam rubber because it absorbs by too, best leave vinegar bleaching acetone dyes, ink iodine iodine carbolic acid, turpentine and household bleach Wipe them up at once Clean [illegible] stains with soap and water, detergents, turpentine or wax but don't use steel wool — it will scratch the surface too and cutting on the surface with a knife!

NIGHTS DAYS

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They toss and turn in bed — and then are dull and listless throughout the day. All of which may be due to a temporary but sore condition which calls for the use of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they slow down and impurities stay in the system, disturbed rest, dead tired and headache often follow. If you don't get real rest at night — if you haven't that delightful step of health in the daytime — use Doan's Kidney Pills. You can depend on Doan's!

Colleen Sim Attractive Bride Of David Durrant of Mirror

Tees United church was decorated with fall flowers for the wedding of Colleen Mae Sim, daughter of Mr and Mrs. L. Sim, and David John Durrant, son of Mr and Mrs B Durrant, of Mirror.

Rev C. H. Parks of Alix conducted the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a full-length gown of tiered lace over satin, pearled neckline embroidered with sequins and pearls, with matching fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses centred with a white orchid.

The matron of honor, Mrs. B. Lasley, sister of the groom, and Miss Sharon Knight and Miss Lorraine Parsons, as bridesmaids, all wore street length dresses of blue nylon over taffeta with white lace head dresses and accessories. They carried pink and white carnations.

The flower girls, twin sisters of the bride, were dressed in pink organza over taffeta and carried baskets of white roses.

Best man was Mr Rich Durrant, brother of the groom, and ushers were Mr Harvey Sim and Mr Bill Lasley.

Wedding music was played by Mrs Rhoda Ferguson of Mirror, and Mrs A. Parsons rendered a solo during the signing of the register.

For her daughter's wedding, the bride's mother wore a blue figured wool dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The reception was held in Tees hall with 100 guests in attendance. The bridal table was centered with a three-tiered cake decorated by Mrs J. Morris with silver lapers on either side.

Toast to the bride was given by Mr H. Sim, uncle of the bride, to which the groom fittingly replied.

Former Alix Girl Wed

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. WALLACE

Rubie Guss Weds Mr. George Wallace

Baskets of mums were arranged at the altar of Centa memorial church in Red Deer for the ceremony uniting Rubie Joan, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Guss of Red Deer formerly of Alix, and George Patrick, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wallace of Tappen, Ireland.

Rev. W. P. Irving, formerly of Red Deer, performed the ceremony. Mr. H. Montgomery was organist, and Mrs. Lee Bulter of Stettler sang "The Wedding Prayer" and during the signing of the register "All Joy Be Thine".

Entering the church with her father, the bride was beautiful in a Victorian style floor-length gown of white embroidered peau-de-soie featuring a slim fitted bodice with a softly sculptured neckline and a full bouffant train of chiffon.

A cyclet of chiffon mum was centered with tiny pearls held her elbow-length bouffant veil.

A single strand of cultured pearls, a gift of the groom, completed the bride's costume. The bride's bouquet was of American Beauty roses.

Miss Dale Guss, matron of honor, wore a cocktail-length floral styled frock of pink chiffon of beige and yellow overlaid with sheer beige nylon. Mrs. Maureen Fraser and Miss Jesse Guss were identically-styled dresses in peach of blue. All were matching head pieces and carried bouquets of blue and white mums.

Mr. Alex Wallace, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Mr. Cecil Blackburn and Mr. John Guss. Master Ronnie Guss carried the rings on white satin cushions for the double-ring ceremony.

The bride's mother chose a blue taffeta, sheath overlaid with embroidered nylon sheer. She wore a matching hat and white accessories, with a corsage of roses.

A reception for 85 guests was held in the Holiday Inn.

The bride, who was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with tiny pink roses and flanked by white candles in silver candelabras.

Mr. Elginar Bookbinder was master of ceremonies, and Mr. Harold Fraser proposed the toast to the bride. The best man read telegrams of congratulations from Tipperary, Ireland, High Prairie and Montreal.

Mrs Lillian Dumers, aunt of the bride, was in charge of the guest book, recording guests from Calgary, Edmonton, Grande Prairie, Sexsmith, Irma, Stettler, Alix, Bashaw, Barrhead, Alliance, Hanna, Drumheller and High River.

For her honeymoon the bride changed to a blue silk ensemble with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Following a honeymoon at the west coast, the newlyweds will make their home in Calgary.

Master Farm Family In Lacombe District

Master Award To Kamps Family

A picture of neatness, friendliness, planning and prosperity bordering highway-12 three miles west of Lacombe is the farmstead of the Albert Kamps family, the successful candidate in the west central region for the 1962 Alberta "master farm family award."

Thirty-three years ago Mr. Kamps came to Canada from Holland. First a labourer, then tenant, and finally for the last 18 years as an owner.

He has built up his farm to its present stature. This consists of one section of rich land, 110 dairy animals, a beef feeding enterprise of 100 head annually, and the buildings and equipment necessary to handle this combination of operations.

The master farm family award is presented annually by the department of agriculture of the province of Alberta to not more than four families in Alberta who have through their farming ability and through contribution to the advancement of the province have been outstanding in their district.

The awards began in 1949 and have been awarded annually since. Nominations are received by, and assessed by, local residents and agriculture members and by officials of the Alberta department of agriculture.

The Kamps family of four boys and two girls, three of whom are still attending school, are all interested in agriculture. They have been exceptionally active in 4-H work.

Max, the oldest daughter, and Bill, the second son, both won trips to the Toronto Royal as a result of their club activities. In addition, Bill was awarded the Alberta Wheat Pool scholarship to the Olds school of agriculture in 1961-62.

Henry, who was also an outstanding club member, is now putting his 4-H training to practical use as a livestock buyer with one of the large packing firms.

Grace who is now in grade eleven manages the family's 4-H interest in the Lacombe dairy club, of which her father has been director for several years, and leader for two.

The Kamps home has traditionally been a gathering place for the young people of the district reflecting the genuine interest and understanding of Mrs Kamp, in the younger generation. The hospitable neighborliness extends to others, whether it is to share in the harvest of the berries or garden, or looking after a baby while the parents are away.

The major enterprise on the Kamps farm is dairying. About 60 high producing Holsteins supply the milk that goes to both the Lacombe and Calgary market. The dairying is a three way partnership between Mr Kamps, son Bill and son-in-law Dave Alma.

The herd is on the provincial cow testing plan, and the, artificial insemination, and purchase of some fine replacement animals of which several are registered, have all contributed to the rapid improvements in production of the herd. Production now averages well over 1,200 pounds per cow.

Field production has been geared to the livestock requirements. Sixty percent of the cultivated acreage produces cereal crop, and 40 percent is in forage. The cereal is used both for grain and silage. While most of the forage is baled, the remainder is used as the two silos. This combination of feed production has succeeded so well in providing both current requirements and feed reserve that a beef feeding enterprise has been possible for several years.

In addition to these farm accomplishments, the Kamps have found time to play a leading role in community, church and social activities.

As a local school board member, director of the telephone company, director of the Lacombe feeders association and member of the FUA local, as well as his 4-H activities, Mr. Kamps has given leadership in the fields of education and agriculture in his district.

As a member of Rotary, and as deacon and treasurer of his church, he has worked for the moral and religious improvement of his district.

Mrs. Kamps has concentrated mainly on making her home a neighborhood and social centre. Here she has also found time to work with the ladies' aid. The keen participation of the children has been their outstanding 4-H club work.

The Albert Kamps family has shown that planning hard work the team spirit, love of neighbor, and concern for their community is not only a path to success, but a source of satisfaction.

RECORDS ARE MADE TO BE BROKEN!

Which was done on Sept. 24th, on a sale of Aberdeen steers at $25.60 per cwt. dressed weight plus sharecrop of the delayed kill on an out of the province sale.

This will go down as the highest recorded Alberta sale since April, 1954. Compared with Ontario prices of $23.50 to $24.50 and low U.S. prices of around $18.50 live weight, these could well be the highest costing hogs in the world for that week.

This was an unusual sale, the result of extremely short supplies plus an urgent demand for hogs, but the fact remains that in order to obtain this price the hogs had to be available for purchase by all processors.

An urgent need exists for more hogs to be offered for sale on a competitive basis in Alberta. The surest and most economical way to do this is to market your hogs through your own organization.

Winter Best Time to Make Indoor Home Improvements

"You can save yourself much time and trouble," says Fred Pomeroy, manager of the Lacombe branch of the Bank of Montreal, "by having your indoor home improvements done in the winter when building tradesmen are not tied up on outside jobs."

"And it's often more economical, too," continues Mr. Pomeroy. "So have all those repairs or improvements done at once."

Of course, there's always the chance that you haven't the ready cash to make those repairs or improvements now. If that's your problem, drop in at the B of M and have a chat with Mr. Pomeroy about a Home Improvement Loan. M.I.L.'s are available for all kinds of worthwhile purposes — from insulating the attic to wiring the basement playroom.

B of M Home Improvement Loans are inexpensive — only six per cent interest per annum — and they're repayable in easy monthly instalments. Why not drop in at the B of M tomorrow Mr. Pomeroy will be glad to give you full details about a B of M Home Improvement Loan

Honeymoon at World's Fair

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. PETERSON

Carrol Johnson of Crestomere Becomes Bride of C. W. Peterson

Pamela United church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Carrol Amelia Johnson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Johnson of the Crestomere district, south of Lacombe, and Mr Christian Wesley Petersen, eldest son of Mr and Mrs. C. Peterson of Carnwood.

Rev. Moriarity officiated at the double-ring ceremony which took place on September 15 at 2:30 p.m.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a full - length gown of embossed peau de soie. The dress featured a portrait neckline and lily point sleeves. Her shoulder length veil was held in place by a small crown of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of American beauty roses, complemented by flowing white satin ribbons.

Her only jewelry was a string of cultured pearls, gift from the groom.

Preceding the bride were four attendants. The bridesmaids were dressed identically with Miss Myra Frank of Pamela in street length gown of pink nylon organza. Her cousin, Miss Sharon Schoenherr of Lacombe wore a street-length gown of yellow in silk organza.

Their headpieces of matching shades were held in place by a rose of self-material. Bouquets of mauve carnations and white mums completed their outfits.

The two little flower girls carried out the color scheme, with Quanita Doch, cousin of the bride in yellow and Sherri Tyra, niece of the groom, in pink.

Their dresses were fashioned of nylon organza in powder puff style. They were small circlets of flowers in their hair and carried bouquets of mauve carnations and white mums to match those of the bridesmaids.

Green pews were marked with sunspium mauve orchids tied with white satin bows. Large baskets of gladioli and mums graced the chancel steps.

Miss Dolores Ogilvie of Lacombe, accompanied by the organist, Mrs. H Brekke, sang "The Wedding Prayer" at the beginning of the ceremony, and "Oh, Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The groomsmen were Chris Lemon and Carl Jacobsen of Pamela. Ushers were Ricky Bissett, cousin of the bride, and Douglas Peterson, brother of the groom.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a two-piece ensemble, sub rose in color, and matching accessories.

The groom's mother wore a two-piece wool suit in muted shades of browns and greens with accessories to match. Each wore a corsage of white roses.

Following the ceremony, a hot turkey supper was served to over 130 guests in the christian education building.

Miss Doreene Kolcyak, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Mr Albert Mottern, long-time family friend, was master of ceremonies. Mr Moriarity asked the blessing.

Mr Peter Davies, in proposing the toast to the bride, spoke very endearingly of his niece. The groom curtantly replied.

Between courses of the meal, two solos were rendered by Delores Ogilvie, accompanied by Mrs. H Brekke. Two vocals solos by Mr H Belegar, accompanied by Mrs T Butterfield and two piano solos by Mrs J Butterfield.

Following a few witty remarks, Mr Mottern also read a telegram from Mr and Mrs Bob Peterson (uncle and aunt of the groom), Grande Prairie, conveying their best wishes.

Amidst flash bulbs and prize taking, the bride and groom cut the traditional slice of their wedding cake.

Hosted by the bride's mother, and decorated by Vivian Ogilvie, the cake was set on a large mirror and embedded in tulle of shaded mauve. The cake was topped with miniature bride and groom.

Tall white tapers and vases of roses were placed on either side of the cake, which completed the bouquets table of the reception.

The newly-weds were recipients of a wonderful array of gifts from friends and relatives.

A large crowd gathered at Lacombe hall for some evening for the wedding dance.

For a honeymoon trip that took Chris and Carol to the World's Fair at Seattle via Banff and Vancouver, the bride wore a two-piece beige cotton knit suit with beige, brown and green colors in her accessories. Her corsage was of bronze mums.

Out-of-town guests came from Crestomere, Erkville, Lacombe, Edmonton, Coronation, and Red Deer.

Many good wishes follow this popular young couple to their home in Pamela. The groom is a staff member of the C.A.D.P.

School Festival Next Spring Assured

Favorable reception to another music festival was given by musicians at the enthusiastic meeting who held their monthly meeting in the county office Tuesday.

The festival involves students in elementary school grades in all schools in the county, and supervisor Miss Bell wanted to know whether committee members were receptive to a festival again next spring.

Music supervisor Gerald Edwards will be asked to go ahead with plans to hold another festival, which proved so popular with the public last May.

The committee also accepted two new teachers on the county staff. Mrs. Helen Farewell at Blackfalds, and L. Cole who has been assigned to grade five at Mirror.

Total teaching staff in the county is now 178, said Mr Bell, which together with six in private schools (at Woody Nook and College Heights) makes the number [illegible].

Mr. Bell advised the committee that there would not be a school holiday on Monday, November 12, which is being observed as Remembrance day across Canada.

Bursary Report

J. S. McCormick reported on the recent meeting of the bursary committee to consider applications. Of these received, he said, only two qualified for a $400 county of Lacombe bursary: Norman Treleaven, and Miss E. Clegg.

The committee members then spent a good deal of time hammering out a new agreement form, setting out conditions of the bursary. Most important is the consent of the applicant to teach in the county after completion of his training.

In this way, education committee hopes to encourage the addition of qualified teachers on staff here.

Too Many Windows?

County foreman Carl Justi in his monthly progress report asked if "so much glass is needed" in architect's plans on new school construction.

Mr Justi pointed out that window repairs has just been made at Alix school, and the cost of one particular sheet was $14.85. "Some windows in some schools are bigger and more expensive," he declared.

Now busy re-naming the elementary school road at Bentley, using 15 barrels of tar at about $16 per barrel. These roads should be re-processed each four to six years, Mr. Justi said, and the Blackfalds road at Lacombe elementary will be done if weather permits.

School Bus Crossings Worry Mothers

Strong criticism of bad railroad crossings traversed by school buses in the Lacombe county was voiced by a delegation of three ladies from Haynes district attending Tuesday's meeting of the education committee

Mrs. Wilfred Kramm, Mrs Alvin Ferris and Mrs Frank Robsons roused objection to the use of the CNR crossing east of Stillwood school which is "blind" due to a big cut-bank

"We don't want another Lamont", said Mrs. Kramm.

WHAT OF HOSPITAL?

Town council at its regular meeting last night was urged to contact the provincial government for information on when the proposed chronic hospital will be built in Lacombe Councillor Wes Jackson noted that in the latest government news release showing intended hospital construction for 1963 the name of Lacombe does not appear. Town council made land available for a chronic hospital site some time ago.

Committee chairman Art Wigmore stated that "we will support you" on any representations made to the provincial government "and help eliminate the hazard if possible."

The delegation also made reference to the general speeding on county roads, and made it clear the accusation did not include school buses "Hunters are particularly bad," they said adding that county police should take all action possible to check speeding.

The ladies also requested consideration of the education committee to change the bus route in that sector to accommodate small children in each of the three families who live more than half a mile from the present route

This request was left for study by the bus committee

Other Delegations

Rev Ken Collinson and Rev John Martens attended the meeting to ask that an outstanding speaker Rev. Ryan Given be permitted to address an assembly of high school students at Lacombe on Tuesday, Nov. 13

Approval was given for one person to the meeting, on the understanding that the address would be non-religious dealing with moral conditions of the modern [illegible]

Jack Martin and Stuart Church representing the minor hockey association asked the committee for the use of school property to build an extension to the outdoor skating rink located north of [illegible]

The question of liability in case of injury was raised, and the need for adequate supervision voiced.

It was agreed that representatives from the school committee, town council and minor hockey association should get together and subject to a suitable agreement on conditions and maintenance, the school committee will make the land available

Ed Johnston was present on behalf of Calgary Power Limited to clarify the rate structure on electrical outlets at Sutherland school.

Quick Action Checks Fire at Ogilvie Farm

A bad brush fire threatened the farm home and buildings on the Ken Ogilvie farm, 6½ miles south-east of town, last Wednesday at noon.

The 300-gallon fire truck from Lacombe raged to the scene. With a large number of neighbors assisting, the flames were kept under control and the fire prevented from spreading.

Fire chief Colin Dalzell, and firemen Bob Hunt and Jack Simpson manned the big truck and made a second trip to town for more water to soak down the smouldering embers.

Neighbors, with axes and shovels, helped to contain the flames, while other men moved farm machinery from the path of the fire.

370 Singers In Choral Festival

"We need more of this kind of entertainment," stated Rev. N. Beute of the Bethel Christian Reformed church, and 700 persons attending the fourth choral festival in the Lacombe memorial centre Monday night agreed with applause.

A total of 370 singers blended their voices in two different choirs for a fine program of choral music as a Thanksgiving day public offering.

The choirs were well received, and the adjudicators had some nice things to say about them all.

The point spread for the ten choirs was close, from 362 to 370.

Thought For the Week...

He alone has energy who cannot be deprived of it.

Cougar at Large In Forming District North of Lacombe

A cougar has been sighted by several district residents during the past few weeks, but no one has been able to get a direct shot at the wild animal.

Jack Collett, local gas company representative, told The Globe yesterday that he had been told the cougar was seen six miles north of Lacombe.

Mr. Collett picked up his rifle, but although he sighted the animal on the high bluffs, was unable to get close enough for a good shot.

District Planning Commission Tells Council: "We Are Working"

Action of the Red Deer and district planning commission to "go slow" and prepare an accurate general survey of the town of Lacombe was defended by two officials, Dennis Cole and Peter Beevis, who attended the regular meeting of town council last night and it is our desire to finish it too."

Mayor H. A. Gordon said that council was working "in the best interests of the town" and some work in the commission appeared to be no slow several councillors wondered if the town was getting full value for its money.

Mr. Beevis, who is doing most of the work in Lacombe, pointed out that the town joined the commission in July, 1960, which is just over two years rather than three years.

He said that "a great deal of work has been done so far on this study," which should be on the heads of the town by the end of the fiscal year (March 31, 1963)

Mr Beevis went on to itemize some of the survey work completed to date

- Physical characteristics of the town like climate, etc
- Typography and soil zone studies, which has a bearing on potential farm expansion and population in the surrounding area
- Population showing growth since 1901, rates of natural increase, migration, age distribution and [illegible]
- Residential accommodation, including number of rental properties, density of occupation, etc

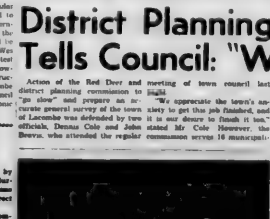
"This is as far as the study has gone to date," stated Mr Beevis The next area of study here will be the age of houses and their condition, to help determine how much residential land to zone or [illegible]

"You can't put forward a zoning by-law on sheer guess-work," Mr Beevis emphasized, "(when) a realistic forecast of the town's projection of growth which can only be obtained by means of an exhaustive survey."

"Much work is in our files that your council has never seen," Mr Cole explained to the mayor It is hoped to complete the work in the near future and make available "a useful document for the management of the town for many years to come"

Town council thanked both commission officials for attending the meeting and outlining the scope of work undertaken.

Without a dissenting vote, council approved the requisition of $2,238 which is the town's contribution to the operating costs of the commission for the 1963-64 fiscal year



Nursery Presentation

Lacombe Nurseries Limited, one of the town's pioneer businesses, this year observes its 50th year of continuous operation It was fitting that the Lacombe and district board of trade should recognize this milestone of one of its members at the banquet in the LMC last Friday night, in the form of a plaque accepted by John McDonald (left), president of the company, from president Al Leal Mr. McDonald paid tribute to his father, J. N. B. McDonald, founder of the Nurseries, and to his mother and his wife. In accepting the presentation, Mr. McDonald said he did so on behalf of the entire staff.

Clive Fire Brigade Called to Pump House Fire on Hecht Farm

CLIVE — The fire siren sounded an alert about 4:45 p.m. Tuesday when a call for help came from the farm home of W (Bill) Hecht. His pump house was on fire.

Dan Genet, mayor of Clive, had the fire truck out and ready to go in a very few minutes. The pump house was destroyed, and the paint on the dwelling nearby was slightly scorched.

The wind blew the flames away from the house, so that no damage (except the scorching) was done.

The fire was one month of dry weather. Only the new rain prevented worse. It has enabled farmers to take off their crops. Once the harvest is in, and that should be in a few days, a rain would be welcomed, as there is little or no fall-up moisture.

Mr and Mrs. E. Dalton were in Edmonton visitors on Tuesday of last week.

Flour Rate

Due to a change in statutory holiday sailing time, it will be necessary to have flour for Clive Globe out in order when the holiday falls on a Monday.

On these holidays, the mail has to be in the post office at 8:45 a.m. Any news received on a Monday holiday after 9:45 a.m. will have to be held over a week. These new mail regulations cause no effect on October 1.

We hope that for convenience sake not too many statutory holidays fall on Monday, because this reporter is often away on Thursdays and Tuesdays, and would be in by the preceding Saturday.

Remember, remember, when events often happen between and during the week end. Thank you for past co-operation.

Winter Arena Schedule to Be Drawn Up

All parties having a special interest in the operation of Johnston stadium this winter are invited to attend a public meeting on the town office on Friday, Oct. 19, at 7:30 p.m.

Councilor Ivan Stonebocker and town council last night told a rush schedule will be drawn up for the stadium's use by many different sports groups like figure skating, broomball, ice-hockey etc., and it is hoped to arrange the schedule in the best way possible to satisfy all.

At the same time, the rink committee will consider a Buckets hockey club proposal for a 70'x 120' area at all entrances to the hockey gate rewards, with 70'x 70' of the game going to the Buckets, and 20'x to those who would also pay for necessary help.

Bentley Grid Squad Sinks Eckville 44-0

BENTLEY — Bentley's second football game was played at Eckville on October 4, when Bentley with a brilliant ground attack defeated Eckville by a score of 44 to 0. Led by halfback Stan Bolenchuk, they went for a total of 303 yards. The defence held the Eckville team to only three first downs, all of which occurred in the dying minutes of the game.

The game was played with confidence and precision which only practice can bring Ric Schmidt Bentley's punter made 20 points on two touchdowns three converts, two rouges and a field goal. Gary Lent made six points and Wayne Zakowuchuk 18 points.

Eckville only had one good chance in more when an end dropped a pass in the end zone. It was a clean game to watch although there were not very many out to see the game as the weather was rather cold.

Lacombe Rams Defeat Innisfail Friday, 19-6

Lacombe Rams defeated the Innisfail high school football squad 19-6 in a game played last Friday before a large crowd of delegates high school students at the football grounds here.

The local team went ahead 7-0 on a touchdown by Dean Smith converted by quarterback Rod Smith. Before the end of the first quarter a Rod Smith to Brian Mc Lean pass gave the Rams another six pounder, and put them ahead 13-0. The convert was missed.

Innisfail came out with a determined drive in the second half but Lacombe's Lorne Ferguson intercepted a pass and galloped 63 yards for a Ram T.D. that gave the locals at 19-0 lead.

It wasn't until the final minutes of the game that Innisfail capitalized on a Lacombe fumble deep in Ram territory and bang ed across for a six pointer to end the scoring for the day.

The Ram front wall contained the Innisfail running attack and an alert secondary kept the visitors' passing game to 40 yards while Rod Smith was passing to his receivers for 105 yards. Lacombe net rushed Innisfail 130 yards to 125 yards.

The Rams were pushed back on seven scoring threats by costly penalties to eg penalized for a total of 85 yards, as compared with 15 yards in penalties assessed against Innisfail.

Next game in the football league sees the winless Red Deer squad at Lacombe on Friday.

Ponoka leads the league with a 2-0 win-loss record Lacombe and Stettler are in second spot each with two wins in three outings.

Friendship Club Members Acknowledge Anniversaries

Friendship club met on Thursday October 4, with a fair attendance. There were eight birthdays honored. This month Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Cull celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reed celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary. Miss Gillander was a welcome visitor.

There was some discussion about spending a gift to the club of $25 from the late Mr. Brown. A committee was chosen to deal with this matter.

A very enjoyable program followed. Mrs. Hoppus favored with a lively piano solo and encore Mrs. Adams read a significant prophecy made in 1720 by the poet Grey. Her second number was "A Heap o' Living" by Edgar Guest.

Mrs. King read a humorous short poem written by a very old lady.

The members then enjoyed a sing-song of old favorites accompanied by Mrs. Dolling.

Mrs. W. Craig read a poem on "Thanksgiving". All participated in a contest guessing words which contain the word "age"

After a beautiful lunch served by Mrs. J. Roberts, the Queen closed the meeting.

Large Number Attend Opening of New Funeral Chapel

A large number of town and district residents inspected the new premises of Frolen and Kirkman funeral chapel at the official opening on Saturday and during "open house" hours on Sunday.

During the brief ceremony Saturday afternoon, greetings were brought to the new business principals by Hon. A. R. Patrick provincial secretary. Mayor R. A. Gordon, on behalf of the town of Lacombe and Rev. R. Cameron, representing Dr. J. E. Davies for the Gideon Society of Canada.

Rev. R. M. Colinson, representing the Lacombe ministerial association, led those present in prayer.

Following the ceremony, Glen Fenton, Max Kirkman and Ken McDougall conducted tours through the new building.

Four-Team, Eight-man Football League is Formed

A highly contagious football fever has struck with resounding force in the Lacombe area this fall. Early last week a new push was reached with the formation of an eight man high school tackle football squad.

Now, close to 80 boys are actively participating on school football teams.

The main purpose of this new squad is to provide football for boys who are too big for the junior high school teams, but do not consider themselves ready for the regulation 12-man game.

The smaller high schools are now able to provide football as part of their extra-curricular activities with the formation of this new league. Bentley, Eckville and Rimbey are the three other teams competing.

Co-captains of the Lacombe squad are Gary L'Hirondelle and Wayne Hepp.

Other team members include Frank Charlton, J. D. Whitney, Don Logue, Rod Morrison, Ken Wigmore, Malcolm Kricheene, Dean Robottom, Larry Walton, Klaus Werkman, Rod Graves, Glen Long, Aiden Stevenson, Steve Stonehouff and Al Randall.

The coaching and managing duties are being shared by Jim Lavers and John Walker.

Prospects for expansion next year are excellent. Both Clive and Alix have expressed interest in forming teams another season.

Master Farm Family

LAST week, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kampa earned outstanding recognition as one of four Alberta "master farm families" named by the provincial government for 1962.

That is a personal triumph for Mr Kampa, who emigrated here from Holland in 1929, and through resourcefulness and hard work built up a successful dairy farm which he operates today. It is also a mark of achievement for Mrs Kampa, who is an excellent example of a helpful wife "whose husband made good." The family of four boys and two girls also receive a share of the credit.

The award is a great honor to the Kampa family, and an honor to the citizens of this town and district.

The Globe joins in extending sincere congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Kampa and members of the family.

Dust Fog

DUST has been hanging like a pall over the town of Lacombe for the last few weeks, coinciding with our rain-free period.

Of all the petty annoyances that local residents are subjected to, when comparing life in a small town with a city, the most pernicious is the choking dust that clogs the air and film our lungs.

Because we lack pavement (and what we have isn't clean), our dirt roads are whipped up by motor traffic into dense clouds of dust particles that are unhealthy and unnecessary.

The town laid aside an appropriation for street oiling in the 1962 budget, and it hasn't spent all the money. Only one oil application was made on a few streets early this summer.

It's too late to do anything now, but we can learn from past mistakes. In 1963, council should see to it that an extensive street oiling program is planned and carried out at least twice — once in the spring and again in late summer.

Local residents shouldn't have to suffer through another season of dust fog like this last one.

Let's Keep Private Enterprise

THE issue of public ownership vs. free enterprise is very much in the forefront again.

Premier Lesage of Quebec has announced that government participation of power companies will be the key plank in his party's platform in the November provincial election. This proclamation is less than a year after premier Bennett resorted to strong-arm tactics in seizing the interests of the private B.C. Electric for state ownership.

Not surprisingly, Albertans are wondering if this province is next. Premier Manning has already stated that his government has no intention of taking over the power companies of Alberta, and this is good. The timing and content of the message was appropriate. There is sound basic logic supporting the case for private control of power in this province, as premier Manning pointed out.

Of course, the socialists think otherwise and they are fond of drawing specious comparisons of power costs and number of cattle in Alberta with, say, those in Manitoba, without due consideration to other factors such as concentration of rural farm populations, accessibility to power stations, possible subsidies and losses in tax revenues, etc.

It is fairly axiomatic that when government assumes operation of a business, the business suffers from inefficiency and mismanagement (or overmanagement). Bureaucracy leads to more employees, confusion over delineation of duties among department heads, and a lack of incentive on the part of all workers.

Profit is not the motive of a state enterprise but service, yet curiously both economy and service usually deteriorate.

In private enterprise, the desire for profit leads to good business practices, and good service is a natural by-product.

The power companies of Alberta render good service commensurate with reasonable rates to the consumer, and there is no need for government control here.

Parliament Reconvenes

AS parliament assembled last week, it became apparent that the strength of prime Minister Diefenbaker and the Progressive-Conservatives lay not in their numerical strength but in the inability of the opposition parties to agree on a united stand that would topple the minority government.

The Liberals want another national election as quickly as possible, working on the theory that the swing in public opinion they enjoyed in the last election will increase with the momentum.

But they need the support of both Social Credit and NDP.

Social Credit leader Robert Thompson is not disposed toward an early election. He needs time to build a national party organization at the grass-roots, and he gives thirty followers some house commons experience.

The New Democrats hope to elect their leader on a second try, and are barely getting settled down. There is talk that NDP coffers are depleted, so until finances are built up they do not appear too anxious for another election.

On this teeter-totter, the Conservatives hang above in precarious power but there is no telling when the weights may change to upset the balance.

Mr. Diefenbaker has a temporary reprieve to mend his fences, and to re-establish himself as the "people's favorite."

Reflections of the Times

Glory and the Gravy

Some 300 years ago, Henry Fielding said with rapture, "Oh, the roast beef of England! And old England's roast beef!" You could almost savour the taste in the words, see the mouth begin to drool at the corners as each succulent morsel was laid reverently on the tongue.

But times have changed, and with them eating habits. The roast beef of old England has been replaced by poultry as Twentieth Century palates acquire different delicacies of flavour.

Has England lost its hearty appetite? According to Richard Lovridge, when mighty roast beef was the Englishman's food, "it ennobled our hearts, and enriched our blood, our soldiers were brave and our courtiers zoud."

Somehow the sturdy figure of John Bull, deprived of his plate of roast beef and his flagon of ale, becomes a pathetic remnant of greater days. Perhaps future historians will tell how England's decline began with the replacing of the chicken's wing. The empire was plucked from the old country's breast like feathers from the homeward fowl.

Perhaps it was second helpings of beef that produced men like Drake, Raleigh, Collingwood, Blake. Clive. Their like will never be seen again for the smell of roasting beef no longer wafts from the kitchen to tempt the nostrils of a hungry adventurer.

Who could explain a new continent or sail endlessly over uncharted seas sustained only by the meal from a drumstick?

The glory and the gravy have departed, only the bones of an upstart fowl lie accusingly on the plate

District Farmers Win Recognition

Last week it was indeed gratifying to learn that the Albert Kampa family won the master farm family award this year. May we take this opportunity to congratulate the Kampa family and [illegible] on [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

Another farmer in the district, Bill Allen of Bentley, must be congratulated in obtaining a "certified herd" certificate under the certified swine health herd program, supervised by the Alberta department of agriculture. Bill was one of two purebred hog producers in the province to achieve a certified herd status. The health status of a herd is based on:

1. A minimum of four unannounced (casual) veterinary inspections at approximately three month intervals.

2. A veterinary diagnosis by the herd veterinarian, or the veterinary laboratory, Alberta department of agriculture, on all deaths occurring in swine over four weeks of age. The owner, herd veterinarian, and veterinary supervises branch of the department are mutually advised of the diagnosis.

3. A complete and accurate record system accounts for all animals born, sold, or dying.

4. Control of herd additions [illegible] the introduction of [illegible] and [illegible] from markets, pens of sprung and fall litters are examined for [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] usually 15% are collected to permit a qualified assessment of the herd.

5. All pigs sold for breeding stock shall be immunized against erysipelas.

6. A definite roundworm and mange control program approved by the veterinary inspector is compulsory.

7. A official recognition is subject to temporary suspension or complete cancellation at the appearance of disease outbreak.

Bentley Seed Plant Operations

The Bentley seed cleaning plant has had a very successful year of operation under the management of Jim Porter In a recent review of statistics on the operation of the municipal seed cleaning plants in Alberta, it was shown that the Bentley plant cleaned a total of 162,833 bushels of seed and the balance was [illegible] for [illegible] for [illegible] etc These figures are for the year ending [illegible].

During last year's operations there were a total of 64 plants operating in the province which cleaned a total of 9 835 376 bushels of grain.

Special Crate

A group of 14 pigs from two to three months of age were shipped by airlines on Tuesday, October 9, and special crates were designed for a safe and comfortable journey.

Above, one of the hogs is being placed in the crate by Bev Harrington, manager of farm herds at the Lacombe experimental farm, who has been closely associated with the experiments on the Lacombe swine breed.

Lacombe Girl September Bride

St. Andrew's United Church Is Scene of Pretty Fall Wedding

Baskets of spicy mums banked the altar at St. Andrew's church at Lacombe on September 15 at 2:00 p.m. when Rev B H Thackeray united in marriage Patricia Rose, daughter of Mr and Mrs. W E Zinke of Lacombe and Kenneth Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. G W. Lyons of Kamloops, B.C.

Mrs. Dorothy Flewelling played the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Lloyd Lyons, who sang the "Wedding Prayer" during the service, and "Oh, Perfect Love" while the register was being signed.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a floor-length gown of white peau-de-soie fashioned on empire lines with French lace appliques, lily-point sleeves and slight train. Her veil of illusion net fell from a band of white satin roses. The bride carried a white Bible edged with red roses and stephanotis.

Miss Sandra Middleton of Lacombe, maid of honor, chose a gold peau-de-soie dress and a bouquet of green mums and Bridesmaids Misses Dianne and Judy Gardner of Edmonton, cousins of the bride, were dresses of moss green peau-de-soie, all gowns being fashioned on plain bodice and bell skirts, with matching head drapes. They each carried crescent-shaped bouquets of gold spider mums.

Little Joy Prisnell of Lacombe, cousin of the bride, as flower girl, was dainty in a dress of pale green peau-de-soie, matching head dress and a basket bouquet of yellow and white mums. Little Randy Hubbard of Edmonton, cousin of the bride was ring-bearer.

Attending the groom was Mr. Robert Boyd of Red Deer, and the ushers were Mr. Kenneth Zinke, brother of the bride, and Mr Ronald Hoover

The bride's mother wore a dress of light green with lungs accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother wore a dress of pink lace with matching accessories and a corsage of white roses.

After the wedding, a reception for 125 guests was held at the Lacombe memorial centre. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake tastefully decorated by Mrs. Ed Morton and topped with yellow roses. Tall tapers and yellow carnations completed the arrangement.

Mr. Robert Boyd was master of ceremonies, and Rev B. H. Thackeray proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom most ably responded

Mrs. Margaret Stallow entertained with piano music during which time the bride and groom opened the wedding cake to their guests. Miss Bonnie Hubbard, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

For a honeymoon trip to points west, the bride changed to a black Bias on Blue suit with rose accessories and a corsage of red roses. A string of pearls, gift of the groom, completed the ensemble.

On return they will take up residence at 1026-26th Avenue, S.W. Calgary. The bride is a graduate in medical technology of the Holy Cross hospital at Calgary, and the groom is a pressman at the Calgary Herald.

Out-of-town guests were from Kamloops, Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Red Deer, Penhold, Mostyn Creek and Vernon.

Initiation "High Jinks" at Alix High School Enjoyed by All

ALIX —Friday was high jinks day at the high school when grade nine and two grade eleven students were initiated into an hour high. Fun started with a bang when boys wearing white shirts, shorts and queer looking hats, and girls in short frilly dresses carrying dolls gathered in the halls.

Memorable incidents of the day were the hero and heroine of Romance, the scene Mr. Personal directing the Boys' suppers, a group of young people attempting to brush the teeth with a broom, a series of gymnastics included David Flying Squirrel Fleming, a queer feat, as he crawled around on his knees and the queerest of the lot when Mr Cousins kindly gave the class a lesson in deportment.

The penalty for being a good sport (?) was the pantomime. Boys obliged to wear another fellow's girl friend for a date; Teen-age girls Dionne Weil, Lavern Alger, Barbara Ranconbe and Barbara Marvatt did the two or three sang Mack had a close call!

Further penalties included Roy and Rachael Kennedy being married in the middle of the noon hour, and Mr. Hoare acting as one of the elementary teacher pupils. George Bell, requested to sing nursery rhymes, refused to swing him, and Gary Walper demonstrating a proposal to a girl selected for him.

Mrs Phillips appreciated the co-operation, finally pitched as principal N Coates, and all members of the high school staff who contributed to the spirit of the occasion, and really won the admiration of all by their leadership in good sportsmanship. Dennis Bechar assisted in planning the pranks
